SEA RACERS SEEN OVER SPAIN

Today

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

WALL STREET awoke yesterday with a loud bang. Stocks went up from $2 to $20 and 5,000,000 shares were sold. The ticker, with all its abbreviations and improvements fell behind 18 minutes.

IF you are planning to buy any stocks, and if you are sure you can pay for them, better buy them. They might go up.

If you are thinking of selling short, better postpone it.

THIS is real news. Dr. Renwald, poultry expert in Nebraska, says he has produced a breed of wingless hens, that also lack toenails.

To separate female usefulness from psychological disturbances like moulting would be marvelous, in poultry, and among the primates.

IN the air more than 10 days, Mendell and Reinhart, California fliers, took a bath and began yesterday their eleventh day of non-stop flying. But fuel failure forced them down. In the air 246 hours and 44 minutes, a new world's refueling record.

These gentlemen said: "No engine can beat us in endurance, we'll stay up as long as the engine runs."

They had already beaten the previous endurance record by nearly 100 hours when they began the eleventh day in the air.

FOR years and generations American and Irish patriots used to twist the British lion's tail. Until the big war it was all full of knots. It has gradually become untwisted recently.

THE shoe is on the other foot now and no less than Lord Beaverbrook promises to pull the tail feathers from the American eagle.

IF it must be, it must be. Good-bye, tail feathers.

Nevertheless, the British Islands CANNOT live on what they produce, we CAN.

And with all their ingenuity, some things our European brothers don't understand. One is mass production. This country makes 90 per cent of all automobiles used in the world and 50 per cent of all the automobiles used outside of the United States.

As Mr. Rogers might say: "Laugh that off."

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIVE years ago last Wednesday Alexander Hamilton crossed the Hudson River from Manhattan Island to fight a duel with Aaron Burr in Weehawken. Burr killed Hamilton.

It would seem strange now to read of the Secretary of the Treasury crossing the river to fight about a woman, and to be killed in the fight.

We have improved, a little.

ANOTHER anniversary, yesterday. The Battle of the Boyne was fought July 12, 239 years ago, when William of Orange, Protestant, defeated the Irish under James the Second.

Irishmen brush aside that unpleasant date, effectively reminding you that the English were led by a Dutchman, while the Irish were led by an English king, who was galloping miles away, while the Irish were still fighting.

THE great Borden Milk Company, following modern commericial and industrial methods, goes rolling ahead like a snowball growing bigger and bigger. It announces acquisition of 52 more companies, some in Canada and Europe.

"Borden's deals in milk, eggs, cream, butter, poultry," its president, Mr. Milburn, tells stockholders, "everything lovely."

Why not put Mr. Milburn on the Farm Board and get him to show farmers how they can also make "everything lovely." Or is there a permanent reason why profits should be all for sellers, none for producers?

AUTOIST KILLED IN MOUNTAIN PLUNGE

Woman Injured as Insurance Official's Car Swerves At Curve on Highway

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., 13.—Z. A. Gherman, of Pittsburgh, official of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, was killed and his companion, Mrs. Fay Weinbraun, of Midland, Pa., was probably fatally injured today when the car in which they were riding swerved from the road at a sharp curve and plunged down the side of Tuscarora mountain near here.

Mrs. Weinbraun was taken to the Chambersburg Hospital, where attendants said her condition was very serious.

The accident occurred on the Lincoln highway, which weaves around the mountain. Gherman was driving the car and apparently failed to slow down sufficiently to make the curve. The machine toppled down the mountain side, turning over twice and pinning Gherman beneath it.

Mrs. Weinbraun and Gherman were en route to New York to bring Mrs. Gherman, who had been ill in that city, to her home in Pittsburgh.

Gherman was assistant manager of the South Side district of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, according to representatives of the company, and lived at 1838 Tonopah avenue, Beechview. He left here yesterday to bring his wife back from New York, where she had been ill. He leaves no children.

PITTSBURGHER ON BOAT GONE

BALTIMORE, July 13. — (AP.) — Officials of the Chesapeake Steamship Company are making a search to locate Mrs. Robert A. Stewart, 40, of Pittsburgh, a passenger on one of their boats from Baltimore to West Point, Va., last Saturday.

Mrs. Stewart, according to officials of the steamship line, was not one of the passengers disembarking when the boat reached West Point. Personal effects and a railroad ticket from West Point to Richmond were found in the state room which she occupied when the boat left Baltimore.

It was reported that the woman was on her way to visit relatives in Richmond, and it was thought possible that she might have left the boat at any one of the three stops made between Baltimore and West Point.

No official report of her disappearance has been received by Maryland or Virginia authorities, it was said.

Efforts to identify Mrs. Stewart as a resident of Pittsburgh failed. Her name is not listed in local directories, and members of several Stewart families could not identify her.

Belgian Monarch Displays Anger When Robbed

BRUSSELS, July 13. — (AP.) — King Albert was robbed of his gold watch, a pocketbook containing 500 francs and a gold penknife while having an enjoyable swim in the sea at Mariakerke and today returned to Brussels anything but pleased about it.

The King did not conceal his illhumor at the robbery and the fact that Belgium's first sea resort did not enjoy better supervisory service, while the Ostend authorities have hastened to offer apoligies.

The police and Bruges' magistrate hurried to Mariakerke when informed of the occurrence. They declared the theft must have been committed by some local criminal who was not aware of his victim's identity.

WIND UNROOFS CARNOT CHURCH

The century-old Sharon Presbyterian Church of Carnot, the only house of worship in Moon Township, and this week celebrating its centenary, was without a roof today.

During the heavy thunderstorm late yesterday, residents reported, a miniature cyclone ripped off the larger portion of the roof of the large frame structure, causing damage estimated at $5,000.

Two large oak trees in the churchyard were twisted off near the base and the roof of a small portable classroom of Carnot public school was blown off.

Three generations have worshiped in the church. Members today were considering plans for replacing the roof and making general repairs.

Crew of British Ship, Afire, Saved

LONDON, July 13.—(INS.)—All members of the crew of the King Cadwallon, British coal steamer, have been taken off safely by the S. S. Ardenhall, according to a Durban message to the Daily Telegraph. The King Cadwallon was abandoned because of an uncontrollable fire in her hold.

McKees Rocks Taxi Drivers' Strike Ends

The strike of drivers employed by the McKees Rocks Taxicab Company is over. Ten men who pilot the company's five cabs were back at work today, following a settlement, last night, according to announcement, providing for a slight increase in pay after August 1.

Man Dies in Plunge From Home for Poor

An unidentified man plunged to his death from a window on the fourth floor of the Improvement of the Poor Home at 428 Duquesne way today. The man, about 40, had not slept in the home last night, attaches said.

AVIATORS REST AFTER FLYING 246 HOURS

California Airmen Shatter Endurance Record by 3 Days; Taken to Hospital

CULVER CITY, Cal., July 13.—(INS.)—Exhausted from 10 days and nights in the air, Loren Mendell and R. B. Reinhart, world's champion endurance fliers, today were in the Culver City Community Hospital after establishing a continuous flight record of 246 hours 43 minutes and 32 seconds.

Traveling long enough to have circled the globe, they exceeded the endurance record set last week at Cleveland by more than 72 hours.

Th single-motored Angeleno was in a hangar at the Culver City airport, and mechanics were looking over the second-hand motor to ascertain how it had withstood the record-smashing grind.

EXAMINED BY DOCTOR

Dr. Frederick Rhodes, who examined the pilots, said he found them in far better condition than might be expected, but "with pulse a bit fast, blood pressure slightly high and temperature a fraction of a degree subnormal."

"But," added the doctor, "they'll be as good as new after they have a sleep."

KREMER FACES PHILS TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—Three games in front of the Cubs, their nearest competitors, the Pirates today were anxious to increase their winning streak which yesterday mounted to six games.

Remy Kremer is ready to take on the Quakers this afternoon in the final contest and it is expected that Manager Shotton will call upon his cruve-ball righthander, Claude Willoughby. Pie Traynor, the principal Pirate casualty, is resting easily with a strained groin, the Pirate captain being confined to his room.

George Grantham, suffering from a stoved right shoulder, is expected to be out another day or two. Grantham also has been treated by a specialist.

Sparky Adams and Stewie Clarke proved brilliant understudies for the ailing stars as Burleigh Grimes recorded his fifteenth triumph of the season yesterday.

The score was six to four, and strange to say, there were no homers.

BULLETIN.

PARIS, July 13.—(AP.)—A Havas dispatch from Madrid says that the French plane, Question Mark, flew over Gijon, Northern Spain at 10:10 o'clock this morning, Greenwich time, (5:10 A. M. eastern standard time). The weather was cloudy.

International News Service.

BORDEAUX, July 13.—Both contestants in the trans-Atlantic air race, which started from Le Bourget air field early today, were making good progress four hours after the start, it was indicated in wireless messages received at the Bordeaux radio station.

The Bordeaux station was informed that the Breguet monoplane Question Mark, in which Dieudonne Costes and Maurice Bellonte are attempting to span the Atlantic, passed over Santander, Spain, at 9:30 a. m. (4:30 a. m. Pittsburgh daylight saving time).

At 9 a. m. (4 a. m. Pittsburgh time) the station received a wireless direct from the Polish plane, Marshal Pilsudski, stating that all was well. No position was given. Majs. Idzikowski and Kubala, pilot and navigator of the plane, wirelessed they would send another message giving their position at 9:15. But no further word was received.

GUARD BRITISH LABOR LEADER

LONDON, July 13.—(AP.)—Heavily armed guards have been placed around the residence of Arthur Henderson, British foreign minister in the new Labor government, after what police considered probable attempts to do him harm.

A man came yesterday to the Secretary's flat and demanded to see him. When he was asked to leave and did not depart he produced a pistol and shouted, "I'll get him yet."

Shortly afterwards two well-dressed men called to see Mr. Henderson. They also were asked to leave and uttered threats against him as they departed. Police were silent as to their identity.

Raiders Get Still, Moonshine and Mash

Police of the Frankstown Avenue Station, under Capt. Nuncie Marino, raided a vacant house at 7354 Sprague street, at 4 a. m. today and confiscated a 50-gallon still and 15 gallons of moonshine. They destroyed 14 barrels of mash.

$20 For His $1

GEORGE ZILIAN

Mrs. Zilian, 424 Kilbuck street, North Side, examined the money her husband took in at his Liberty avenue newsstand and then sent him to the Sun-Telegraph office, where he was given $20 in new money for a one-dollar bill, the number of which was published as a "Lucky Buck."

Lucky Bucks—New Money for Old

By WON BUCK.

Well, folks, I had a tough time getting rid of the boodle today. Strolled all over Pittsburgh trying to pick out somebody who has the "feel" of the new Sun-Telegraph Lucky Bucks.

Every day, the Sun-Telegraph and I put five of the old Lucky Buck bills in circulation. Everyone who finds one of those smackers in his roll is entitled to receive 20 of the new, smaller bucks from the Sun-Telegraph. Easy, isn't it?

Out in Homestead, the United Candy Shop, 230 Eighth avenue, has some mighty nice girls working for it. I dropped in there for lunch, and Helen Scanlon—of whom the shop's proud—serves me up one toasted cheese sandwich, one peanut butter sandwich and a milk shake. Just to please her, I had an egg in the milk shake and tipped her a dime.

But it was Esther Kaye whom I paid. Funny thing, I gave her one of my own bills at first, then came back and had a lucky buck changed. And she didn't fall for it, either!

In Braddock I purchased a good linen handkerchief from Harry Snitkin at 619 Braddock avenue. He looked satisfied, but didn't wink a wink when I handed him the equivalent of 20 smackers and received only two bits change!

Then I mosied down to Dormont, home town for home people, and found a fruit store where they sell milk. Walter Vickarela waited on me.

Another one of the places I dropped in on was Woods' Music Store, 1410 Wylie avenue. Bought a record from the New Moon from Mr. Woods, himself. The girl friend's been asking for it long enough, goodness knows!

Walter No. 29, in McCreery's Store dining room, received a Lucky Buck in payment for a luncheon check. Where it is now, nobody knows.

Well, folks, keep a sharp eye out for me. I'm all over the city just when you don't expect me. The Sun-Telegraph backs me up when I say every Lucky Buck I spend is worth 20 of the new, smaller smacks. Catch hold of one of these simoleons.

Take it from me, generous ol' Won Buck was surprised when George Zilian, of 424 Kilbuck street, North Side, smiled his way into the Sun-Telegraph office. It seems that Mrs. Zilian was examining the money he took in at his newsstand, Liberty avenue and Wood street, and she discovered a "Lucky Buck' number on one of the bills. With a smile the boss paid out $20 in new money to Mr. Zilian.

Then there was Miss Helen Kusko, of 511 Forward avenue, who was the first to collect $20 for a dirty old $1 she had in her purse. She just checked the numbers on $4 in bills she had in her purse and discovered that she really had bills worth $24!

Mr. Buck at the Sun-Telegraph office will give holders of the above numbered bills twenty dollars each in new money.

If you haven't a Lucky One-Spot, some of your friends may have it. Be sure to tell everyone you know of the Sun-Telegraph's offer. It may mean many dollars—new ones for them.

Many Lucky One-Spots will be put into circulation. Every day numbers of these Lucky One Dollar Bills will be printed exclusively in the Sun-Telegraph.

Bills must be redeemed within 10 days of publication.

Motor Policeman, Family In Hospital, Is Hurt

Patrolman Stephen Janeda, 29, latest victim of the police department's "bad luck motorcycle," joined his mother and two nieces in the Mercy Hospital today.

Janeda was seriously injured when the motorcycle crashed against a stone wall in the 1200 block of Chartiers avenue, West End.

It was the same motorcycle from which Patrolman Ray Gentile was hurled to his death a few months ago on the South Side when the machine struck a sandpile.

Janeda's mother, Mrs. Madeline Janeda, has been in the hospital with a fractured leg. The nieces have been ill for several weeks.

There was some mystery attached to the crash. Janeda was westbound and his motorcycle had to cut across the street to crash against the wall, which is set back about 10 feet from the curb. No witnesses to the accident could be located.

The Mercy Hospital reported that Janeda was in critical condition with a fractured skull and concussion of the brain. Doubts were expressed that he would recover.

Janeda, married and the father of two children, lived at 117 Steuben street.

NEVER DOUBT OF SETTING NEW MARK

Mendell and Reinhart, Tired But Happy, Learned Much During 246 Hours in Air

By LOREN MENDELL
and R. B. REINHART,
Pilots of the endurance plane, Angeleno, which landed yesterday after smashing all world's records for endurance.

(Written expressly for Los Angeles Examiner and Allied Hearst newspapers and Universal Service, Inc.

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—Well, here we are with a brand new record in our possession, safe, sound, tired and happy!

We never doubted that we would be able to do this and, at all times, night or day, in clear weather or fog, we kept right on with the feeling that success would be ours and that something worth while for aviation would be accomplished.

Thanks to men and motor, plane and co-operation—we have succeeded.

Everything turned out just as we expected until yesterday afternoon, but then—it wasn't hard to come down because we knew we had broken the record and set up a mark to shoot at.

MORE THAN "STUNT"

We feel that this flight was more than a stunt and that the loyal support and help given us by everyone connected with our enterprise will bring lasting results.

We cannot be too enthusiastic in praising the marvelous performance of our refueling plane. If it wasn't for Paul Whittier and Hulbert Slate our flight would have ended long, long ago.

We have learned that with certain arrangements and precautions motors can function much longer without readjustment than it was previously believed possible.

And we have learned what to do and what not to do in the air. Our experiences, when properly digested and diagnosed, no doubt will contribute to the knowledge of how the machine functions under stress and fatigue.

CO-OPERATION GREAT

Perhaps the most important thing we have learned and demonstrated is the value of co-operation in aviation. That wonderfully efficient refueling plane, the ground crews' work, the careful refueling arrangement, the helpful beacons and colored lights—all these things that made our flight possible—are really tokens pointing the way towards co-operative arrangements on a large scale for the future.

We feel confident that before long huge air liners, flying from coast to coast without a stop, can and will be refueled in the air.

But coming back to our own flight—before we go any further let us make clear exactly why we came down after remaining in the air 11 days or exactly 246 hours and 43 minutes.

Somehow, without any warning—shortly before we were to refuel, a piece of glass in the hatch of the cockpit flew out and, with a terrific force, hit one of the braces of the tail group. We saw it go. We felt it hit and we feared then and there that the flight was about over. Hoping against hope we felt the ship out only to discover that a dangerous flutter developed in the tail end of the plane.

VIBRATION MENACE

How hard would it flutter? How long could the ship stand this vibration? Was it safe to go on and refuel?

We felt that our flight was more than a stunt. There was so much to tell, so much to prove and record that we decided to land even though physically we had not yet reached the limit of our endurance.

Our preparations for the flight were thorough and deliberate. Everything about the ship, its motor and gas supply was carefully weighed and considered. We did not take our own ideas wholly, but listened to everyone who had something to tell and profited by it. We spent an evening with Eric Nelson, one of the great American airmen who flew around the world; another evening with Capt. Ira Eaker, who learned a lot on the Question Mark flight. Reg Robbins, one of the pilots who made that splendid flight in the Fort Worth, gave us the benefit of his experiences. You remember he and Kelly stayed up 172 hours and came down only when the propeller, damaged by striking a buckle on Kelly's belt, flew to pieces. From them we learned and decided to stay away from the "prop" and use a metal one.

GET EXPERT HELP

"Tommy" Thomas, of the Pacific Aero-Motive Corporation, who nurses these Wright Whirlwind babies on the Pacific coast, gave us a great deal of valuable information.

The rest—that is the main question of the flight—we could not foresee and decided to solve in the air, one problem at a time as each one arose.

The gas fumes, the rough air, the anxiety, nerve tension and that fog gave us something to think and worry about.

But we solved each problem as it came along and, after awhile, the human machines caught up with the steel one in the nose of our ship, and we became adjusted to the circumstances.

gasoline when Mendell, at the controls, descended and glided the Angeleno to a neat three-point landing at 2:13 p. m., Pacific time, yesterday.

The motor was purring nicely as he came to earth in the center of the airport. Thousands of spectators pressed against wire barriers around the field.

PROTEST AT HOSPITAL

Mendell taxied the Angeleno into an enclosure and half a hundred officials, mechanics and reporters and photographers surrounded the machine. The fliers tumbled out of the Angeleno, bewhiskered and dirty, Reinhart in his undershirt and Mendell in an oil-spattered flannel shirt.

"Why did you come down?" somebody asked.

"Tail was wobbly," chorused the weary pilots.

Hustled to an ambulance, the aviators kept protesting, "we're not sick." But they were taken in a hurry to the Culver City Community Hospital and tucked in bed.

Buenos Aires Faces Mild Wave of 'Flu'

BUENOS AIRES, July 13.—(AP.)—There are 30,000 cases of influenza in Buenos Aires at present, most of them mild. The municipal health department has been attending 500 calls daily. The department insists there is no cause of alarm.

FIND MAN DEAD IN FURNACE

CHICAGO, Jul; 13.—(AP.)—Theodore Hamel, apartment building owner, last night was found dead in the furnace of the building, partly burned and bound with wires.

The body had been thrust head first into the furnace. Because of this and the fact the furnace door was shut when the body was found, police declared the man had been slain.

Hamel's family, however, held to a suicide theory, saying the man had been worried because of financial matters.

Police were holding two persons for questioning, Miss Carmen Hamel, niece of the dead man who found the body, and J. A. Craig, who accompanied her.

The right leg of the dead man had been wrapped in a number of strips of burlap and an electric light cord was bound about his waist and tied in a bow knot, police said.

Germany to Redeem Marks in Belgium

BRUSSELS, July 13.—(INS.)—The last of the German reparation problems was cleared up today when Germany and Belgium signed an agreement settling Belgian claims for restitution for worthless marks left behind when the Germans evacuated Belgium. Germany agrees to reimburse Belgium in 37 annual payments.

Belgium originally claimed 6,000,000,000 marks, or approximately $1,390,000,000, but Germany offered a lower sum.

MAN, CHILD DIE FROM AUTO INJURIES

Two Others Hurt in Traffic Accidents; Pair Arrested, Reckless Driving Charged

A man injured in an automobile crash yesterday, and a boy hurt July 4, died last night. They were George Hubbard, 49, a Negro, of Oakdale, and Anthony Valentino, 3, of 4122 Sylvan avenue.

Hubbard was injured fatally when a truck he was driving was in collision with an automobile, police said, by Dr. H. J. Welch, of 21 Prospect avenue, Ingram, on the Steubenville pike, near Imperial. Dr. Welch, who was released at the Carnegie police station, was to report to the coroner today.

The Valentino child died of a fractured skull when he was run down by an automobile in front of his home. Police notified George King, of 5622 Margaretta street, alleged driver, to report today to the coroner.

Chester Jones, Negro, 9, of 203 Paulson avenue, is in Pittsburgh Hospital as the result of being struck by an automobile yesterday. He suffered concussion of the brain. Joseph Andrucci, 23, of 136 Shetland avenue, alleged driver, was arrested charged with reckless driving.

Adolph Kallenberger, 27, of 76 Luella street, suffered scalp and body bruises last night when he was struck by an automobile alleged to have been driven by Milton Schran, 16, of 4622 Lilborne avenue, Ross Township, at East and Suffolk streets, North Side. Kallenberger was taken to Allegheny General Hospital. At North Side Police Station Schran was charged with reckless driving.

MILWAUKEE HIT BY TONIC BAN

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 13.—(AP.)—United States Prohibition Commissioner Doran ordered the manufacture of 12 per cent malt tonic stopped immediately.

The order was served on Milwaukee brewers engaged in the manufacture of the tonic. Milwaukee will be deprived of a $2,000,000 a year industry by the order, brewers estimated.

The mandate prohibits the manufacture of any malt tonic containing less than 18 per cent of solids derived from malt and more than 2 per cent alcohol by volume.

Brewers who have been making the 12 per cent product declared that it would be hard to popularize the 18 per cent brew and predicted that the tonics would disappear from the market.

Tragedy Marks East-West Hops

International News Service.

A long series of tragedies have marked efforts of fliers to span the North Atlantic from East to West since Charles Nungesser and Francois Coli lost their lives in May, 1927, while trying to fly from Le Bourget to New York in the White Bird.

There has never been a successful European-to-New York flight over the North Atlantic. Baron Von Huenefeld and two companions flew from Ireland to Canada, while attempting an unbroken air journey to New York in the Bremen, and narrowly escaped disaster.

Two women members of rich and aristocratic English families lost their lives while trying to fly from Britain to New York. They were Princess Loewenstein-Wertheim, who was lost in August, 1927; and the Hon. Elsie McKay, daughter of Lord Inchcape, who was lost with Aviator Hinchliffe, in March, 1928.

Lilli Dillenz, former Austrian actress, sought to fly from Germany to New York in a Junkers plane, but it never got beyond the Azores.

SEA AIR RACERS OVER SPAIN

of one of the planes is Polish and the other French. The flights started from Le Bourget flying field, just outside of Paris, soon after dawn.

The Polish fliers are Majs. Kasimir Kubala and Leon Idzikowski. The Frenchmen are Capt. Dieudonne and Mechanic Bellonte. Each crew is determined to not only accomplish the first successful nonstop flight from Paris to New York, but also to leave its rival far behind in the race over the ocean expanse.

The Polish airmen were the first to take to the air just as dawn was breaking over the almost-deserted field at 4:50 a. m. (11:50 p. m. New York daylight saving time). The French fliers followed them 40 minutes later at 5:30 a. m. (12:30 a. m. New York daylight saving time).

Both take-offs were accomplished without mishap, and all four fliers departed with utmost confidence they would reach their goal.

FLYING START

The big Amiot biplane which is carrying the Polish entrants in this daring ocean race made a beautiful start. The plane sped for 200 yards down the field, dropping the auxiliary wheels attached to the tail skid to help bear the load, and then taking to the air before half the field had been covered. At a height of 100 feet, the plane gracefully circled the field once, and then disappeared to the southwest.

Costes and Bellonte encountered a little more difficulty in getting under way in their Briguet monoplane Question Mark. The plane bumped the ground twice after reaching a height of several feet, and for a moment or two it was feared the huge plane would crash. Costes, however, maneuvered it into the air, and the plane quickly disappeared in the same direction its Polish predecessors had taken.

Until almost the last moment, Costes and Bellonte endeavored to hide the fact a trans-Atlantic race was contemplated by giving his destination as Tokio. It was an open secret, however, that he would head for New York, and just after the propeller was spun, Costes was asked again where he was heading.

"Tokio," he said with a smile.

And then:

"No. New York!"

And with those words he gave the signal for removal of the blocks, and the great plane sped down the runway.

POLES' SECOND TRY

This is the second time Majs. Idzikowski and Kubala have attempted a trans-Atlantic flight. They set out from Le Bourget on August 3 of last year, and were forced down in the Atlantic Ocean 60 miles west of Cape Finisterre, Spain. Missing for 60 hours, they were finally rescued by the German steamer Samos, which took them to Portugal.

It may be safely assumed that if both sets of fliers successfully negotiate the trans-Atlantic crossing, the Frenchmen will be easy winners of the race, for theirs is a much faster plane. The Polish fliers' Amiot is powered with a 650-horse power Lorraine Motor and has a cruising speed of about 80 miles an hour.

Lieut. Costes' plane is powered with a 600-horse power Hispano-Suiza motor and is capable of more than 100 miles an hour cruising speed.

The Polish aviators, who for two years have been planning a West to East crossing of the Atlantic, had been at Le Bourget for more than a month prior to the start. On receiving favorable weather reports last evening, they announced their start would be made at dawn, and while final preparations were being made for the hop-off, Lieut. Costes and his mechanic arrived from Villacoublay.

COSTES RETICENT

Costes refused any statement concerning his plans, but from the activity about his plane it was obvious a take-off was planned within a few hours. He steadfastly refused to reveal his destination at all until a short while before the start, when he informed watchers at the field he would head for Tokio.

The Polish flight is being made in a plane christened the Marshal Pilsudski, in honor of the former dictator of Poland. Idzikowski and Kubala revealed they intended to make the flight by way of the Azores, although no stop is planned. It is expected the Frenchmen will follow a similar route.

Fueling of the two planes was completed shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. The Marshal Pilsudski carries 6300 litres of gasoline, and the Question Mark 5,400.

Mechanic Bellonte was the first of the four trans-Atlantic aspirants to arrive on the field. He drove up in an automobile about 3:30 a. m., and was followed at short intervals by the other three. The planes were given a final examination, food supplies were loaded aboard, and then, with an entire absence of ceremony, the Poles gave the signal for their takeoff.

FEW SEE START

Forty minutes later, the Frenchmen started, also with the same absence of fanfare. A mere handful of persons gathered on the field in the chill morning mist saw the takeoffs, and although these cheered valiantly as the planes got under way, these two flights undoubtedly set a record for modest and virtually unwitnessed beginnings.

Costes and Bellonte were considerably disappointed that the Polish fliers obtained a start of 40 minutes, as they apparently had planned to hop off almost simultaneously. However, trouble was found in the gasoline feed pipe of the French plane, necessitating half an hour's delay.

FOURTH IN BANK HOLDUP JAILED

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 13.—(AP.)—John Moszczenski, member of the bandit gang that held up the Central City (Pa.) bank June 6, last, and, according to police, at one time a member of the notorious Paul Jawarski gang of killers, was captured here last night.

Moszczenski admits the Central City robbery, but denies he participated in any of the sensational crimes attributed to the gang of which Jawarski was the leader.

Felix Fertak and John Wozniak, Moszczenski's accomplices in the Central City holdup, were shot attempting to escape.

Both are serving long prison sentences. John Lucien, another participant, was captured in Detroit a few days after the holdup. He is in prison also.

Warsaw Enthused Over Atlantic Race

WARSAW, Poland, July 13.—(AP.)—News that Majors Idzikowski and Kubala took off from Lebourget this morning for New York caused intense excitement in Warsaw.

There had been much pessimism as to a flight by the two men during the present year and word of the hop was received with enthusiasm. Many people went to the churches to pray for the fliers' success. The thirteenth is the favorite date of Marshal Pilsudski after whom the plane is named and there was some belief here that the Polish airmen had selected it purposely.

France Relents, Aids Ocean Air Racers

PARIS, July 13.—(AP.)—The French government today, outmaneuvered by Dieudonne Coste in its effort to prevent Frenchmen from attempting trans-Atlantic flying, relented and promised every aid to the aviators.

An official communique said that Capt. Coste, having left word he would try for New York, the air minister, Laurent Eynac, would "make all dispositions to have the plane, as well as that of the Poles, followed by coastal posts and ships."

SENATE RATE PLEAS END IN SENATE

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Speeding up action on the tariff bill, the Senate Finance Committee prepared to close hearings on specific rate pleas today to permit the entire committee to hear proposals for changes in the administrative sections on Monday.

Senator Smoot (Rep.), of Utah, chairman, responding to pressure to have the bill ready by the time the Senate reconvenes August 19, divided the free list hearing among sub-committees to save time.

The committee now plans to rush its hearing on the administrative features with a view of closing them during next week. Republican members will then begin actual writing of rates in secret.

SMOOT STANDS FIRM

Chairman Smoot declined to join with Senators Watson, Indiana; Reed, Pennsylvania, and Edge, New Jersey, all regular Republicans, in declaring that some rates in the House bill must be reduced. Aside from his proposed rewriting of the House sugar schedule by proving a sliding scale, the Utah Senator has given no hint of his attitude on the Hawley measure.

He continued, however, to assail the protests of 25 foreign nations against the House rates, declaring that he can show that the United States is hampered by higher tariffs in many foreign countries than it imposes. He cited the Australian preferences for English manufacturers, which, he said, put American at a great disadvantage.

Some members of the Senate Finance Committee appeared disturbed over the protest of Canada delivered verbally to the State Department. The protest carried with it a veiled threat by Canada to further increase the British trade preferences at the expense of the United States.

ATTACKED BY SHOUSE

Chairman Jouett Shouse, of the Democratic National Executive Committee, let loose an attack on the White House repudiation of Senator Watson's reputed statement that President Hoover favors "an American yardstick" in tariff making.

Declaring that Mr. Hoover's expressions on the tariff rank with his prohibition "noble experiment" phrase for indefiniteness, Shouse said:

"Now all we know about whether Mr. Hoover is still for a tariff revision confined to a few schedules mainly pertinent to farm relief, as he told us in his fall speech for the extra session, or is willing to have all the campaign fund contributions compensated by one tariff grab, is that he does not want any yardstick metering system to hamper the style of the tariff steeplejacks now at work on the towering structure."

Record Fliers Win Praise From Army

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP.)—Secretary Good last night recognized the record-breaking endurance flight of L. W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhart at Culver City, Cal., with the following statement: "I am greatly pleased to hear of the splendid record the airplane crew of the Angeleno has made on their flight. Nothing gives army men greater pleasure than to hear that others have followed and even surpassed the records they have set."

SURVEY COMMISSION FOR NICARAGUA CANAL NAMED

GROUP SAILS FOR SITE ON AUGUST 20

Good to Appoint Topographic Battalion When Army Men Finish Preliminary Work

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Secretary of War James W. Good has announced the appointment of the commission of Army engineers who will immediately begin the field survey of the route of the projected Nicaragua Canal.

Maj. Daniel I. Sultan, of the Army Engineers, now on duty with the River and Harbor Board in the War Department here, will be in charge of the investigation. He will be assisted by Lieut. Eugene M. Caffey, of the Thirteenth Engineers.

The two engineering officers will have the co-operation of Maj. Paul R. Hawley, of the Medical Corps, who will make a special study of the hygiene problems and public health matters involved with the construction of the canal.

At some later date, the Secretary of War will designate a topographic battalion. The three Army officers will sail from New York for Corinto, Nicaragua on August 20. As soon as they have been able to make the preliminary steps for the survey, they will advise the War Department and the topographic experts will then be dispatched.

Appropriations for the sending of the commission were made possible by the resolution of Senator Edge, of New Jersey, and approved by the President March 6. The scope of the survey was specifically announced as being for the purpose of "obtaining additional information respecting the most practical route for an interoceanic canal across the republic of Nicaragua, the practicability and approximate cost of constructing and maintaining such a route, and the approximate cost of acquiring all private rights, privileges and franchises affected by such a canal route.

Maj. Sultan has had the theoretical and practical experience in large scale operations necessary to the problems he will encounter in Nicaragua. He has been on duty as district engineer at Savannah, Ga., in the Philippine Islands and on intricate lock and dam work on the Ohio River. In addition he was the engineering instructor at West Point for four years and at the engineering school of Fort Humphreys, Virginia. During the war he was chief of the personnel section of the chief of staff.

SCORES CLOSED COUNCIL MEET

Secret sessions of Council to consider garbage and rubbish disposal contracts were scored last night by Dr. A. L. Lewin, director of the Allied Boards of Trade.

"The Allied Boards of Trade always have stood for open meetings, and no secret sessions, for the latter are dangerous," he said. "Through George P. Kountz, of its committee, the board worked faithfully three or four years to get the City of Pittsburgh a square deal in the way of price and service. During many public conferences with Council Mr. Kountz has been able to show that charges made were excessive. He worked faithfully with the late Controller John H. Henderson, but failed to receive Mr. Henderson's aid.

"Since Henry Oliver Evans has become controller, co-operation has been possible, and the Controller, through an audit, has evidently satisfied himself that some charges made are unfair.

"If the Council, city attorney and Mr. Evans sees some necessity for a conference they certainly should not hold such a parley without providing for some representation of the Allied Boards of Trade."

NAVY LIFTS BAN ON MAGRUDER

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP.)—Secretary Adams announced that Rear Admiral Magruder has been assigned to duty as commander of the fleet base force on the Pacific coast.

Rear Admiral Magruder was relieved of duty in November, 1927, following publication in the Saturday Evening Post of articles by him criticising the handling of naval affairs by the department. At that time he was commandant of the Navy Yard at Philadelphia.

Appeals on his behalf for assignment to a post have been made repeatedly, and from time to time indications were given that such a course was being considered.

He will replace Rear Admiral Kitelle, who has been assigned to duty in the Navy Department here.

Prince and Bride Rescue Couple Near Death

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, July 13.—(AP.)—A Norwegian man and woman today probably owed their lives to Crown Prince Olaf and his bride, the former Martha of Sweden.

Yesterday the royal couple saw the two people in imminent danger in a fjord near Oslo. Their boat, which had lost its rudder, was being swept helplessly by the strong current toward some dangerous rocks.

The Prince and Princess quickly launched a boat and rowed to their assistance, towing them to safety.

THREE FINED AS 'AUTOSHEIKS'

Three Wilkinsburg young men, arraigned in Morals Court today to answer charges that they tried to "pick up" two young women at Oakwood and Batavia streets, denied that they kicked one of the women, tried to drag both into their auto and, failing, attempted to run over the girls. It was all a case of mistaken identity, the defendants said; they thought the girls were the ones they had "dated" earlier.

Nevertheless, Magistrate Leo Rothenberg fined each $25. They were Wallace R. Balsley, 22, and Paul Harding, 21, of West street, and Joseph R. Grimes, of Whitney street.

Man Beaten, Robbed On Way to Work

Benjamin Arman, 35, of Homestead, reported to McKeesport police that he was beaten and robbed of $17 and $1 worth of street car checks by two men in the Versailles Cemetery early yesterday. He said he was taking a "short cut" through the cemetery to his work when the holdup occurred.

FLOODS SWEEP KANSAS TOWNS

HUTCHINSON, Kan., July 13.—(AP.)—Flood waters pouring into Hutchinson from two directions had inundated the city early today causing damage estimated at $250,000.

Members of the first batallion of the One Hundred and Thirtieth Field Artillery, Kansas National Guard, have been ordered into action to protect lives and property. No loss of life had been reported this morning.

Cow Creek, ordinarily a placid stream 10 feet wide, transformed into a raging torrent by recent rains, swept through the business district shortly after midnight. Merchants avoided heavy damage to their stocks by moving them from basements and low shelves yesterday.

The waters from the creek entered Hutchinson from the north, inundating the residential section in that part of the city and damaging many homes. The second stream of water from the creek came in from the west. A drainage canal in that section of the city also overflowed.

Salina, north of here, was confronted with a new menace when Dry Creek broke over the Missouri Pacific tracks in the west edge of the city, flooding the residential section near the Union Station.

LYONS, Kan., July 12.—(AP.)—One hundred and thirty-five persons, comprising the entire population of Saxman, small community southeast of Lyons and farm families in the Cow Creek bottoms south of Saxman, were taken into boats late yesterday from the Saxman city hall where they had been marooned all day by high water. No casualties were reported.

JUDGE REFUSES SURRENDER OF BOOTLEG CAR

South Fork Man Fails to Prove He Did Not Know Auto Hauled Contraband

If you own an automobile seized while transporting intoxicating liquor, the burden of proof rests upon you to show lack of knowledeg that it was unlawfully used, when it subsequently becomes subject to government confiscation.

This ruling was made in an opinion handed down by Federal Judge Nelson McVicar in a suit of John Podda, of South Fork, Pa., seeking to recover a machine seized by prohibition agents while being used by his brother-in-law, Ralph Faccine, on January 21, in transporting contraband liquor.

Judge McVicar today signed an order forfeiting the car to the United States and ordered it sold at auction. Assistant United States Attorney William J. Aiken handled the case for the government.

In his answer to condemnation proceedings, Podda said he had given Faccine permission to use the machine for a pleasure ride, but the opinion cited that prohibition agents said it was the practice of bootleggers to keep title of the car in the name of a person who does not do the driving.

The opinion also cited that agents testified that Faccine and Podda corresponded with descriptions of men against whom complaints had been received at prohibition headquarters, for transporting liquor in a machine of the same description as the seized car, and the car's interior was fitted for carrying cans of moonshine.

Judge McVicar held that Podda failed to meet the burden resting on him as "there was no averment in his answer that he was without knowledge of facts sufficient to put him on inquiry that his car was being used in violation of the law."

Faccine, the opinion set forth, pleaded guilty to unlawful possession and transportation of the liquor.

WOMAN IN JAIL FOR HOLDUP

TOPEKA, Kan., July 13.—(AP.)—A complaint charging Mrs. Vivian Scraper, comely 25-year-old brunet, and her companion, Cecil Streit, 24, with highway robbery in the $14,000 Security Benefit Association daylight holdup here two weeks ago, was filed yesterday in the court of Topeka.

The complaint was filed by state officers a short time after Mrs. Mary E. Dye, Kansas City, mother of the alleged confessed woman robber, asked the Shawnee County District Court for a writ of habeas corpus directing the release of Mrs. Scraper from jail on the ground she was being held illegally. The couple has been held in jail since their arrest three days ago.

3 KILLED IN BROADWAY CABARET

By DAVID P. SENTNER,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Death put on a show at dawn today for the Broadway night life crowd.

The beer racket mob went after William Cassidy "for cutting in" on liquor territory of other gangsters. Cassidy was sitting with his girl, his brother, Pete, and another associate in the Hotsy Totsy Club on Broadway, near Fifty-fourth street. They shot it out.

The tune of the bullets reached the ears of the late carousers in a score of dusk-to-dawn night clubs in the Broadway district. On foot and by automobiles they rushed to see the show.

The battle was carried to the street. When police arrived they found thousands milling around the dead body of Simon Walker, ex-robber and gunman. William Cassidy was hastened to the hospital, where he died from bullet wounds. His brother, Pete, was wounded by a bullet grazing his brow as he dove for one of the shooting assailants.

The Cassidy brothers, with a beautiful blonde night club dancer, arrived late at the Hotsy Totsy Club. They were joined by Walker, who had a number of drinks with them. Whether Walker was the "kickoff man" hired by Cassidy's enemies was a puzzle to police.

Music was playing from the dance floor and the rosy finger of dawn was reaching across the sky through the windows when six men strolled into the club. They came in pairs behind each other and took positions on both sides and in the rear of the Cassidy party. The beautiful blonde snatched her wraps and hurried out. Two more men sauntered in and took covering positions over the Cassidy group.

PATRONS FREE IN TERROR

The dancers sensed that something was in the air and edged to the checkroom for their hats and wraps. The music played louder.

A pair of the strangers with hands in their side pockets began hurling epithets at the Cassidys. Pete Cassidy took up the challenge in a flash and invited the insulters to a fist fight. Immediately, eight revolvers were pointing themselves at the Cassidy group.

Bill Cassidy was not going to take it like Frankie Marlow, the liquor operator and Broadway night club owner who was recently "taken for a ride." Cassidy snapped out his own gun. The mob dropped him on the instant.

Bullets played a tattoo on the walls. Women screamed and patrons ran for exits and fire escapes. It was all over in a few minutes and the eight gunmen filed out calmly and drove away in two automobiles.

SPURNED INDIAN KILLS THREE

MOUNT VERNON, Wash., July 13.—(AP.)—Angered when the white girl he loved refused to leave a farm house where she was staying, Joe Dailey, 35, crippled quarter-breed Indian, killed the girl and two men and slashed an Indian girl with an ax yesterday. He was under guard in the county jail here today.

The dead are Mose Henry, 60; George Stump, 45, and Virginia Ray, 24, of Bellingham. May Hoffman, 28, was in a hospital near here with her head and arms slashed by an ax Dailey used to kill Stump.

"They robbed me, so I killed them," Dailey said. "I should have killed myself, too."

Pittsburgh to Be Filmed With Our American Girl

Pittsburgh's turn to appear in the movies is at hand. Through special arrangement of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and the Enright Theater, Our American Girl will appear in Pittsburgh very soon to record her impressions of the city in motion pictures.

Our American Girl is touring the country at present, visiting all the important cities. After her visit to Pittsburgh, Pittsburghers will be able to see their city as strangers see it.

The picture will be thoroughly modern. A Pittsburgh girl will be selected to receive the beautiful visitor and share honors with her in the pictured tour of the city.

Our American Girl will appear in the first scenes of the movie. She will be shown arriving in Pittsburgh for her reception by Pittsburgh girls and representatives of the Sun-Telegraph and the Enright Theater.

After the reception, an extended tour of the city will be made, with stops at points of historic and scenic interest. The picture will include these places, its purpose being to stimulate civic pride and unfold pictorially the advantages of Pittsburgh.

In the meantime, Connie has resumed active acquaintance with tennis. Playing strenuously. Lessons 'neverything. But no muscular groans resulting. Which may be a bit of luck.

For seven weeks, scouts searched high and far for a hurdy gurdy that wouldn't be to this or that but would play eight or 10 tunes. Sounds ridik, but I'm told it's no giggly matter if you happen to be a hurdy gurdy scout. The H. G., by the by, was necessary to the "Mr. Antonio" picture, starring Leo Carrillo.

'Twas Sunday. Just Sunday. The following day saw the celluloider get under camera way, Hurdy Gurdy or no H. G. Carrillo went a visiting Will Rogers. A polo match was going on. Leo chanced to traipse to Will's back porch. There believe it or not, he espied a hurdy gurdy. He cranked it. It played 10 tunes.

Carrillo sped excitedly to Rogers. Could he borrow the hurdy gurdy. Rogers reckoned not. He'd had it sent out from Philadelphia so the youngsters would have another amusement toy. Carrillo explained how necessary it was he have that H. G. Will gave in. Carrillo rolled the dern thing out, hitched it to his car and drove home triumphant. U never know your luck. . .

Freaks Missing, Polly Is Angry

POLLY MORAN, Billy Haines, Jimmy Shields and a gang decided to bust over to the Ocean Park amusement joint. They did. And in due course discovered a concession said to contain sundry human wrecks all for the admission price of 10 cents. In they pranced. To see nary a thing but a sullen eyed man surrounded with empty bottles.

William Haines

Polly thereupon exited. Once outside, she stood to one side on the step and boomed: "Ladies-e-e-s and gent-men." A crowd gathered. Polly introduced herself as a flick star and Billy as another. Only, to be sure, she used ficticious names. The crowd increased. Those inside the concession galumped out to see what the voice was all about. The ten cent "wreck" came, too, and started raising that certain business. It was swell while it lasted! Polly departed with rare dignity, accidentally knocking over a sign in doing so. And with her went the crowd.

John Barrymore enjoyed a lil' reminiscing 'tother day and brushed this 'un off the memory shelf. It happened while he was playing "Hamlet" in London. He asked the scrubwoman if she'd care to see the play on Thursday eve.

"Is that the only night you get off?" she questioned.

SCREENALITIES:

ANITA STEWART and her fiance, GEORGE CONVERSE, lunching at ye Montmartre. Also present: RUDY CAMERON, Anita's former husband, and George's former wife. Ah ha, a situation. . . . VICTOR M'LAGLEN strolling through Roosevelt lobby. . . . GARETH HUGHES is playing a coo-coo lad in Leo Carrillo's flick, "Mr. Antonio." Years ago, Hughes and May McAvoy were something of a sensation in "Sentimental Tommy." Then something happened to Gareth. He failed to realize the promise of his earlier talents. Mebbe this outloud will be in the nature of a comeback for him. . . . REGIS TOOMEY'S mother is bothered over her son. Every time she goes to see him in a picture she discovers him a bum. She declares she simply can't look her neighbors in the face anymore!

Anita Stewart

ALICE WHITE lunching with Sid Bartlett in the M. G. M. Restaurant. Alice trailed over to geev a luk and an ear to Sid's screen test which resulted in his being cast as the heavy in "Road Show," featuring BESSIE LOVE. . . . The cuts she suffered in her recent auto accident will leave no scars, which is a bit of good luck. Bessie isn't a pessimist, but she's having non-breakable glass put in her car now. The majority of the flicksters have it, it being a life saver in the event of a crash. . . . BEATRICE LILLIE, her small son, and her sister are staying at the Bev Wilshire. The Lillie is to be among those present in Warner's big revue, "Show of Shows," 'tis said. . . . And now the dieters are upset. The far famed 18-day diet is denounced by the W. K. Mayo brothers as not being their's atall. Well, it melted off numerous pounds, just the same. Put all the lost weight together and Hollywood could organize a dandy lard factory. Economy uber alles, as we Rumanians say. . . . And—that's all.

Wants Interview With Maynard; Sends $5

Ken Maynard received a letter containing a five dollar bill. The writer of the note said he had tried to see the Western star on many occasions, and some conscientious employe always said Ken was too busy. The five dollars, it was explained, were to pay Maynard for five minutes time. The writer figured this was about the right value of five minutes.

Maynard returned the five dollars with a note of apology and a set appointment. "I never refuse to see anyone," he explained. "Many of the best ideas I ever had were gained from conversation with strangers and job seekers. These people are usually on the alert and full of bright ideas."

Rumanians Form Council at Sharon

SHARON, Pa., July 13.—Ilarion Morar has been elected president of the Shenango Valley Rumanian Council just formed. Teodor Sanders is vice president, John Salcau, secretary, and John Buday, treasurer.

Golf Tournament Arranged by Lions

Will Rogers Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 13.

The biggest news that was in the papers yesterday was some fellow has experimented and is raising chickens that have no wings.

That's a great gift to everybody that has to eat at the second table. Now if he can get rid of the necks and the gizzards we will class him along with Burbank and Edison.

This wonderful flight of the 'Angelino was no surprise to me, for I know no place where air is more buoyant than here,

Yours, WILL.

Busy Siren

Baclanova, Russian actress, is a very busy woman doing the "vamp" act in American movies. And siren roles have compensations, she finds, for they allow her to wear elaborate and stunning costumes.

Stranger Poses As Auditor, Taps Till

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., July 13.—A well-dressed stranger imposed on Miss. Elizabeth Dacy, clerk in a chain store and got way with $29.63. The man represented himself as an auditor of the company and demanded inspection of the books and cash. The manager of the store was out at the time.

When the manager returned the till was short $29.63.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A DAINTY FROCK FOR MOTHER'S GIRL.

Crepe de chine in a pretty shade of lavender was selected for this model. One could combine printed and plain chiffon, or silk, or taffeta and organdy. The dress may be made with or without the bolero sleeve, collar and vestee portions. In the large view the sleeves are omitted. The plaited skirt portions are jointed to short waist portions, which may be made of contrasting material, or of lining if the bolero is used. A tiny vestee forms part of the bolero below the collar. One may have scalloped or plain outline on collar and bolero, and the sleeves may be set into the armseye of the dress or bolero.

The pattern for this attractive design is cut in four sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. To make the dress with bolero and with long sleeves for a 10-year size will require 3¼ yards of material 36 inches wide. Without sleeves 2½ yards will be required. The waist portions of contrasting material requires ⅝ yard 32 inches wide. Without bolero and sleeves the dress will require 2¼ yards of 36-inch material. The neck bow requires ½ yard of ribbon and the sash 2½ yards of wider ribbon.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make numb r, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Walter Winchell On Broadway

NEW YORK, July 12.

Don Juan, Jr.

SINCE I was twelve, I haven't yet
Experienced, to my regret,

A period when I was sane
Enough to say: "There is no jane

Can put a clippers on my hair,
Delilah-like." They are unfair

To me: "Here, boy! Jump down! Jump up!
Roll over! Beg!" And like a pup

I do and will until die:
There is no rest for such as I,

Unless someone removes from me
My Mormon promiscuity!

—Wilfred J. Funk.

FATE IS UNFAIR

PERHAPS the only member of a current Ziegfeld show who might be described as "a thoroughly good girl!" is a little dancer, who writes to her mother every day, sends her family most of her money every week, never goes out with strange men, attends a church every Sabbath morn and is kind to old folks and dumb beasts. Yet, this little "angel," who doesn't even envy her co-workers (who go out nightly on wild parties and ignore their mothers, etcetra) is the only member of the troupe who incessantly breaks an ankle, gets a cold that keeps her out of work for days at a time, or appendicitis, and is otherwise jinxed.

It is all very horrible.

SIMILE

As fictitious as an envious man's compliment.

REPORTORIAL INACCURACY

CHARLES WILLIS THOMPSON, in the New York Times of July 7, page 2 of Book Review, makes a curious mistake when he states that Father Prout "was not a priest, but merely used that nom de plume." Francis Mahoney, who used the pseudonym of "Father Prout," was educated for the priesthood in Paris and Rome, and was ordained. After 1834 he devoted his time to writing; but in 1864 he retired to a monastery, and died there two years later, when in his sixty-second year.

GA-GA-GA!

As if the current steam bath now wilting New York wasn't enough to drive you cuh-razy, a sign atop an Eighth avenue and Fifty-eighth street building has taken up baby-talk to leave you limper. The sign exploits a roach-powder and reveals a tot and his puppy. The repartee goes like this: 'Be's you got bugs?"

"Sure I are," answers the itty-bitty doggie; "everybody do!"

SQUELCH

VANITY FAIR is one of the few publications which does not solicit material for its handsome pages. Every article is offered by the executive staff, but many writers ignore the rule and submit manuscript. The snooty magazine, incidentally, has an excellent gag to squelch plagiarists. It is a form letter and reads, "Sir, Thanks very much for letting us see the manuscript which we are now returning. We have already seen the original."

THE BROADWAY WAY

PROFESSIONALS and others along The Big Apple will go to any extreme to stick a knife in the other fellow's side. Take the case of a former star who at one time was listed as the mistress of a well-known Wall Streeter. Gossips would have you believe that they actually saw her riding in the man's Rolls-Rerce and that he was responsible for her name being in the Broadway tungstens. She died some time ago, and her press agent confessed how the "talk" started. It appears that he planted this blurb in an issue of Town Topics—"Is it true that Miss Blank is being showered with gifts and attention by Mr. Soandso of Wall Street. And isn't he going to make her a star?"

As a matter of fact, the woman never knew or met the man and won stardom by her exceptional talent. But the whisperers will argue otherwise. Nothing, in fewer words, travels faster on Broadway than a bad notice, unless it is a rumor, which lives longer than, let's say, Fanny Ward.

BLESS THEIR COLD HEARTS

IT must be terrible to be the author of a show. Our sympathy went to one of them who parented a show that arrived last week. Between acts he ankled into an adjacent drug store to quench his palate and couldn't resist fishing for a compliment. "How do you like it so far?" he shouldn't have asked a wag.

"Pretty good," was the reply. "I suppose you can't wait until the next issue of College Humor comes out so you can write a better second act."

THE RETORT YAPPY

It happened back stage at one of the big-time theaters. A well-known headliner was weeping as she sat on some of the scenery back stage. "You look terrible sad," said an acrobat. "What's the matter?"

"I just got this telegram," wept the girl, "telling me my mother is dead."

"Oh," groaned the dope, "I know just how you feel. I just lost my trunk."

ADD LITTLE IRONIES

E. BURTON STEENE was conceded to be the greatest air cameraman in the racket. He had dared death often while shooting nose dives and tail spins and loop-the-loops while in the plane. Recently he succumbed, at the age of 43, in bed from heart disease.

Another lad, whose name has been lost with other material on the floor, served America as a flier in France for 18 months. He was shot down twice but lived through it. More recently he worked as a stunt flier in a circus, performing hair-raising tricks for the breathless crowd below.

He slipped on a banana peel last week up-state and died of a fractured skull.

SOTTO VOCE

BILLS OFFER FILMS AND STOCK

"By Request," a comedy, will be the George Sharp attraction in the Pitt next week.

Maurice Chevalier, French musical comedy star, comes to the Penn sound screen Monday in "Innocents of Paris," his first picture. In it he plays a pushcart peddler who wins fame on the stage.

Mary Brian plays her first mother role in "The Man I Love," talkie, which will be presented in the Aldine next week.

CLARA BOW FILM

"Dangerous Curves," with Clara Bow starred, will open on the Stanley screen Monday. It is Miss Bow's second all-talk production.

"Scandal," a society drama, with Laura La Plante as the star, is to be offered all next week in the Harris. It also will be presented in the Sheridan Square on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The picture in that theater the first three days, beginning Monday, will be "Behind That Curtain," featuring Lois Moran and Warner Baxter.

NEW BILLS TODAY

Today the picturization of the stage farce, "Twin Beds," opens on the Enright screen. Jack Mulhall heads the cast. Patsy Ruth Miller has the feminine lead.

Today also marks the beginning of the third week engagement of "The Cocoanuts," starring the Marx Brothers, in the Grand.

The current attraction in the Regent is George Bancroft's "Thunderbolt."

Next week "Showboat" will be the screen feature in both the Liberty and the Colonial.

Sisters of Sahara Close Convention

WHEELING, W. Va., July 13.—Mrs. Lua Fortney, of Cleveland, O., was elected national queen of the Order of Sahara Sisters, an auxiliary of the Dames of Malta, in the concluding day of the national session held here during the past three days. Mrs. Maidie Beecher, of Cleveland, was elected supreme motto, and Mrs. Emma Eastland, of Sharpsburg, keeper of gates. The next convention will be held in Cleveland.

Talker Now

Lydia Yeamans Titus, veteran actress, who back in the '80s and '90s was a famous musical star, is now in talking pictures. She is seen as she appears in "Lummox," Herbert Brenon's forthcoming production.

SCOOTER TESTS COMPLETED

Tomorrow, the Sun-Telegraph will publish the names and adresses of the winners of every preliminary scooter race at the city playgrounds.

Monday, under the auspices of the Sun-Telegraph, the final races for the Pittsburgh "Whoopee" scooter championship will be held at the Plaza in the lower Forbes street entrance to Schenley Park. The races will start promptly at 10 o'clock.

To the first place in the boy and girl finals, a wrist watch will be awarded; second prize will be fountain pen and pencil sets, there will likewise be other prizes for both boys and girls of automatic pencils.

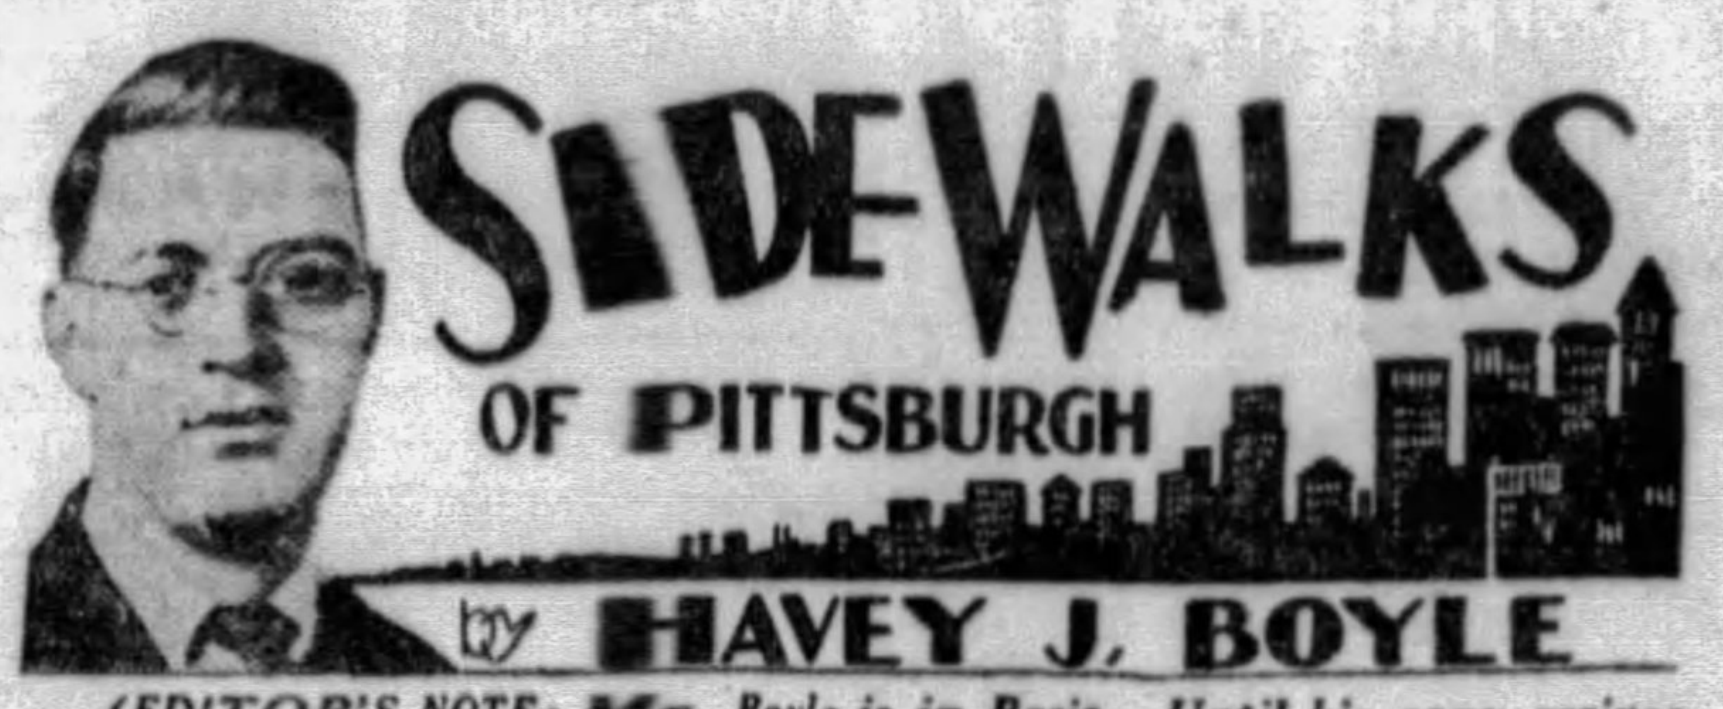
Watch for the announcement of the winners of these races in tomorrow's paper.

"Whoopee" scooters may be obtained by any boy or girl in Pittsburgh who secures one 26-week subscription to the Sun-Telegraph.

Railway Operators In Kennywood Park

The operating department of the Pittsburgh Railways Company will hold its outing in Kennywood Park today. The next special attraction in the Kennywood pavilion will be the Cliquot Club Eskimos Friday night. The Sensational Jacks, aerial performers, conclude a two weeks' engagement in the park tonight. "Maids of the Air," seven girls who present an aerial feature, are to come as the new free act. Concerts will be played tomorrow by Danny Nirella's Band.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH



by HAVEY J. BOYLE

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Boyle is in Paris. Until his copy arrives, Mr. William Pfarr will conduct his daily column.)

PROBABLY no high officer came out of the World War with more friends among the doughboys than the late Brig. Gen. Brett, boss of the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry Brigade, which included many Pittsburghers. This story is from one of them:

"Our outfit had a cheap phonograph that we carried all over France, but we had difficulty getting needles for the darned thing. We were quartered at Le Brunquet at the time this happened.

"One day Gen. Brett started for Boulogne. As his car pulled out I yelled to his chauffeur, Maurice Costello, a Pittsburgh boy, 'Bring back some needles for the concert.'

"When Brett was ready to return from Boulogne he asked Costello if he had got the needles. Costello said he couldn't find any. So Brett sent a second-looey after them. The looey returned with the same squawk. Brett started scouring Boulogne himself—and he got 'em."

"Vanilla," answered the little girl.

TONY BLOCH is one police captain who tries to enforce the laws intelligently. His policy is to give the citizen every advantage. Sometimes that plan doesn't work.

One night Tony came across a motorist sleeping at the wheel of a parked car. The gentleman had been drinking. Tony edged into the car, drove it around the corner to a garage and sent the sleepy owner home in a cab. The next day the fellow hunted up Tony.

Y' POOR FISH—MY WIFE WAS WAITIN' FOR ME!

"What's the idea?" he demanded. "You've got no business driving my car. In the first place, you happened to pick out my garage, and all those fellows saw me under the weather. In the second place, the wife was waiting for me at the house before I could sleep it off."

* * *

Mr. Boyle's pinch-hitter made the mistake the other day of creasing his brow into wrinkles that were intended to signify the deep concentration that is necessary to turn out a serious column. The idea was all right, but it should never been executed in the presence of Mister John McGarvey and Mister John Hernon, members of the faculty of the School of Hard Knocks.

"Listen," advised those two persons. "In a coupla days you'll be carrying water again."

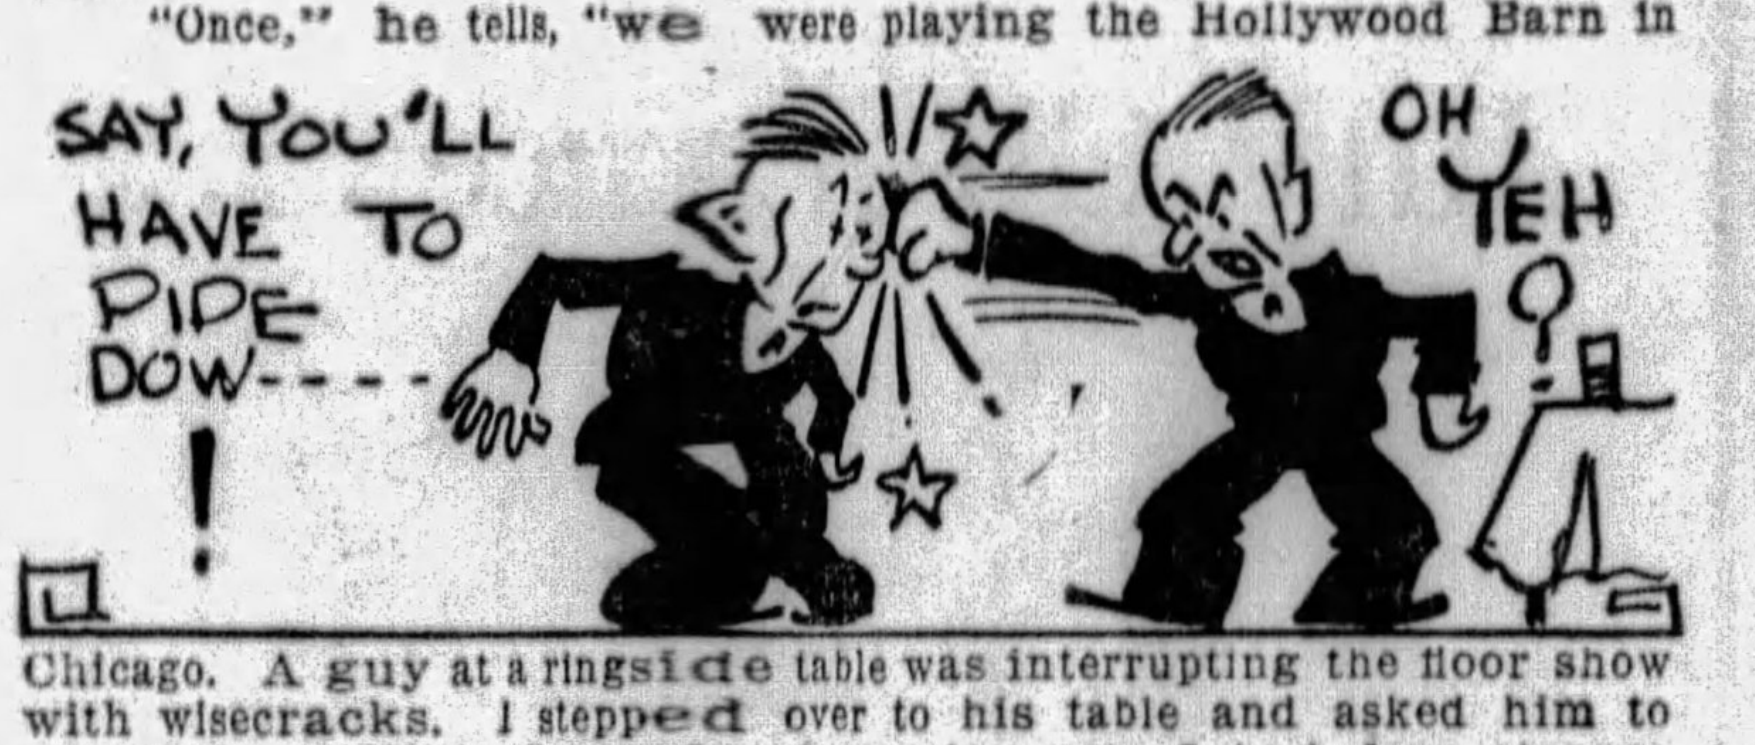
HOWARD THOMAS is one master of ceremony, who makes no claims to a handsome profile, who confesses that never has he received a mash note. This is an interesting confession in these days when there is an inclination to boost the master of ceremonies to an exalted pedestal. Thomas' object is simply to make his audience laugh, and he succeeds. As to the handsome profile that is generally regarded as part of the master's equipments, Thomas is considering billing himself as "The Homeliest Guy in the Racket."

Where others are busy relating how they are disturbed in their sleep to receive the homage of a grateful public, Thomas eliminates the hooey and gives you what we call the lowdown. Listen:

"Once," he tells, "we were playing the Hollywood Barn in Chicago. A guy at a ringside table was interrupting the floor show with wisecracks. I stepped over to his table and asked him to pipe down. When I regained consciousness I had four strange teeth in my mouth."



SAY, YOU'LL HAVE TO PIPE DOW----!

WEEKLY PAPER SUSPENDS

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., July 13.—Fifty years after the first issue, the Weekly Courier printed its last issue yesterday and is merged with the Daily Courier.

The weekly, recognized as an authority on coal and coke statistics for the Connellsville region, missed only one publication in that period, due to a printers' holiday. It was founded by the late H. P. Snyder.

The coke figures will be carried in the daily paper hereafter.

RIVER TONNAGE SETS RECORD

WHEELING, W. Va., July 13.—During June 1157 craft passed the Martins Ferry-Warwood dam in the Ohio River, according to the records of District Overseer J. E. Carpenter. Of these, 720 were barges and 344 towboats. The number is probably the largest recorded in any one month.

A year ago—in June, 1928—987 boats passed the dam. During the first half of 1929, 3,909 craft passed the dam. In the same period of last year, the total was 3,584.

The dam was in place only 56 days this half year. During the remainder of the 180-day period, the Ohio was sufficiently high to make its use unnecessary.

Sykesville Banker Killed by Auto

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., July 13.—Jacob Buchheit, 80, of Sykesville, was killed in front of his home Thursday evening by a car, police said, which was driven by Joe Letco, of Helvetia. The man was carried 150 feet on the fender of the machine. It stopped in front of the home of his son, Charles, where he died. His neck, leg and arm were broken. Buchheit was a former director of both the Sykesville and Big Run National banks and one of the wealthiest men in Jefferson County.

Body of High School Girl Found in River

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., July 13.—Searchers have recovered from the Ohio River here the body of Miss Frances Seckman, 16, high school junior, who was drowned Wednesday while bathing in Beaver Creek.

FORMER SLAVE DIES AT 103

CANONSBURG, Pa., July 13.—Mrs. Rebecca Brown Simmons, Negro, was buried yesterday. Mrs. Simmons lived to be 103 years, six months and nine days. She was born in slavery at Richmond, Va., and at the death of her master, was set free, and along with each of his other slaves, was given a small tract of land near Cadiz, O.

Shortly after coming to Pennsylvania in 1847 she was married to the Rev. Cyrus Brown. Thirteen children were born, six of whom are living. She is also survived by 76 grandchildren, 132 great-grandchildren, and 25 great-great grandchildren.

She was familiarly known among her friends as "Aunt Beckie Brown."

Fishermen Recover Drowned Boy's Body

WHEELING, W. Va., July 13.—The body of Harold Anderson, aged 9, drowned in the Ohio River here Wednesday, was found floating in the river at Pipe Creek, 27 miles south of here by fishermen.

July Clearance of FURNITURE
Begins Monday

An unusually large accumulation of odd suites and the urgent need of disposing of floor samples at this time, has impelled us to move this activity a few days ahead of the Store-wide Clearance.

The offerings are spread over the entire stock of living room, dining room and bedroom furniture. A comparison of former prices with the reduced clearance figures will be convincing proof of the large savings here for anyone needing furniture or who has been contemplating its purchase in the near future.

CARNEGIE LUTHERANS OCCUPY NEW CHURCH TOMORROW

SPECIAL RITES WILL FEATURE DEDICATION

Visiting Ministers to Talk At First Worship to Be Held in $100,000 Edifice

St. John's Lutheran Church congregation, of Carnegie, on Sunday morning will hold its first service in its new church. Its pastor is the Rev. L. O. Burry.

The new edifice is located in Washington avenue. It is constructed of Indiana limestone and its architecture is of English Gothic style. High-vaulted trusses, windows with a predominance of blue, and pendent, lantern-like lighting fixtures beautify the nave.

STORIES IN WINDOWS

The 12 windows symbolize stories of the Old and New Testaments. The large window above the main portal is a sermon in glass with the theme, "Christ, the Perfect and Eternal Conqueror." High above the alter, a rose window lends a bright touch to the chancel. A finely-carved alter, pulpit, lectern and reredos, with a crimson damask dossal, add richness.

The seating capacity of the new building is about 500; its cost, not including ground value, about $100,000. O. M. Topp, of Pittsburgh, designed the church.

The Rev. Dr. W. E. Schuette, of Sewickley, will deliver the dedicatory sermon at 10:45 a. m. The Rev. Ralph H. Long, of Columbus, O., will speak at the service at 3 p. m. The Rev. G. Edward Kohlmann, of Oil City, Pa., will be the speaker at the service at 8.

COMMUNITY SERVICES

Members of other churches of the community are invited to be the guests of the congregation on Tuesday at 8 p. m. Dr. H. N. Cameron, president of the Carnegie ministerial association, will deliver the address.

Friday evening has been set as neighborhood night, when the congregations of neighboring boroughs are invited to attend. Short talks will be given by the Rev. C. F. Lauer, of Dormont; the Rev. Walter Miesel, of Brookline, and the Rev. George Knauff, of Castle Shannon. These three parishes were formerly served by the Rev Mr. Burry.

Prize Statue Sent Tech for Exhibition

"Steel," the statue which won this year's Prix de Rome in sculpture for Sidney B. Waugh, of Amherst, Mass., has been lent to the Carnegie Institute of Technology for a period of three years, Glendenning Keeble, chairman of the faculty of the College of Fine Arts, announced today. Carnegie was selected as the depository for the statue by officers of the American Academy in Rome. The statue will be placed in the exhibition hall in the College of Fine Arts and will be on public exhibition until July 31.

Funeral Monday For Mrs. Anna Daly

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Daly, 73, who died Thursday in St. Francis Hospital, will be held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Hamilton, 7553 Hamilton avenue, Monday, with solemn requiem mass at 9 a. m. in the Holy Rosary Catholic Church. Besides Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Daly leaves two other daughters, Mrs. Thomas Lennon and Mrs. Mary McCormick; a son, John F. Daly, and two brothers, James and Michael McLaughlin, both in Ireland.

Prohibition Party Selects Candidates

SOLDIERS HONOR MEMORY OF WAR HEROES

Fisher to Talk at Gretna Services in Honor of Guards Killed in Action

By FRANK J. SHENKEL,
Staff Correspondent.

CAMP THOMPSON, Mt. Gretna, Pa., July 13.—Memorial services for members of the Twenty-eighth Division, National Guard of Pennsylvania, commanded by Maj. Gen. William G. Price, who were killed in action during the World War and who died from wounds received in battle, were held today in camp.

Gov. John S. Fisher, commander-in-chief of the state guard, led in the services. Gov. Fisher arrived in camp late yesterday afternoon unexpectedly. Just as Gen. Price and staff officers returned to Division Hill from Beary Bowl where the divisional track and field meet was held.

GOVERNOR TO TALK

It was after retreat that Gov. Fisher arrived and as an army regulation stipulates that no salute in honor of military dignitaries is permittd to be fired after retreat, the customary salute of seven guns was not accorded the national guard chief. This honor will be given Gov. Fisher late this afternoon.

Another high figure in the state guard who came to camp yesterday was Lieut. Col. Richard D. Boal, of Boalsburg, division finance officer. He arrived a short time after Gov. Fisher.

The memorial services today will be attended by every member of the division. The citizen soldiers will march in batallion formation to Beary Bowl where the services will be held. Bands of the One Hundred and Ninth and One Hundred and Tenth Infantry Regiments will open the services by playing "Onward Christian Soldiers." "Nearer My God to Thee," will be played after which Gov. Fisher will make his address. An address by Gen. Price and taps concluded the services.

Last night Gov. Fisher held an informal meeting with division officers at the officers club, a short distance from the headquarters of Gen. Price.

FIELD MEET HELD

Friday, the division track and field meet was held at Beary Bowl. Some 1,800 members of the division participated in the monster event. The meet this year was the biggest and most successful to be held in the history of this camp. Gen. Price occupied honor position on the reviewing stand and watched the soldiers displaying the athletic prowess. He was an interesting spectator as the meet ended. The entire division formed in front of the reviewing stand in regimental formation and Gen. Price complimented the men for the wonderful display of athletic ability shown.

Another soldier dear to the hearts of older members of the guards and to those who served years ago, was an interesting spectator, Maj. Gen. Charles M. Clement, who at the time the United States entered the world war was commander of the Twenty-eighth division, gave a brief talk.

"I am ten years younger as the result of witnessing this event," said Gen. Clement. "Back on the old camping grounds recalls fond memories to me, for up until the world war I had been a member of the greatest fighting division not only in the United States but in the world," he said.

Gen. Clement came into camp early yesterday afternoon. He left in the evening.

WINNERS ANNOUNCED

The championship of the division was won by the One Hundred and Ninth Infantry Regiment, commanded by Col. Robert M. Vail, Scranton with 302 points. The One Hundred and Tenth Infantry Regiment, commanded by Col. Aiken, was second with 253 points, and the One Hundred and Ninth Field Artillery Regiment, third, with 156. In battalion scoring, the third of the One Hundred and Ninth Infantry was first with 137 points. The second of the One Hundred and Tenth, second with 102 and the second of the One Hundred and Ninth Artillery third with 60. In company competition, Company K, of the One Hundred and Tenth from Waynesburg was highest with 55, Company I of the One Hundred and Ninth Artillery third with 32.

A mythical battle was held in the clouds between Maj. John S. Owens, commander of the Twenty-eight Division Air Corps, and Lieut. S. S. Brenner. Piloted by Lieut. George J. Bortle. The "fight" was held over the air base at Middletown, about 18 miles from camp. Both planes jockeying for advantageous position at a height of 6,000 feet, darted in and out of clouds until Maj. Owens was theoretically shot down with his ship. The maneuver was the most interesting to be held by the air forces since camp opened.

SERMONETTE

"THE JOY OF ACHIEVEMENT"

By REV. CARL AUGUST VOSS, German Evangelical Protestant Smithfield Church (Congregational) 620 Smithfield Street.

Text: Revelation 2, 26 and 28: "To him that overcometh will I give the morning star."

SPIRITUAL adventures are capturing the imagination of our generation. Opportunities more glorious than ever are offered to enrich the inner man. In this sphere there are uncharted seas to sail and unknown heights to climb.

Ours is a marvelous age. Adventurous souls have triumphed over earth and sky and sea. The revelations of science provide the philosopher with a warrant for his boldest dreams. In the far distant stars and the heart of man, in the towering mountains and the unseen electrons, the intellect recognizes the unfolding of the divine purpose, and this achievement causes joy.

But also in the realm of the spirit great advances are being recorded. The churches of Christ are rapidly recognizing each other's sincerity of conviction. Creeds that emphasized the things that separate are being supplanted by platforms which in their simple appeal offer bonds of union. Freedom of conscience is regarded as a right to which all are entitled. And as Americans we are thinking internationally . . . not to attain material conquests, but to find larger fields of service. A new day is dawning, for mankind recognizes with increasing clarity that the way of Jesus is a plan of life which makes war impossible and establishes righteousness and justice. Working with God produces a better race and is rewarded not by fleeting treasures, but by the joy of achievement that is experienced by him who overcomes. He shall see the morning star and recognize in it a pledge of a new day when the forces of God and man shall triumph.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Pittsburghers Take Part In Paper Hunt Event At Watch Hill

WHILE we in town are dodging bolts of lightning or sun rays undiluted with ocean breezes, our folks at the summer resorts are entertaining themselves very well. The Pittsburgh colony at Watch Hill, always a large one and composed of practically the same families each season, is no laggard in this respect. These vacationists are boating, swimming, golfing—all the things that go to make up a good time.

One event there today, though, is just a little different, and that is a paper hunt. This is being sponsored by the Watch Hill Riding and Polo Club, and the trail is laid through the hills which surround the summer resort. Mention of that club just reminds me that the A. Rex. Flinns, who are members, took a pony east with them and have stabled it at the club for the use of their children.

I hear that the women's championship tournament of the Misquamicut Golf Club will open with qualifying rounds on Monday. Mrs. Harry Darlington and Mrs. Flinn are among the Pittsburgh women who have registered to enter the tournament.

SEWICKLEY'S widely entertained visitor, the Marchesa Dusmet de Smours, of Rome, is going to be guest of honor at still another party, I hear. Mrs. James G. Pontefract, of Sewickley road, Shields, will entertain at luncheon next Thursday afternoon in the Allegheny Country Club for the marchesa, who, as I have told you before, is, with the marchese and their daughter, Maria, visiting her mother, Mrs. James B. Oliver, of Shields.

THE Atlantic Ocean is still luring our local people away from home, isn't it? Mrs. B. B. Howell, Mrs. Charles Rowe and Mrs. William Zang, all of the East End, are motoring to Biddeford, Me., I've been told. And Mrs. Stuart Brown, Jr., of Blackburn road, Sewickley Heights, has gone to Bay Head, N. J., where she will spend some time with her mother, Mrs. Richard S. Suydam.

A guest down in Sewickley Valley is Mrs. James Hamilton, of Pontiac, Mich. Mrs. Hamilton is visiting Mary Anderson Standish, daughter of the T. A. Standishes, of Meadow lane, Edgeworth. And another visitor in the valley is Miss Sarah Scott, of New York, who is the guest of the William D. Doolittles, of Quaker road. William D. Doolittle, Jr., James Todd and William D. George, Jr., are with the Three Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery, Military Reserve, at Camp Hoyle, Md.

The Charles M. Clarkes, of Grove street, Sewickley, are out West, spending a few weeks with their daughter, Mrs. Wylie North Caldwell, of Beverly Hills.

NEXT Friday is the date chosen for the wedding of Miss Elenor Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Clarence Graham, of the William Penn highway, and Samuel Hamilton Humes, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Humphries Krom, of Jersey Shore. The ceremoney will be performed in the ballroom of the Penn Lincoln Hotel, Wilkinsburg, by the Rev. Dr. Thomas D. Edgar, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg. Miss Carolyn Graham will be her sister's maid of honor and Mrs. Karl William Bohren, of Bellefonte, matron of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Margaret Humes, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, of Wilkinsburg, and Miss Marjorie Barnhardt, of the East End, while a small cousin of the bride, Margery Ann Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Brandon Graham, of Cedar boulevard, will be flower girl. Howard J. Carter, of New York, is to be best man, and the ushers will include Dr. Charles H. Bruce, Jr., of Sharon; Leighton T. Wade, of New York; John Bemus Veach, of Oil City; Harry Alvan Baird, of Williamsport; Dr. David S. Archibald, of this city, and William J. Graham, brother of the bride.

MISS MARY ELIZABETH STEVENS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Charles Stevens, of Oakland, has chosen her parents' silver wedding anniversary, next Friday, as the date for her marriage to Dr. Richard Dow Wells, of Joplin, Mo., and Pittsburgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Justus Neff, of Joplin. The ceremony will be performed in St. Paul's Cathedral. Miss Margaret Louise Stevens will be her sister's maid of honor and Dr. Edward Truhan, of this city, is to be best man. After a western trip, Dr. and Mrs. Wells will be at home in the East End.

MISS DOROTHY BOYLE, of Tilbury street, entertained at bridge yesterday afternoon in honor of her cousin, Miss Marion Camp, of Philadelphia, and Miss Esther Nock, of Passadena, Cal. Two tables were in play.

* * *

THE marriage of Miss Margaret C. Bullions, of Schoyer avenue, Swissvale, and Noble C. Shaw, of Manchester, Vt., was solemnized this morning in the bride's home by the Rev. W. O. Yates. The bride wore pale blue chiffon and carried pink roses and lilies of the valley, while her sister, Miss Nancy Bullions, as maid of honor, appeared in tan chiffon and carried yellow roses. W. J. Brisbin was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw have left for a trip through New England and Canada.

MISS JEAN M'LAUGHLIN, of the North Side, was guest of honor at a bridge luncheon given Wednesday by Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Remsberg, of Carlisle, Pa. Miss McLaughlin arrived in Carlisle on Monday accompanied by her brother, Dr. William B. McLaughlin, who is a first lieutenant in the medical field training camp there.

THE Catholic Knights of St. George, Branches 5, 6, 20 and 21, will hold a moonlight boat excursion Thursday night on the steamer Greater Pittsburgh. The boat will leave the wharf at 8:30 o'clock.

* * *

MRS. REGINA HOEBLER, of Mt. Oliver, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Leoba M. Hoebler, and Ralph J. Barth, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Barth, of McKeesport, which was solemnized Wednesday.

MRS. DEMASS ELLESWORTH BARNES

Mrs. Barnes was Miss Helen Garden, daughter of the Rev. Dr. A. W. S. Garden, West North avenue, before her late June marriage. The Barneses are on a honeymoon in Europe.

Many Dates Chosen By Southern Club

SEVERAL dates already have been pre-empted for next season by Southern Club members. October 11 will be an important one, for that is the day set for the reception to the president and new members. The charity ball has been announced for December 27. There is to be a tea in February and a play in March and then will come the altruistic day, April 11, for which Mrs. Charles B. Ellis, altruistic committee chairman, will be hostess at her home in the Bellefield Dwellings. The annual luncheon will be an event of May 9, closing the season.

* * *

MRS. WILLIAM MACLAY HALL, president of the Twentieth Century Club, is spending a few weeks as the guest of Mrs. George W. J. Bissell, of Penn avenue, who is at her summer home in Hyannisport.

AT the joint boat excursion which Fort Pitt and Pennsylvania chapters, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold July 29 on the Greater Pittsburgh, Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler will serve as general chairman of cards. Mrs. Medora Deitzell is bridge chairman; Mrs. Margaret Kidner, "500" chairman; Mrs. Mae Mullett, chairman of euchre, and Mrs. Effie Steen, chairman of dancing.

* * *

DR. MIRIAM BOMHARD, of Sharpsburg, assistant professor of biologoy at Newcomb College, Tulane University, New Orleans, is home for the summer. Dr. Bomhard sang on a recent concert tour of the Mandolin and Guitar Club of Newcomb to Cuba, Panama and Nicaragua.

AMONG the members of the Congress of Clubs who are vacationing is Mrs. Marie Tello Phillips, chairman of the literature department, who is at her Cape Cod summer home, "Phillipscote," in Harwich Port. Mrs. Chester F. Johnston, drama chairman, and her family are in Ocean City, Md., and Miss Alice Hall expects to motor to Atlantic City next week.

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., July 13.—Police are checking hospitals and doctors for a clue to a man with an injured right arm. Report was that the truck loaded with $5,000 worth of cigars and cigarets, stolen from the W. E. Osborn Company here, had headed for Ohio. The truck had stopped at a service station for gasoline and the driver had broken his arm cranking the truck.

Brother Returns After 63 Years

RICES LANDING, Pa., July 13.—George B. Cushman, aged 80, of Kansas City, saw his sister, Mrs. Anna M. Everly, aged 88, of Swarts, for the first time since he left in covered wagon days, 63 years ago, to seek his fortunes in the West. He has arrived for a visit at the Everly home.

Husband Too Lazy To Bootleg, She Says

MERCER, Pa., July 13.—Because her husband was too lazy to even bootleg, she said, Mrs. Pearl Todut, of Farrell, has been granted a divorce from Andrew Todut, of Sharon.

"He was in the business with his mother," testified Mrs. Todut, "but was too lazy to sell the liquor."

She also claimed that he was cruel to her. Both are 23 years old. They have one child.

FRANCE DELAYS FILM RULING

PARIS, July 13.—(AP.)—The situation of American films in France was brought up in the Chamber of Deputies, but at the request of the government formal interpellation was postponed until the second Friday in October.

Deputy Jean M. Renaitour shouted:

"Americans, in spite of all their dollars, must not be allowed to paralyze the French movie industry."

Francis Poncet, under secretary of state for public instruction, said that negotiations for modification of the present film regulations had been started. He hoped that arranements would be reached that would be satisfactory both to the American producers and to the French film interests.

Youth Meets Death When Auto Upsets

WEIRTON, W. Va., July 13.—Charles Edward Drake, 18, of Holiday's Cove, is dead, the result of an automobile accident. He was driving along a highway and in passing another car, ran into a gravel pile and upset.

Governor Conley Visits Wheeling

DEARTHS BACK FROM EUROPE

NEW YORK, July 13.—Dr. and Mrs. Walter A. Dearth, of Pittsburgh, arrived here yesterday in the S. S. Berengaria, returning from Southampton via Cherbourg. The Dearths have been spending several weeks motoring on the continent.

Other passengers from Pittsburgh were Eddy Dewit Frosman, Hyman Levin and William M. Staments. The Berengaria also brought in a list of notables, including Sir George Hubert Wilkins, Arctic explorer; the Right Rev. Joseph Schrembs, bishop of Cleveland, and three members of the Oxford-Cambridge tennis team, here for a series of international matches.

Rojohn, as follows: Junior Past Councilor, Clyde E. Lowrey; councilor, Walter Henry; vice councilor, Joseph W. Brown; chaplain, Bernard Brown; warden, C. Earl Mansfield, assistant recording secretary, Erle S. Heath; recording secretary, Thomas E. Beedle; treasurer, Albert E. Rojohn; financial secretary, Virginias Pifiozzi; inside sentinel, Henry Weiskercher; outside sentinel, George B. Brown. Trustee for 18 months, Herman Rojohn.

Supervisors Deny Accounts in Error

WAYNESBURG, Pa., July 13.—In an answer filed on behalf of J. S. McCoombs, F. L. Johnson and E. T. McCredock, supervisors of Cumberland Township, it was charged that a petition for appeal from the auditor's report of the township for the year 1928 by C. F. Cree on behalf of the Cumberland Coal Co., was not made in good faith. The supervisors deny having practiced fraud upon the township by failure to make proper returns of expenditures, and that the salaries paid them during their terms were not excessive.

The 18-Day Diet Again

In response to an unabated flood of requests, the Sun-Telegraph is reprinting in daily installments Hollywood's 18-day diet, first presented to Sun-Telegraph readers by Louella O. Parsons, motion picture critic and writer.

SIXTH DAY

Breakfast—One-half grapefruit, melba toast, coffee; lunch, orange, tea; dinner, 1 poached egg, 1 slice melba toast, orange, tea.

Melba toast is made by cutting white bread very thin—less than one-fourth inch—toasting it very slowly in oven under low fire until crisp and toasted all the way through and then buttering it as desired.

(The seventh day's installment of the diet will be published Sunday.)

Noted Minstrel Star Sings On Radio Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

EDDIE LEONARD, "the grand old man of minstrelsy," heads a battalion of veteran entertainers on the Radio Cavalcade tonightt. He will sing "Beautiful" and "Sugar Cane Around My Door" during the weekly march over WCAE at 8 p. m.

One very interested Pittsburgh listener will be Radio Jim Hughes, who played in Eddie Leonard's Minstrel Show years ago and later made the Keith Circuit several times in a vaudeville act. Radio Jim has given up the boards for the more romantic employment of radio entertaining. He is now a staff artist at WJAS.

Eddie Leonard.

Maritime music by a male chorus and concert orchestra will furnish a delightful entertainment over WCAE at 9 p. m. KDKA at this hour will have the Detroit Symphony, another excellent concert.

"Blue Room" from "The Girl Friend" will be sung as a tenor solo by Carlton Boxill, KDKA at 6:30, followed half an hour later with a special program by the Red Arrow Quartet.

Supplementing the usual program of good dance music late in the evening will be Don Bartell's Recording Orchestra from the Club Plantation, KQV at 10 o'clock.

WJAS at 10 will have Senator William King, of Utah, as guest speaker on the National Forum from Washington, D. C.

ROME OVATION TOUCHES U. S. SEA FLIERS

Weep as They Kiss Italian Flag Before Huge Throng; Friendship Aim of Trip

By ROGER Q. WILLIAMS, Pilot, and
CAPT. LEWIS A. YANCEY,
Navigator,

Of the trans-Atlantic airplane Pathfinder, which Wednesday night completed its journey from Old Orchard Beach, Me., to Rome.

(Written Expressly for the New York American and Allied Hearst Newspapers.)
Special Cable Dispatch.

ROME, July 13.—Regardless of the fact that the Pathfinder was unable to reach its goal in one hop, the purposes of the flight—to further friendly relations between Italy and the United States, and to return Gen. Francisco de Pinedo's gallant courtesy in his trans-ocean flight—have been achieved.

This was irrevocably demonstrated by the tremendous ovation accorded us on our arrival, the spirit of which has not diminished.

FLIGHT FOR FRIENDSHIP

At the reception in the Roman capital yesterday our hearts were so touched that we wept when we embraced and kissed the Italian flag. In no other way could we two Americans so sincerely demonstrate our appreciation for the cordiality of the Italian people.

This flight was one to promote Italo-American friendship. It was absolutely devoid of commercial interest or propaganda. Its sole purpose was that of annihilating space, both in time and in the relationship of the two countries.

We are both disappointed to have been unable to make our objective because of lack of fuel, but the feeling of the Italian people towards us compensates us a thousand-fold.

We believe we have demonstrated America's regard for King Victor Emanuel, Premier Mussolini and the Italian people. Today, this trinity stands out as the sponsors of world peace, progress and humanity.

AMAZED BY RECEPTION

America will never forget the King at the front during the war, and will never forget Mussolini stemming the tide of Bolshevism.

If we, despite the fact of our premature landing, have been able to bring this message to Italy, our flight has been infinitely successful.

The reception tendered by the Roman governor, Prince Boncompagni Ludovici, at the capitol, surpassed all expectations.

Mounting the broad, magnificent stairway leading to Capitol Hill (writes Williams), Yancey said:

"This is more impressive than climbing 20,000 feet in a plane."

We were both nearly stricken dumb by the scene, and the splendor of the capital is only surpassed by the sincerity and hospitality of our hosts.

It was then we kissed the flag of the people whose ancestors gave to the world the man who, primarily, made today's America possible—Christopher Columbus.

MEET KING MONDAY

Our program while we are in Rome includes a flight over the Eternal City in the Pathfinder, our ocean-conquering plane.

Gen. Italo Balbo, under secretary of the air department, has placed at our disposal a "Savoia S-55," for a flight on Monday to Sanrossore, near Pisa, where King Victor Emanuel and the royal family are summering. Here we will be received again.

On Monday, after the reception, we will continue to Sesto Calende, on the shores of beautiful Lake Maggiore, where we will be permitted to inspect the Savoia factory. Tuesday, we will return to Rome.

And then—off to Paris. The Pathfinder, by that time, will be groomed and fueled and in first-class shape. Wednesday we will take off from Littorio Airfield, just a week after our landing there, and try a non-stop flight to Paris.

Farmer Arrested On Hit-Run Charge

WAYNESBURG, Pa., July 13.—Jacob Alexander, 57-year-old Amity farmer, is being held under bond on a hit-and-run charge, which police say was made after Alexander failed to stop and render assistance after a car he was driving struck a machine driven by Miss Evelyn Develbis, of Jefferson. Miss Develbis was injured.

Ellwood City Road Program Agreed On

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 13.—At a dinner meeting of Lawrence County officials and good roads enthusiasts, held at Portersville, an agreement was reached between the Lawrence and Butler County Commissioners by which the Ellwood City-Portersville road is to be improved for the entire distance between those points, in 1930.

Man Twice Arrested As Army Deserter

MERCER, Pa., July 13.—For the second time within a year, Charles Waite, aged 20, of near here, was arrested for deserting the Army. He left Fort Hays on October 15 after being placed under guard. Pvt. Waite has been turned over to Army officials. He enlisted in Pittsburgh in 1926.

Grove City Girl Bitten by Dog

GROVE CITY, Pa., July 13.—Catherine Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stewart, is recovering from injuries sustained when bitten by a dog police said was owned by C. A. Callahan. The dog is under observation.

Use Cannonballs For Playing Duckpins

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., July 13.—Postmaster W. S. Behanna has asked police to curb the activities of young men who use the cannon balls, placed in pyramids about a naval gun mounted on the lawn of the Federal building, for impromptu "duckpin" games on the sidewalks.

One of the balls has disappeared, spoiling the pyramid. Officers are undetermined whether it was stolen or just rolled into an inconspicuous corner.

STUDENTS HAIL ROME FLIERS

ROME, July 13.—(AP.)—Capt. Lewis A. Yancey and his trans-Atlantic companion, Roger Q. Williams, awoke this morning to find before their hotel balcony a hundred American students singing the "Star Spangled Banner," giving their college yells and booming the fliers' names in all directions.

Rubbing their eyes, the American airmen went down and shook hands with the students, signing autographs and posing for pictures. The students are stopping at varius hotels and had arranged to meet early in the morning so as to catch the fliers before they left their abode.

The fliers went to the Centocelle military air field today with Maj. George E. Lovell, Jr., American air attache, where they inspected various planes, including the Savoie 64 in which Ferrarin and Delprette made their flight to Brazil.

News of the start of Lieut. Dieudonne Costes and Maurice Bellonte and the Polish aviators, Majs. Idzikowski and Kubala, on a trans-Atlantic air race, was transmitted to Williams and Yancey in their hotel here early this morning.

Both displayed intense interest in the dual attempt, and recalled their efforts to take off from Old Orchard, Me., at the same time as the French monoplane Yellow Bird started on its successful flight several weeks ago.

"I wish them the very best of luck," Williams said. "Costes is a splendid pilot and Idzikowski and Kubala are as fine as they come. I sincerely hope that both crews succeed in their attempts."

Yancey echoed Williams' sentiments, and the fliers requested newspaper men to keep them in touch with developments in the new flights.

FOREST LOVE

Nancy's Visit to Neighbor Brings Depression at Thought of Future

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Nancy Hollenbeck, young, vibrant and beautiful, becomes cynical toward love when she gives up Mat Tully at her mother's request because he is poor. She encourages the attention of Jack Beamer, wealthy married man, who, enamored of Nancy, wishes to divorce his wife. On a mountain trip, Nancy falls in love with a handsome ranger, Roger Decatur. Leaving her chaperons, the rich Porters, Nancy, after a violent but brief courtship, secretly marries Roger. Doubts assail her as she spends long, lonely days in his rough mountain cabin. She is startled by the telephone bell.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIX.

NANCY held the receiver stupidly. It wasn't Roger. Roger wasn't calling at all. Some girl . . .

"Hello!" she cried again. "Hello!"

"Mrs. Decatur?"

"Yes." Nancy clutched the telephone in an agony of surprise. Some girl calling her . . . some old sweetheart of Roger's . . . no, no, Roger wasn't like that . . . It was bad news. Something had happened to him. He was hurt . . . killed . . .

"Oh, what has happened?" she cried, unable to wait patiently for the deliberate voice at the other end.

"Why, nothing, Mrs. Decatur! I'm sorry if I scared you. I'm your neighbor—I just wanted to talk!"

Neighbor! Nancy laughed, and wiped her damp forehead with the back of her hand. Neighbor! She had a neighbor and nothing was wrong . . .

It was Mrs. McKimmons, wife of the ranger who worked under Roger. She had just this minute heard from Mrs. Ackerman, the storekeeper's wife, that Mr. Decatur was married. She'd run right over, only the baby was too heavy to carry and—

"You mean you're near enough to walk!" Oh, to have someone call on her! Someone to talk to . . . some girl . . .

"Well, it's about a mile. We're at the lookout on the peak. You just follow the trail from your house. It isn't a bad walk. Or if Mr. Decatur's horse is there—"

Roger's horse, a rangy mare with a roving disposition, was at the moment nibbling some dry grass near the front door. Nancy had not ridden her yet, neither had she ever saddled a horse.

"I'll come—I'll be right over!" she promised.

Maggie, the mare, was just ambling off for parts unknown when Nancy got to the door, and with the aid of a carrot and a fair imitation of Roger's whistle, succeeded in luring her back.

The saddle was heavy, heavier than she had dreamed a saddle could be, but she managed to get it on Maggie's back, and to cinch it after a fashion. For several moments Maggie refused to have anything to do with the bit. Just when Nancy was about to give up she took it docilely, and with a groan of thanksgiving Nancy dashed back into the house and scrambled into her riding things.

Only a mile Mrs. McKimmons had said. It seemed like 10 to Nancy. The horse had a disconcerting habit of suddenly standing stockstill and staring into the brush as if she had glimpsed a grizzly or heard a rattler. When Nancy urged her on she gave a convulsive shudder and tried to turn her head to stare at her rider as if to say, "Very well, if you insist. But it is against my better judgment."

The trail was narrow and at some points, where it wound around boulders and over slippery shale, very steep. At places like this the pensive Maggie was moved to halt and stare into space as if contemplating suicide. Pride kept Nancy from tying her to a bush and continuing the rest of the way on foot, but it was a real relief when the McKimmons' cabin came into view and she saw her hostess waiting for her at the open door.

Helen McKimmons was a fresh looking girl with a shock of straight taffy colored hair and guileless gray eyes. She wore a faded bungalow apron and a pair of shapeless gray suede oxfords. Three linked safety pins dangled from her breast.

"You see I didn't dress up for you!" she called gayly as Nancy left the mare at the hitching post and toiled up the last steep bit of dusty trail. And then, abashed by the elegance of her caller's whipcord breeches and white silk shirt she added quickly, "but you look so nice I wish I had!"

A wail from the child in the house effectively drowned Nancy's reply, and with a "There, there, muvver's coming, precious!" the faded bungalow apron dived into the house, and Nancy, a bit self-consciously, followed.

There was none of Roger's rustic comfort here. Just makeshift, ugly furniture and the clutter of crowded living. The baby lay in his basket on top of the kitchen table. It was a pretty basket, point d'esprit shirred over pink silk. Helen McKimmons' chapped little hand caressed it while she talked. "I just hate to have him outgrowing his bassinet," she said. "I did have the darlingest layette for him, but of course after he came it wore out pretty quick. I don't believe there's much left to show you. Oh, yes, his little blue sack and booties. He's never worn them. People give you things like that and they never need them . . . now, where did I put them?"

She pushed her hair out of her eyes with a plump hand and darted back to the other room. Nancy leaned over and touched the baby's soft cheek. He stared at her with solemn, unblinking eyes. Gingerly she patted a curled pink foot escaping from the blanket and he opened his mouth and howled.

"There, lover, did he want his muvver?" little Mrs. McKimmons came rushing back. "He's the best baby, but it's almost feeding time. Just take that rocking chair, Mrs. Decatur. My, but it's nice to meet somebody and have a nice talk. I get so lonely. Jack has been gone for almost a week—"

"And you're all alone—at night?"

Mrs. McKimmons smiled tolerantly. "Oh, you get used to it. Though it is lonely. I talk to the baby for company. Before he came I used to talk to myself, honestly. You'd have thought I was crazy! But it's going to be wonderful, having you. I thought I wouldn't make company of you, but you look so swell—I just envy you!"

Nancy looked at the collar of her smart silk shirt. "I ride a lot," she said, recklessly.

"Well, I did too at first. It's about all there is to do up here. But with Junior coming of course I had to stop." Mrs. McKimmons' frank gaze ran up and down her visitor's trim figure. "You're just married, aren't you?"

Nancy felt her color rising and raged. The idea, letting a girl like Helen McKimmons embarrass her! But the afternoon that had been amusing was ruined. She felt at a disadvantage. She was the newcomer, the tenderfoot. A morbid inscription that she had once seen lettered over a grinning skull, "As I am, so you will be," popped into her head. That was what the McKimmons girl was thinking. Broken nails, baby's wash! She couldn't get away fast enough.

"Oh, I'll be back soon!" she promised, and childishly, to herself, "not!"

She had to stop and tighten the cinch three times on the ride home, and Maggie almost ran away with her when she saw the barn ahead.

Roger's battered roadster was out in front when she galloped up to the door. He ran out and lifted her from the saddle. "I heard you've been over calling on Helen McKimmons. Saddled old Maggie and everything, didn't you? Say, you're a regular!"

The tide of warmth and love that had welled in her heart at sight of him, receded, leaving her cold and tired. "How did you find out?"

"Oh, somebody at the store overheard you girls on the telephone. They know all your business here, you know."

"So it seems," she said cooly.

When he had gone to unsaddle the horse she went into the kitchen to start dinner. The wood stove was stubborn and would not burn. She jabbed at the kindling viciously, and got a slivver in her finger.

"Oh, by the way Nancy, I'll have to be leaving you for a couple of days soon," Roger said coming into the room and beginning to wash at the sink.

Dully she watched him splash soapy water into her pot of nicely peeled potatoes "And leave me alone?"

"Oh, come now, honey, you're a ranger's wife!"

"Take me with you," she whispered, creeping into his arms. He stroked her bright hair tenderly. "Don't make it hard for me, honey, you know I can't."

She said nothing more, and presently, with a light kiss for the top of her head he disengaged her clinging arms and sat down to read day before yesterday's paper. "Forest fires raging in northwest," he read . . . "hmm . . . hope we don't catch it here!"

Nancy did not answer. She was poking the cold ashes in the stove.

Old Doc Meddles

By GUY SWARINGEN

Daily Short Story

"'LO, Doc!" A tall, black-haired, black-eyed man stepped into Old Doc Blair's office and helped himself to a chair.

"Hello, Henry! Professional call, or just visiting?"

"Thought I'd drop in and meditate. I need to meditate."

"Meditate all you like. How's the sheriff business these days?"

"I'm meditating about that." The young and recently elected sheriff sighed. "I'm learning things about being sheriff."

"Lots to learn, I s'pose?" Doc eyed him shrewdly. Sheriff Henry Connor nodded. "Doc, you know Chris Morton?"

"Yes," said Old Doc quietly, "I know Christopher."

"Christopher's one of the richest men in this township, isn't he?"

"I wouldn't be surprised. Yes, he must be."

"He's behind with his taxes. His last year's taxes are mostly unpaid, and this year's taxes will soon be due."

"Careless of the county government! Use ways and means on him!"

"He contributed largely to our party's campaign fund—not that I can hold back on that account . . . Doc, the county gives a discount on taxes paid early in the fall, and this discount keeps growing less, until it isn't a discount but a penalty added on to all taxes that aren't paid up to a certain time. I find that Morton has been staving off paying till the very last moment, for years, and getting his discount, too!"

"Um!" A hard glint came into Old Doc's eyes.

"Former sheriffs and commissioners knew this, and didn't take any action. Doc, you're pretty close to the inside of things. Am I supposed to let this go on?"

"I'm no politician," grunted Doc. "I s'pose you're s'posed to use your best judgment. What do the high muck-a-mucks say?"

"Nothing. The election last fall practically halved the county offices, and scared the bosses in both parties. Then they have an idea I'm honest, and are shy of telling me what to do. Now using my best judgment: I guess it'll finish my political career if I tighten up on Christopher; so I may let that ride a while. Taxes wasn't what put me to thinking about him, anyway."

"Ah-ha! Something else rotten?"

"Well, Chris is guardian of Miss May Coltrane."

"Seems to me he's always getting jobs as guardian. Must pay him money!"

"Of course. Christopher's a genius at locating where the long green grows. . . . Then he and Miss May are engaged to get married."

"Huh!" Doc took his feet off the desk and sat up. "Engaged?"

"Engaged!" The sheriff's tone was bleak.

"We-ll—Chris isn't more than twice her age, and pretty husky. And well off, too. What you bet he won't make her a good husband?"

"I'm afraid he will." Conner's voice was so dreary that Doc started.

"Oh!" said Doc reflectively. "So that's it? Want her yourself, eh?"

"I haven't had a chance to get really acquainted with her."

"As if that made any difference! How does she feel about it?"

"Well, if she's engaged to Morton—" But Henry broke off. "Doc, why is it I can't get rid of the feeling that she's being driven into marrying him? No sense in feeling like that, is there?"

"Folks have such feelings. Any complaint, or other reason?"

"Nothing but a dumb sort of hunch—if that's what to call it."

"H'm! Sometimes these hunches—tell me some more, Henry."

"Why—I guess that's all," Henry Connor said morosely.

"Well, I'd like to sit here gabbing with you all day; but I got a call or two to make. So if you'll excuse me—"

Henry left, and Doc went out and got into his car. Seemed like things were always inviting him to horn into what was none of his business!

Doc drove along a couple of miles, and stopped out in the country at the home of Mrs. Dora Coltrane and her daughter, May. He alighted, and May came to the door when he knocked. She was in a gingham dress, and brown-eyed and brown-haired. Old Doc was refreshed by seeing the surprise on her pretty face.

"Hello, May! Where's your mother?"

"Why, she isn't here. Won't you come in?"

"Yes." He followed her inside, and she gave him an easy chair. "In fact, I dropped in to see you, anyway."

"To see me?" She was more surprised than ever.

"Yes." Doc wasn't a man to beat about the bush. "Wanted to congratulate you. Heard that you're engaged to Christopher Morton?"

"Yes." May nodded, not looking at him. Doc did not like that. May was usually frank, and full of fun.

"He's well off, and not so old," said Doc, still not liking her look. "He'll make you a good husband."

"I guess he will." No enthusiasm at all. "Mother and everybody seems to think so. In fact—" Her voice trailed off. Doc asked:

"Suits your mother and the neighbors, eh? Well, May—"

She broke out: "Doctor, I don't mind telling you I'm not anxious to marry Mr.—Christopher. But mother and I are about out of everything, financially. I want mother to be comfortable in her old age."

"Old age? She lacks a lot of being old. Not more than 40, is she? May," Old Doc shifted abruptly, "how you like Henry Connor?"

"He seems very nice—what little I know of him." But May blushed so that what she did not say told Doc more than what she did.

Doc rose. "I'd better go. Like to marry Henry, May?"

"I—" May was plainly and properly provoked; so he did not linger.

Sighing over the fact that these calls were not netting him a cent, Doc drove back to town. Presently he stopped before Christopher Morton's office building. Morton was in his office, and he looked around and nodded as Doc entered and sat down.

"Chris, I hear you're going to marry. You've waited long enough!"

"And May Coltrane is a splendid girl. She's worth waiting for."

"Yes, she's fine." But Morton's gravity struck Doc as odd.

"We-ll—" Old Doc drummed on the arm of his chair; and there was a slow hardening of the mouth hidden by his beard. He added abruptly: "Chris, you're all wrong! The girl doesn't love you! And so—"

"How do you know?" The other's look was queer. "How do you know?"

"I know! . . . Chris, I'm going to take this up. Can't have it. You and I have never locked horns yet; but with what I know about you—"

Old Doc broke off, staring foolishly. All his fine dramatics wasted. Morton, unmistakably pleased, was laughing.

"Doc, you're a fool—and bring the best news of the month! Man, I've learned it's her mother I care for, instead of May!"

Oysters That Grow On Trees

IT will be news to many that in one part of the British Empire oysters grow on trees. This, according to the annual report on the Island of Trinidad, is a phenomenon to be seen nowhere else in the world.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

A Tip to Husbands

EVERY man has his pet economy.

With some, it's a passion for wearing a revamped, old, last year's hat. Others get a real glow of virtue out of "giving up cigars" and smoking a pipe—sometimes for almost a whole week, after losing a few thousands on the stock market. And others have a maddening habit of going around the house, turning out the electric lights, after everybody.

* * *

But, there are just two "extravagances" that try every man's soul! TWO things, to which nearly every man, rich or poor, spendthrift or tightwad, generous or selfish, is a conscientious objector—two things which always rouse his fighting spirit! The laundry bills and the price of his wife's hats!

HELEN ROWLAND

He may cover her with sables and deck her with pearls! He may spend hundreds of dollars for gasoline or golfballs or dinner parties, and cheerfully pay an extortionate price for antique worm-eaten furniture.

* * *

But, as surely as Monday morning comes around, there is the same old storm an argument or gentle nagging about the LAUNDRY BILL! Try to dodge it!

"Gosh! Why do you let 'em sting you like that?" "Why don't you get a woman in by the day?" "How do we use all that linen?" "Why don't you buy a washing-machine?" Every wife knows how the old song runs.

* * *

Yet, I ASK you, what is there on this earth quite so soul-satisfying as plenty of clean, snowy linen? What is so appetizing as the sight of a fresh, satiny damask tablecloth and the opening of a fresh, smooth napkin?

* * *

What is so luxurious as a rack covered with shining clean towels?

What is so stimulating to the self-respect as the consciousness of clean, smooth, dainty lingerie? What is so surely next to Godliness, and, indeed, productive of Godliness, as delicious, perfect cleanliness?

* * *

And who is so insistent upon having it as a MAN? Who uses most of the bath-towels, stains up the hand towels, and howls for a fresh shirt and collar twice a day?

Oh well—YOU know how it is!

And, as for a woman's HAT! It is the keynote to her peace of mind, the sine qua non of her happiness—the barometer of her temper!

* * *

She may cheerfully wear gasolined gloves, have her old fur coat remodeled for the fourth season, and make her evening gown out of a couple of yards of chiffon.

* * *

But, a new, becoming, smart, snappy, artistic HAT, she must have! It is the halo, which frames her face, sets off her hair and crowns her whole costume. It buoys up her spirit, stimulates her vanity, sooths her soul, sweetens her disposition and braces up her courage.

A woman in a becoming hat is twice as agreeable, twice as cheerful and patient and attractive and interesting as a woman in a dowdy, last year's hat, which fills her with an inferiority complex.

* * *

Give her the inspiration of a dazzling new halo, and she can be a saint! Give her plenty of hats and carte blanche, at the laundry, and almost any woman can get along with any man! And it's cheap at the price!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Lack of Fluids Slow Up Bodily Functions

YESTERDAY I told you about the body poisons and their relation to health and length of life. Unless the kidneys, liver, intestines and skin do their work as they should, there is sure to be trouble.

DR. COPELAND

In order that these organs, called the "organs of elimination," may do their full duty, there must be taken into the system an abundance of water. It is absolutely essential to health.

You might as well hold a slice of bread and butter in your hand and expect it to satisfy your hunger, as to expect the blood to take undissolved food and have it feed and nourish your tissues. Until the food is pulverized and dissolved, until it is in fluid state, it is of no use.

The blood must have water. It must be replenished constantly. It just will have water anyhow and will steal it from the tissues of the body if it is not supplied in the proper way.

It is not alone the blood that must be supplied with water to encourage its normal activities. Besides the blood, there are organs whose functions depend upon it. The organs that eliminate the wastes and poisons, depend on an abundance of water.

Until the poisons of the body are thoroughly dissolved, the liver, kidneys and skin cannot operate. Solid substances cannot pass through them. Enough water must be taken to absorb and completely dissolve the materials they are to remove from the body.

Even the gross material which is eliminated by the intestines is made ready for removal by the fluids we take into the stomach. The hard, dry difficult stool is not likely to trouble that individual who is sensible enough to drink an abundance of water.

Many Americans are in Europe right now, patronizing the famous spas or springs over there. At Saratoga, Mount Clemens and other places in the United States there are even larger numbers of persons taking "the cure."

Under the direction of competent physicians the applicants for the cure are advised about walking, eating, sleeping and other things. When the travelers return home they brag about the "waters" and how much good they did.

That is all right. I do not doubt it. While the regulation of the manner of living had much to do with the improvement, it is true that the abundance of water, taken internally and externally, did even more to improve the health.

It is a pity the average person does not take more water. It is so necessary for the welfare of the body, that good health cannot be expected without it. A half dozen or more glasses daily are required by everybody. There can be no doubt that an abundance of water is essential to health and vigor. If you are a small drinker, take more water and see how much better you will feel.

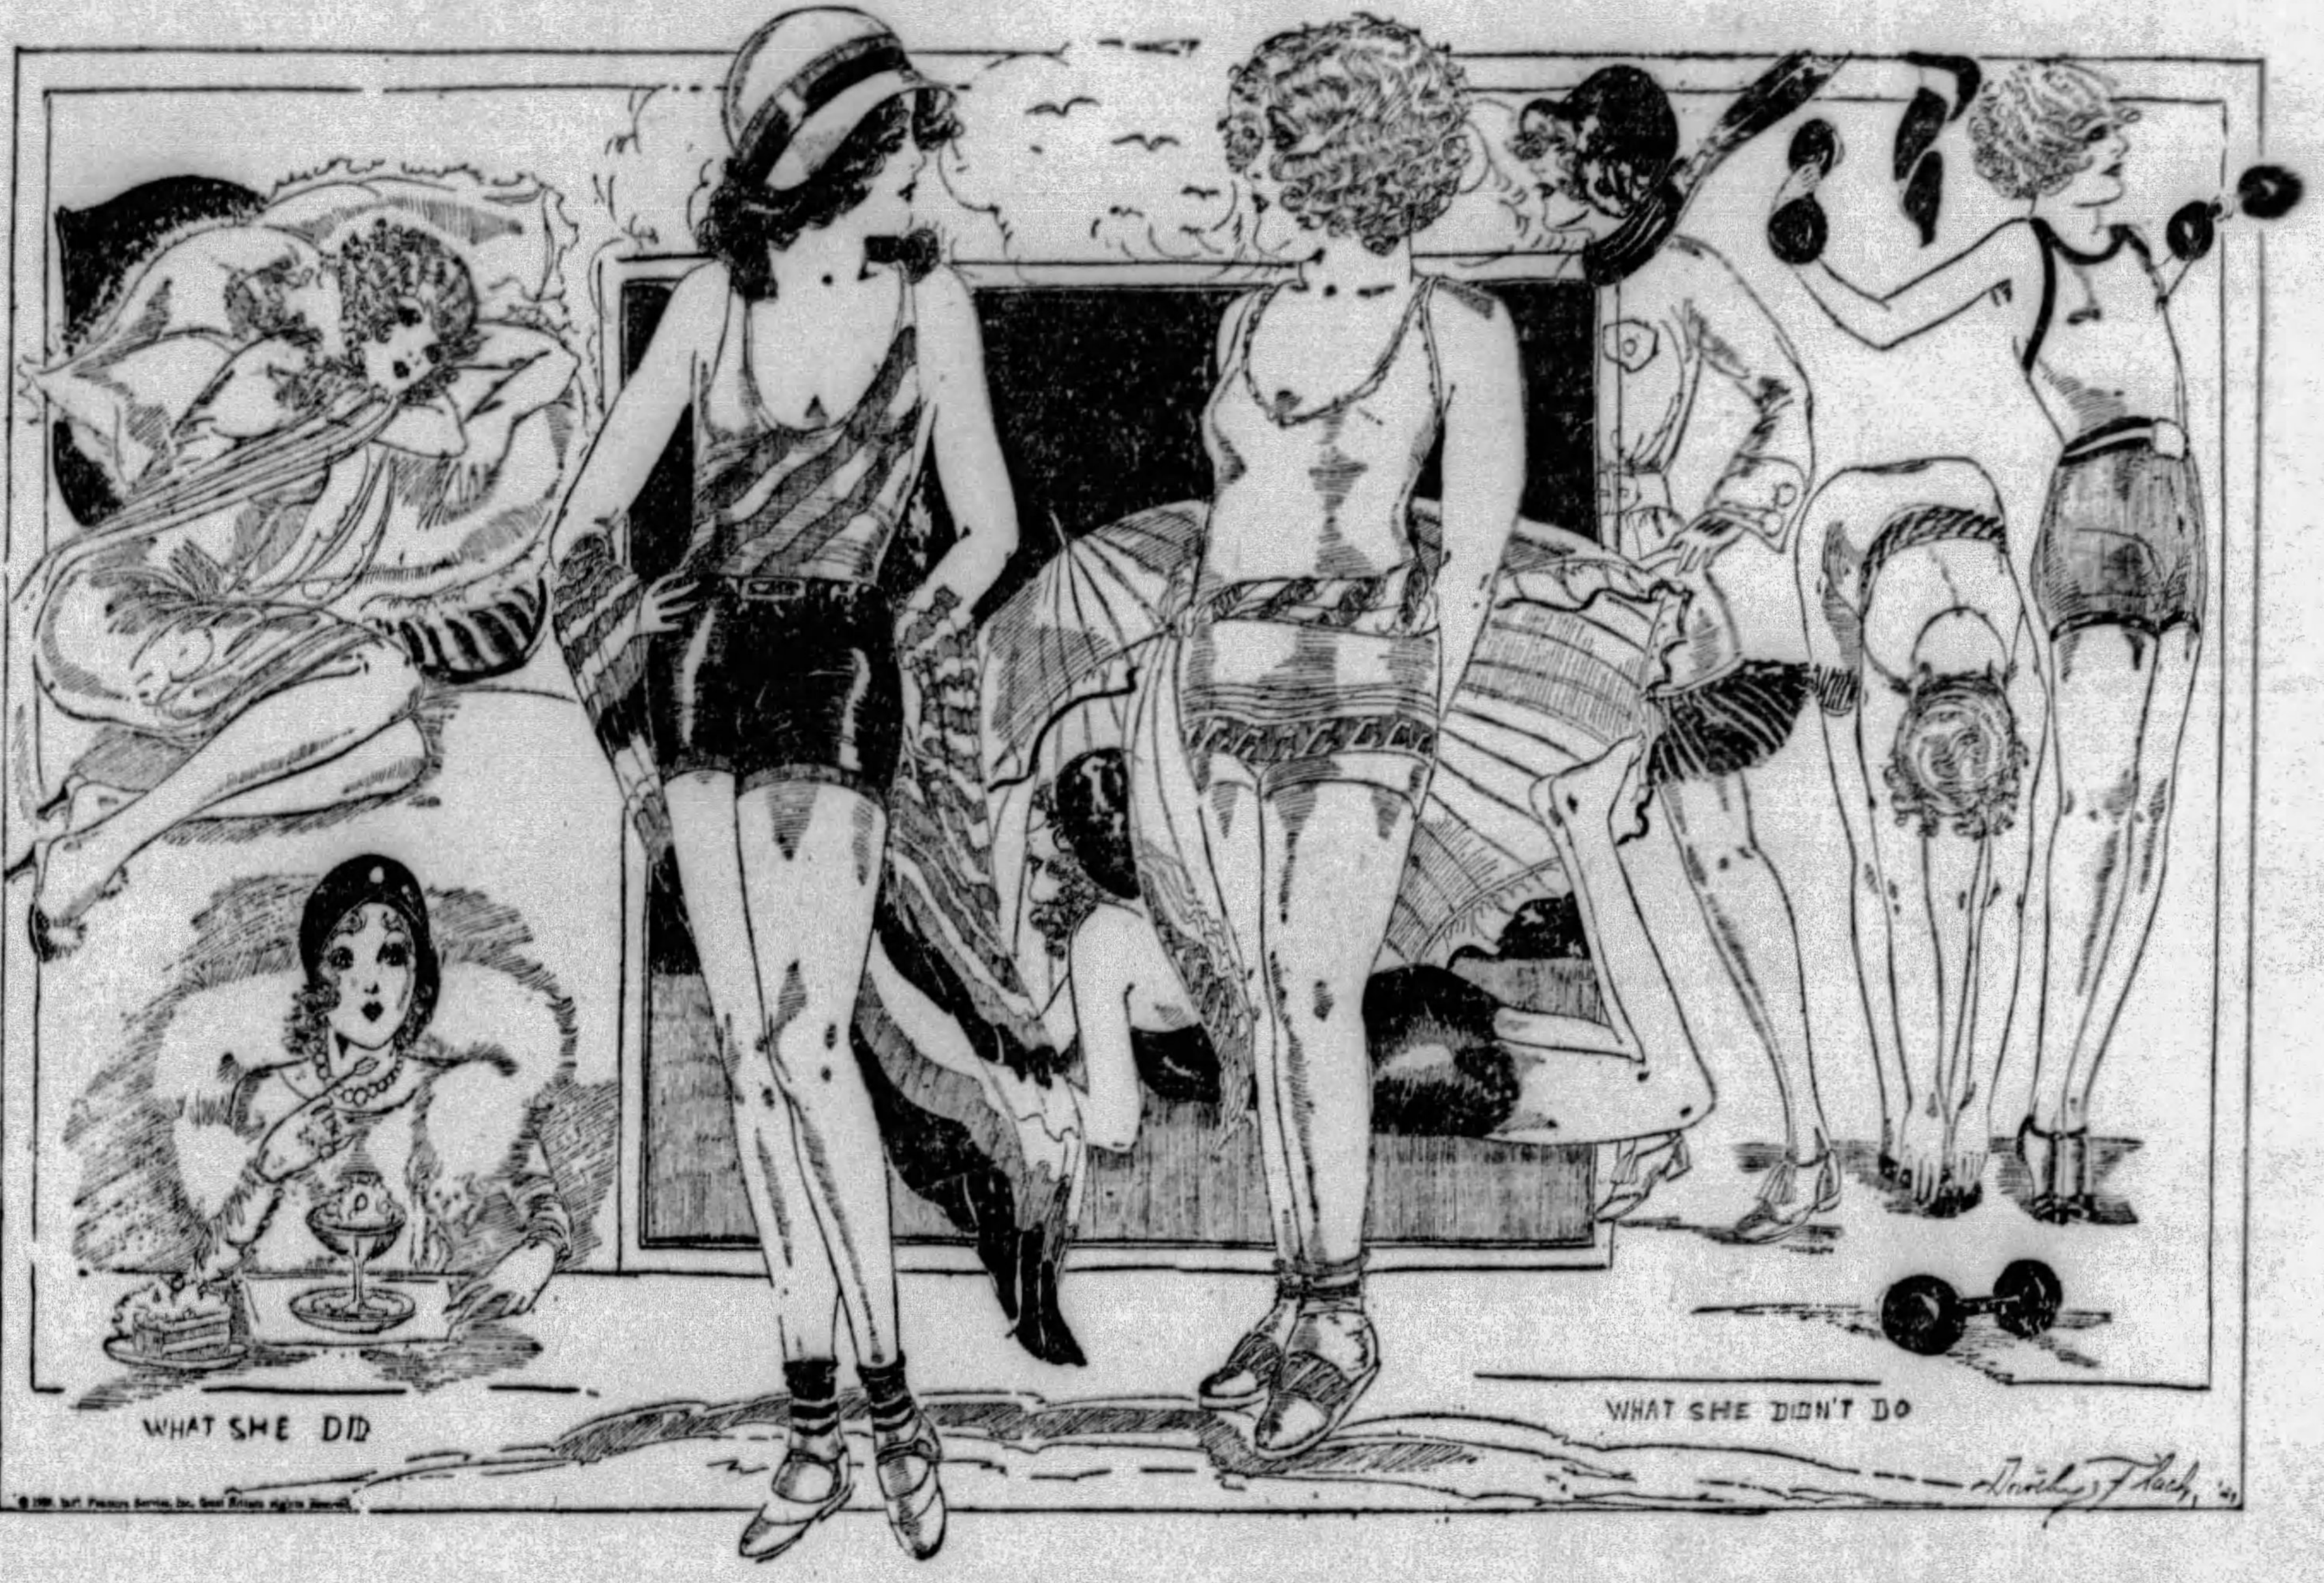
THE SEASON OF REGRETS

Drawn by Dorothy Flack



SUMMER'S the dearest of all seasons. To most of us it brings happiness of which we have dreamed all the whole year. To others it brings nothing but regrets. Especially when one is inclined to be the tiniest bit too plump to satisfy the dictates of fashion. At no other time does one experience the regrets for past misdeeds than one does when in a bathing suit, one views all the others looking just too fascinating for words.

Too late now to sigh over all the sundaes and whipped cream and luscious desserts and rich things that one loves and simply cannot do without. Just a bit of determination and we wouldn't now be regretting the ungainly figure that no bathing suit was ever designed to become.

For one satisfied her every longing for all the good things of life, and now regrets pile up thick and fast. The other denied herself a lot of things she simply adored, and now she's a figure that everyone turns to look at. A figure glowing with health and activity and the joy of life and living. The other? She's too tired and to plump to join in her more slender sister's sports, therefore, she's a sorry figure all alone.

Well, next season she, too, will do what she didn't do this time. And perhaps her figure will be the envy of all and attract that which she wants most of life—love and happiness. Here's hoping!

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Lillian Intervenes to Quiet Madge's Doubts.

"I DON'T know what the rest of you are planning, but that strikes me as a mighty good example for me to follow." Lillian pointed to the door through which Dicky had carried Junior a minute before. "Come on, Madge, you must be as tired as I am, after that terrific drive of ours. Let's lock our jools in the safe and retire to rest, carrying the dear old bedroom candle."

I caught the quick glance she sent her husband, guessed that it was a signal, when he queried impudently:

"The rest of us don't need to toddle along, do we, just because you're ready to hit the hay? No, I'm going to stay down here awhile and amuse the gals. How about it, Madame Graham? Wouldn't you like a rubber of whist?"

"If the rest of you don't mind," my mother-in-law said, with the apparent self-depreciation which always accompanies any acceptance of an invitation upon her part. But no member of her household ever has the temerity to take her at her word, and I knew that Katherine and Mary would accept Mr. Underwood's invitation with apparent eagerness, and thus leave Lillian and me undisturbed for the interview that I saw my friend wished with me.

She went straight to the point as soon as we were safely in her room with the door locked.

"Madge, you're all dripping about this stunt of Dicky's," she said scathingly as she laid her gift and Marion's on her dresser. "Here, let me take these pesky things before you throw them out of the window."

I handed them to her, and she gave a slow, soft whistle as she looked at them.

"As I live, jade color," she said. "I didn't get a good chance to lamp them before. Isn't that true masculine bone-headedness for you?"

I nodded miserably. I could not speak, and Lillian, turning, took an unconscionably long time to lay the baubles upon her dresser. By the time she turned back, I had conquered the sobs which were threatening my voice, but I still had no heart to answer her comment.

But she needed no words from me to tell her the especial touch of bitterness given me by Dickey's selection of jade color for the necklace and earrings which were my part of the bizarre wholesale presentation of gifts in which he had just indulged, and which, I was firmly convinced, were simply camouflage for the gift to Edith Fairfax that our inadvertent visit to the office had revealed.

For Lillian knew that my most precious possession was a necklace with real jade, a marvelous piece of Oriental artistry which Dickey had given me upon a very special anniversary of ours. That he should have chosen for my share of his fantastic distribution an imitation of those stones argued a forgetfulness or an obtuseness horrifying to any wife's imagination.

For a long minute she said nothing, but put her hand over mine and held it there. The tightness of her clasp strengthened me, and after a little I looked up at her with a poor attempt at a smile.

"I think I can be counted on now to behave like a human being," I told her.

"If you behaved like the ordinary human wife, you'd be in hysterics after having clawed Ede's eyes out and beaten up the Dickey-bird with a rolling pin," she commented grimly. "But you happen to have a veneer of breeding and poise over the primitive, and I don't mind telling you—though praise to the face—you know the rest of it—that you came through splendidly today and tonight. You have the Dickey-bird up in the air. He hasn't the slightest idea whether you believe him or not. Of course, he'd like to see you jealous, but he knows that a stunt like that in the studio, if it weren't explained satisfactorily, would give him a little more of the green-eyed commodity than would be healthful. Hence the camouflage."

"And still you say," I began wonderingly.

"That you're all dripping about this stunt," she repeated. "Of couse, you are. Remember, I've known the Dickey-bird longer than you have, and I also know the Fairfax type as well as if I'd jointed her and put her together. Furthermore, I know that art magazine game. So just relax that rigidity, old dear, and listen while I spill you what I believe is the real dirt on this."

Horoscopes

Sunday, July 14.

SUNDAY'S horoscope is replete with promises of many fortuitous experiences and pursuits. The mystical, studious and cultural proclivities may find ample expression and may even bring advantage, adventure or successful recognition or rewards.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a year of most propitious conditions, making for advantages and preferments in many directions of initiative and endeavor. All manner of literary effort, sturdy labor and new projects are encouraged and should bring worthwhile success. There may be trifling loss or frictions.

A child born on this day may be brilliant and versatile and should attain success in almost any line it should choose to apply itself.

Monday, July 15.

THE almost negligible influence of the planets on this day points to a state of affairs of wholly routine interest. It is a time for catching up loose ends and proceeding along lines of least resistance. There may be some delays or obstacles.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year depending entirely on their own initiative and industry, with little to thwart or encourage among the stellar forces. It may be a routine year, with small annoyances or setbacks.

A child born on this day may be a rather negative individual, with its character formed entirely by its education and environment.

You should have feared false times when you did feast.—Shakespeare.

Curtain Pins

Rusty curtain pins can be made to look like new by allowing them to stand in a cup of water to which a little ammonia has been added, and rubbing them well afterwards.

Stair Carpets

Stair carpets should always be three-quarters of a yard longer than is necessary to carpet the stair, so as to permit it being moved up and down at intervals.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

A Surprise Party

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am giving a surprise party for my husband, and I would like to have my sister come too. But I would like to ask you if it would be proper for me to invite her, for we don't have much to do with each other. We had a disagreement, and are rather "sore" at each other, but still I should like to have my sister and her husband come to the party. Please give me your advice. I worry about this invitation very much, and I don't know what to do about it. I read your column every day, and I think that you are just the person to help me. Will you? A.

BY all means invite your sister and her husband to your party. I am always so happy when a reader writes just such a letter as yours, one that indicates that she has sense enough and taste enough not to nurse a destructive thought about a family disagreement. Families will "be that way," you know, even, as the phrase goes, the best of them, and life is so short to hold on tenaciously to such wrong thinking. Let it go, as your instinct tells you to, and invite your sister and her husband to your party. She is probably just waiting for such a gesture from you, and you will make her very happy when you give her and her husband this invitation. I suggest that you write her a note, for this will be easier for all three of you. And may all the clouds lift on your husband's birthday!

Signing a Letter.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Will you please tell me which is the correct way for an unmarried woman to sign her name—with a Miss or without, and if the Miss is used, should it be in parentheses?

2. In setting the table, is it proper to place the teaspoons in front of the plate, or on the side next to the soup spoon—to the right? MRS. K.

THE title of "Miss" should not be used without parentheses in the informal signature of a letter, since the letter is in the first person, and not in the third, as the title with the name would suggest. (Just as "Mrs." is never used in the first signature, or at least never should be.)

If it is necessary to inform the reader of the title it may be and is enclosed in parentheses. Like this:

Very truly yours,
(Miss) Katherine Reader.

2. It is not good form—indeed, it is very poor form—to place the teaspoons above the plate. That was done in the days of bustles, and when vegetables were served in "side-dishes" by the plate! Now the teaspoon is placed on the right of the plate, and in the position in which it is to be used. That is, if, for instance, we first are to have a fruit cocktail and then soup, we place the teaspoon on the right farthest from the plate, on the right of the soup spoon.

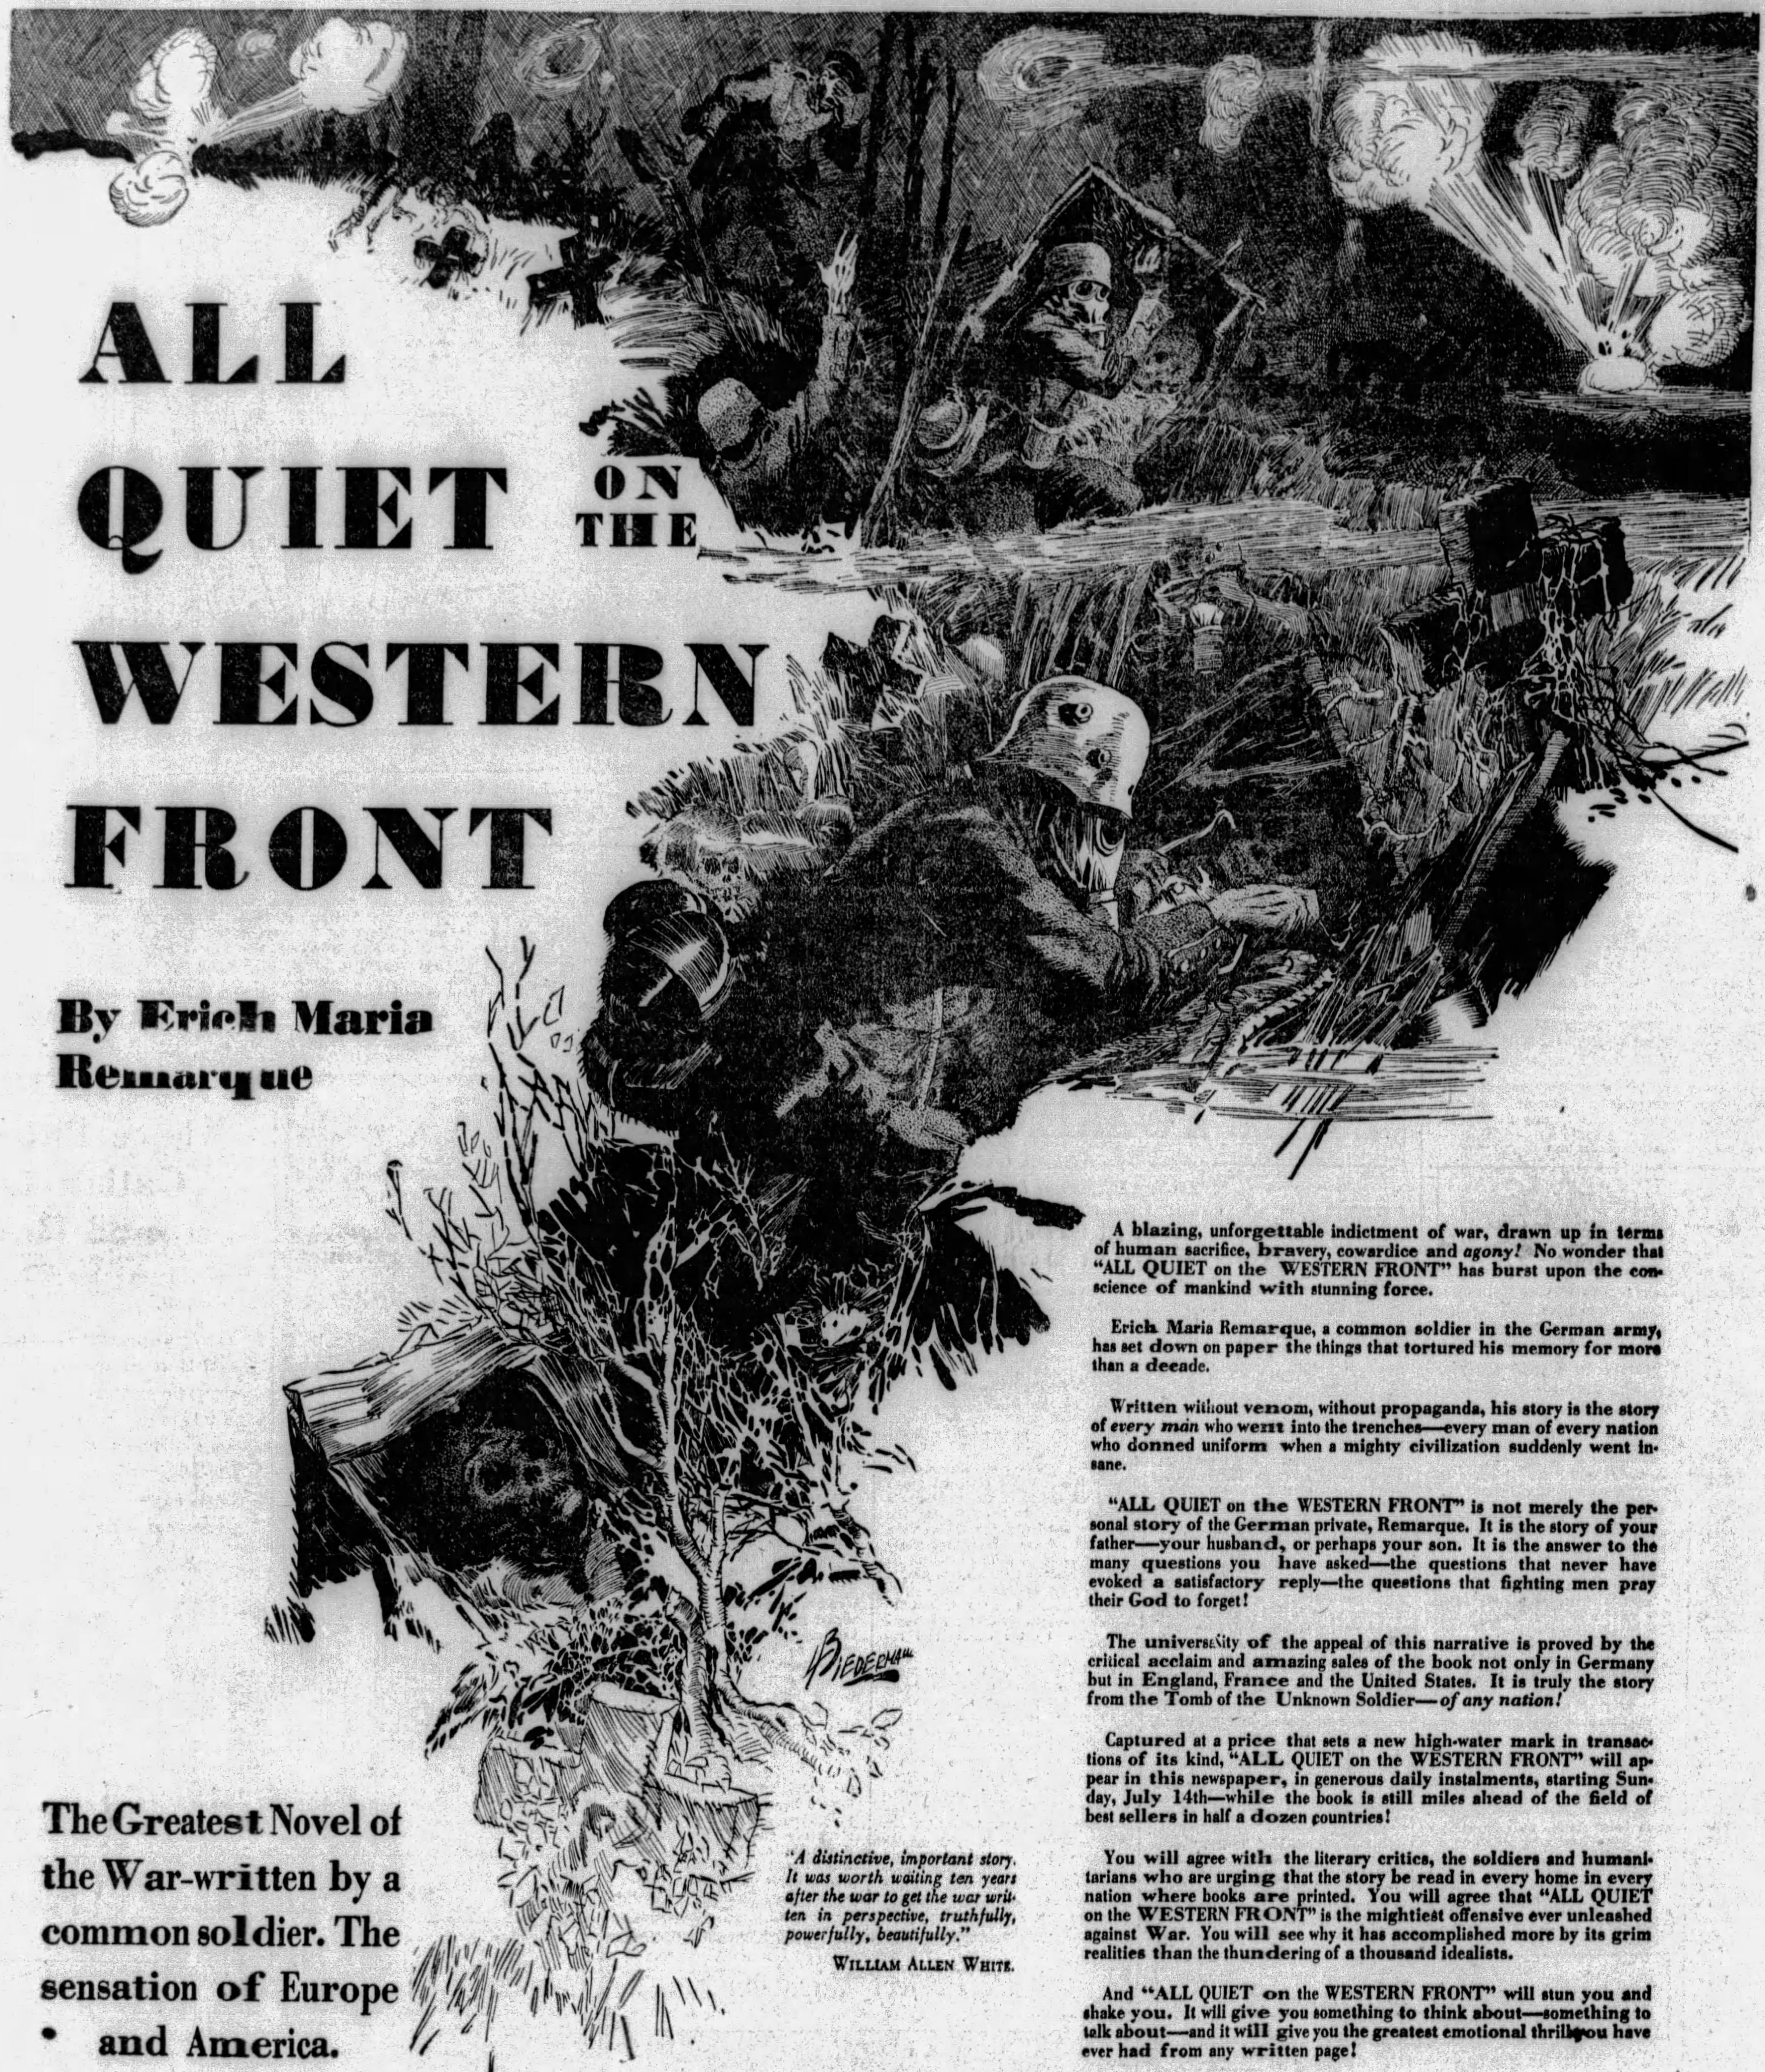
The Story Your Soldier Son Never Dared Tell You



ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT

By Erich Maria Remarque

The Greatest Novel of the War-written by a common soldier. The sensation of Europe and America.

"A distinctive, important story. It was worth waiting ten years after the war to get the war written in perspective, truthfully, powerfully, beautifully."

WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE.

A blazing, unforgettable indictment of war, drawn up in terms of human sacrifice, bravery, cowardice and agony! No wonder that "ALL QUIET on the WESTERN FRONT" has burst upon the conscience of mankind with stunning force.

Erich Maria Remarque, a common soldier in the German army, has set down on paper the things that tortured his memory for more than a decade.

Written without venom, without propaganda, his story is the story of every man who went into the trenches—every man of every nation who donned uniform when a mighty civilization suddenly went insane.

"ALL QUIET on the WESTERN FRONT" is not merely the personal story of the German private, Remarque. It is the story of your father—your husband, or perhaps your son. It is the answer to the many questions you have asked—the questions that never have evoked a satisfactory reply—the questions that fighting men pray their God to forget!

The universality of the appeal of this narrative is proved by the critical acclaim and amazing sales of the book not only in Germany but in England, France and the United States. It is truly the story from the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier—of any nation!

Captured at a price that sets a new high-water mark in transactions of its kind, "ALL QUIET on the WESTERN FRONT" will appear in this newspaper, in generous daily instalments, starting Sunday, July 14th—while the book is still miles ahead of the field of best sellers in half a dozen countries!

You will agree with the literary critics, the soldiers and humanitarians who are urging that the story be read in every home in every nation where books are printed. You will agree that "ALL QUIET on the WESTERN FRONT" is the mightiest offensive ever unleashed against War. You will see why it has accomplished more by its grim realities than the thundering of a thousand idealists.

And "ALL QUIET on the WESTERN FRONT" will stun you and shake you. It will give you something to think about—something to talk about—and it will give you the greatest emotional thrill you have ever had from any written page!

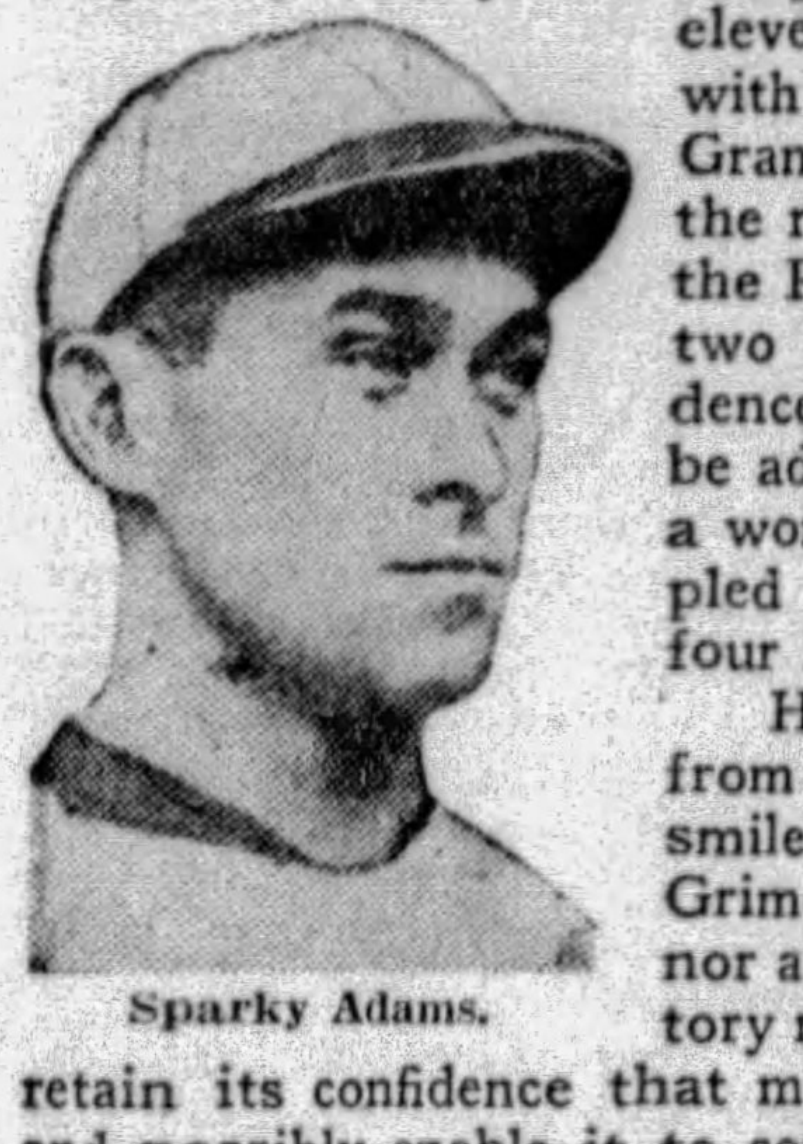
PIRATES, PHILS END SERIES

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Grimes Makes Up Loss. Wins for Crippled Club. Blow May Tell Later. • Killefer Loyal to Boss. More Screens Needed. International Games.

BUCS COMPLETE FIRST HALF TODAY

AS LONG as Grimes is Grimes the Pirates will be the Pirates, no matter who may be playing second or third base or any other position, judging from their success at Philadelphia yesterday in scoring their sixth straight win and their eleventh victory in their last 12 games with Capt. Pie Traynor and George Grantham out of the lineup. Of course, the result was a tribute to the spirit of the Pittsburgh team, too, as the loss of two such men would shake the confidence of many a club, and it must also be admitted that Sparky Adams proved a worthy substitute for one of the crippled regulars by coming through with four hits.



Sparky Adams.

However, there is no getting away from the fact that the Bucs got one smile from fortune in that it was Grimes' turn to pitch just when Traynor and Grantham were lost. That victory may enable the patched-up team to retain its confidence that might otherwise have been shaken, and possibly enable it to continue on the winning track temporarily.

But it will be a severe blow if the missing regulars are not soon back on duty. No club could lose the services of a player like either Traynor or Grantham, to say nothing of losing both, without being seriously weakened.

IN HURLING his fifteenth victory of the year, and thus keeping even in number of games won with Bob Grove, of the Athletics, who also copped another decision yesterday, Grimes gave the Bushmen a lift over their rivals in the pennant climb, as the Cubs lost again to the Giants and Pittsburgh's lead was lengthened to three full games.

The Pirates, still unbeaten on the Eastern trip, reached the half-century mark in wins with yesterday's victory. It was their fiftieth triumph of the season in 76 games played, meaning that they have already registered more than half of the number of victories that will be necessary to take the pennant, even though they will not complete the first half of their season until their seventy-seventh game has been played today. They have won more and lost fewer games than any other club in either league except the Athletics.

BASEBALL has had—and still has, according to reports from one major league town—coaches and players of the "undermining" type who seek stealthily to worm themselves into the jobs of the managers whom they are supposed to be assisting loyally.

But it also has men of the opposite character, who refuse to accept advancement when the opportunity offers because it might appear to the outside world that they had been aiming all along to supplant their superiors.

Bill Killefer.

BILL KILLEFER is one of the latter kind. The former Cub leader was coach of the Cardinals in 1926 and was tipped as the probable new leader for 1927 when Rogers Hornsby was deposed as manager, but rather than take Hornsby's place Bill accepted an offer to become a coach with the Browns. Now a similar situation has developed in the Brown camp. It is said Dan Howley is to be dropped as pilot at the end of the present season, and several reports have named Killefer as likely to succeed him. But once again the old catcher balks.

"HERE I am in a peculiar position again," he is quoted "I faced a like situation with the Cardinals after 1926, but told Sam Breadon I would not be interested in an offer to succeed Rogers Hornsby. Nor will I consider any offer to manage the Browns next year.

"I would not take Dan Howley's place. We have worked together harmoniously, and I trust that the present combination of Dan as manager and myself at his side will continue until we win an American League pennant for St. Louis."

IN LOSING the services of Traynor and Grantham at one stroke, the Pirates had an experience that shows how quickly a ball club may be wrecked or seriously crippled by a run of mishaps when things start to go wrong.

Andy High.

Just run your ey er what happened to the Seattle club of ie Pacific Coast League in one week: Catcher Bill Steinecke, broken thumb; Outelder Charley Wade, broken toe; Third Baseman Fred Muller, sprained ankle; Shortstop Chick Ellsworth, strained foot ligament; Pitcher Kyle Graham, kink in neck; First Baseman Harry Taylor, infected finger; Pitcher Andy House, ex-Pirate, sore arm; Catcher Frank Cox, sick in bed.

PRESIDENT PHIL BALL, of the Browns, made a laudable move toward cutting down the number of cheap home runs in St. Louis when he placed a screen in front of the homer zone in the right-field stand and it is hoped that the owners of the Giants Yankees and others will follow suit.

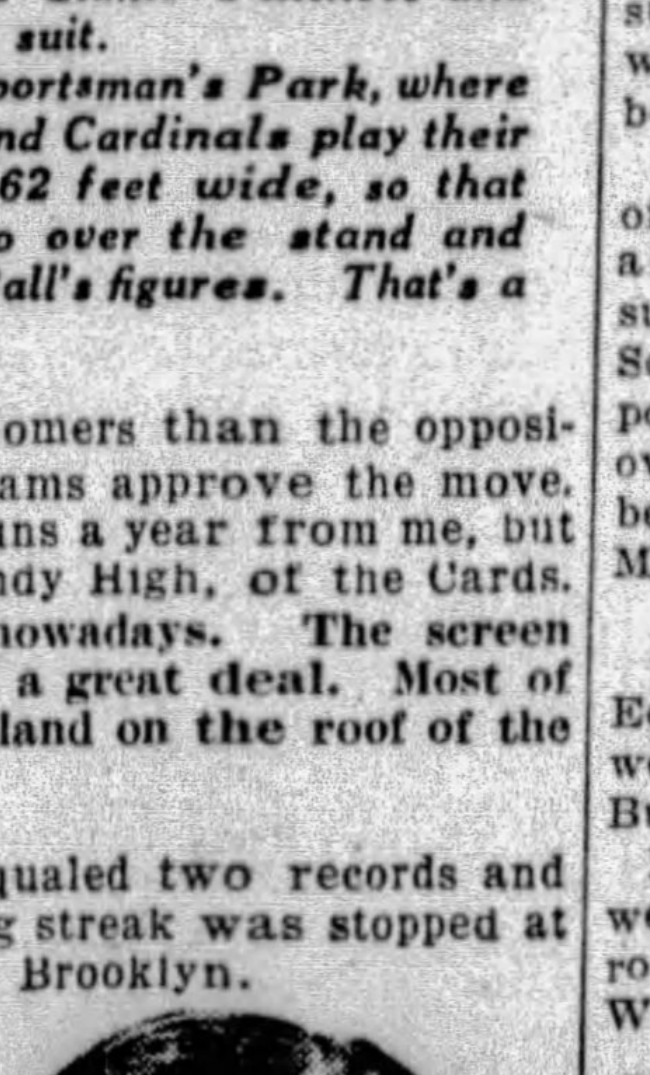
The screen at Sportsman's Park, where both the Browns and Cardinals play their home games, is 162 feet wide, so that a home run in that direction now must go over the stand and travel a distance of 360 feet, according to Ball's figures. That's a legitimate home run in any man's park.

THOUGH the screen will cost them more homers than the opposition, the players of the two St. Louis teams approve the move. "The netting may keep three or four home runs a year from me, but that will not make much difference," said Andy High, of the Cards.

"There are too many pop-fly homers nowadays. The screen won't hurt Jim Bottomley's home-run hitting a great deal. Most of his St. Louis homers result from drives that land on the roof of the pavilion, or clear it."

SPEAKING of home runs, Jim Bottomley equaled two records and hung up one new mark before his slugging streak was stopped at the beginning of the Cards' present series in Brooklyn.

In seven consecutive games, he hit eight homers, not failing to get a four-baser in any of the seven contests. He tied the record of six homers in four games, held by Ruth, Kelly and Ken Williams, equaled the total of seven in five games, held by Ruth and Kelly, and set a new record of his own with seven in eight straight games.



George Wilkinson.

WHEN George Wilkinson, star 100-yard man and his teammates from Cambridge and Oxford Universities, of England, meet in the track and field meets of Yale and Harvard in the Harvard Stadium today, 30 years of international competition will be rounded out. This is the ninth of a series of meets meets started in 1899, and the leadership is at stake on today's outcome, as each side has won the games four times.

EXCEPT in event of a tie, only first places are counted in these contests, unlike the American point scoring system. Seven first places are necessary to win.

Despite the acknowledged strength of the English team, though it has no Bevil Rudd nor Douglas Lowe this year, the balance and general class of the Yale and Harvard athletes make the chances look encouraging for an American victory.

CRACK FIELD SET FOR RICH TURF EVENT

CHICAGO, July 13.—(AP.)—Kings and queens of America's turf world will wage their final battle for the cherished 3-year-old championship of 1929 at Arlington Park today by matching strides in the richest stake event of the upset season, the American classic.

Every outstanding money winner and contender for the crown is entered in the mile and a quarter gallop, which will have a gross value of approximately $75,000 to the winner. More than 70,000 spectators are expected to jam the huge plant to watch the event.

So brilliant is the field that one guess is about as good as another as to which thoroughbred will emerge victorious. Seven stand out above the others, however, but their performances have been so inconsistent that the long shot players were expecting great returns.

The favorites are: Clyde Van Dusen, winner of the Kentucky Derby; Blue Larkspur, winner of both the Withers and Belmont stakes; Dr. Freeland, Preakness victor; Windy City, which beat a great field to win the American Derby; Grey Coat, conqueror of Blue Larkspur in the Dwyer stakes two weeks ago; Rose of Sharon, the big Camden filly, which has raced to fame and fortune this season, and Voltear, an erratic colt which is apt to beat them all.

Prospects of a wet track pushed Clyde Van Dusen slightly to the front as a favorite among the rail birds today. Although the course has enough sand in it to stand considerable water without getting mushy, indications were for a slow track. Such a condition would not be favorable to Blue Larkspur.

Twelve appear certain starters, while eight more are classed as doubtful.

Rose of Sharon has probably the largest following of any entry in the big field. So decisively has she vanquished rivals of her own sex that she was regarded as a real threat to her masculine opponents.

Chicago society will put a gala touch to the setting. Arlington Park, which was purchased last winter by a group of Chicago millionaires, is the largest and most fashionable racing plant in the metropolitan area. Vice President Charles Curtis, himself a former jockey, plans to occupy a box.

SCHMELING BAN TO BE IGNORED

CHICAGO, July 13.—(AP.)—The suspension of Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, by the New York Athletic Commission, will not prevent his appearing in an exhibition match at Chicago Stadium, July 23.

The Illinois Athletic Commission today decided not to recognize the suspension, as Schmeling's contract was signed before the New York body's action.

Les Marriner, former University of Illinois football player, will have a place in one of the six-round bouts supporting the appearance of Schmeling. Marriner, who recently pounded out a 10-round decision over Napoleon Jack Dorval, has been matched with Tony Fuente, Mexican heavyweight veteran.

COLUMBUS, O., July 12.—(AP.)—Eddie O'Dowd, Columbus featherweight, won a decision over Eddie Burl, of Erie, Pa., here last night.

SPEEDWAY MITT OPENER IS A LOSER

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

One of the toughest things to do is to properly estimate a crowd or try to figure out a "gate." Indications were that the new Bridgeville Speedway boxing arena had polled something like 3,000 persons and a far from losing box office statement for its opening show Thursday night, featured by the knockout of Cuddy DeMarco by Sergt. Sammy Baker in three rounds, but developments prove the calculations all wrong. The sale of tickets netted only $1,912, although they were scaled at $1, $1.50 and $2.50, and the venture was a losing one, since the main bouters alone were guaranteed more than $1,800. Baker drew down $1,000 and transportation for himself and manager from New York and DeMarco was in on a $750 "flat."

However, Max Cryns, the promoter, was far from dissatisfied with his first show, and is going through with his double windup card for next Thursday night, which will present Baby Joe Gans, the sensational Negro welterweight, of California, against Rudy Ceder, of Tarentum, and Benny Schwartz, clever bantamweight, of Baltimore, against Jackie Rodgers, who knocked out Dan Billick in one round, and Pancho Dencio in four within four nights this week. This card is going to cost Cryns a pretty penny, but he is confident it will draw in view of the fine impression made on the spectators at his opening show and the favorable comment elicited by the announcement of his new program.

DAVIES TO BOX GOLD

A change has been made in the windup at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, next Monday night. The Henry Firpo-Chief Jack Elkhart bout is out and in its place Willie Davies, of Charleroi, and Marty Gold, of Philadelphia, flyweight rivals who have met several times, will feature the bill.

If an impressive record means anything, Johnny Farr, of Cleveland, who meets Andy Martin, of Boston, in the 10-round main bout in the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, next Monday night, has one.

Fight Results

At Erie—Joey Goodman defeated California Joe Gans, 10 rounds; Frankie Rio defeated Ray Collins, 6 rounds; Tommy Heilman defeated Louis Severo, 6 rounds; Oke Okeson defeated Walter Sorrell, 4 rounds; Joey Donata defeated Jackie Logan, 4 rounds.

At New York—Dave Shade defeated Leo Mitchell, 10 rounds; Ruby Goldstein knocked out Billy Drako, 3 rounds; Midget Wolgast knocked out Routier Parra, 7 rounds.

Baltimore May Stage Marine, Navy Game

BALTIMORE, July 13.—(AP.)—A post-season football game in Baltimore between the Marine Corps of Quantico and an outstanding eleven in the East, preferrably the Naval Academy, is the aim of Mayor Broening, it became known yesterday. The Mayor said that he would start negotiations next week for the contest.

In making public his plan the Mayor said that he had discussed the matter informally with Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler

PREXY ACQUITS, WARNS HACK

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP.)—John A. Heydler, president of the National League, yesterday in effect acquitted Hack Wilson, rotund outfileder of the Chicago Cubs, of an alleged "unjustifiable and brutal assault" on Pete Donohue, veteran right-handed pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds.

Wilson knocked Donohue down in the Union Station, Chicago, the night of July 4 after an argument. A formal protest from the Cincinnati club led Presdinet Heydler to institute an investigation as to whether the attack was begun before Donohue was in a position to defend himself. The league executive decided that the evidence did not support such a charge.

STARTED IN PARK

The whole affair had begun earlier in the day at the Cubs' park. Wilson, taunted by Ray Kolp, another Cincinnati pitcher who was sitting on the bench, had made a rush for the Reds' dugout but was stopped before he reached Kolp. For that outbreak he was suspended for three days and fined $100. That night as the two teams were about to take a train East, Wilson tried to get into the Cincinnati car to make Kolp apologize or fight. The encounter with Donohue followed.

In announcing his decision, President Heydler, dismissing the charges against Wilson, made it plain that he considered Wilson the aggressor and censured him for initiating "a fight in a public gathering place" and warned him of the "serious consequences which must ensue unless he learns to better control himself."

HEYDLER'S STATEMENT

"Wilson and Donohue had words between them which led to insults passed on both sides. Wilson rushed at Donohue and struck him in the face, but players promptly separated the combatants. The testimony of the Cincinnati players further was to the effect that Donohue was not expecting the assault.

"The testimony of the Chicago players agreed with that of the Cincinnati witnesses mainly in all details of the words passed and the joking attitude of all concerned until the flare-up and Wilson's rush; but their main point of difference was that the Chicago players were agreed that Donohue was standing erect and facing Wilson when he made his at-

BUTLER CHAMPS IN

BUTLER, Pa., July 13.—The West End team won the right to represent Butler County in the American Legion Junior Baseball League championships of the Twenty-sixth District when they defeated the Armco Juniors in a championship battle yesterday, 6 to 5, in a close game.

GRIMES' 15TH BUCS' 50TH

By Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—Burleigh Grimes' fifteenth marked the fiftieth victory of the year for the Buccos.

The Wisconsin Wildcat blanked the Quakers through seven rounds and Philly scribes were all fussed up over the possibility of a shutout in the Baker bowl, which indeed, is a rare happening.

Grimes appeared to be saving himself even as he pitched runless ball through the hot rounds. When the sailing was smooth he seemed to be holding a lot of his stuff in reserve which probably accounts for the number of hits made after two were out.

A little study of the score sheet shows that the veteran disposed of the first hitter in each of the first seven innings. Frank O'Doul broke this continuity when he opened the eighth with a double, and eventually scored the only earned run credited the Quakers.

CLARKE SHOWS STUFF

Stewie Clarke, Wichita rookie, lived up to the fine things the Buccos have been saying regarding this youngster as he played his first major league contest. The smart young fellow was as smooth as velvet around the hot corner, and he can play the short field just as cleverly, according to those who have seen him in the more difficult role.

It seemed strange for Traynor and Grantham to be missing from the PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—"Just what the doctor ordered," is the way the Pirates put it today, concerning the first-place booters. The fact that the Pirates are three full games ahead of the Cubs in the race for the flag can be largely attrbuted to two little infielders who have been sliding around on the Pittsburgh bench for a month or more, awaiting a chance to prove their worth.

When Capt. Pie Traynor and George Grantham were suddenly lost to the Pirate cause yesterday, Manager Bush put it up to Sparky Adams and Stewie Clark, two extra infielders, to uphold the Pittsburgh banner. Pie and Boots, two of the punch men of the club, are hard to replace, but the utility players jumped into the breach and at the finish of Burleigh Grimes' fifteenth victory of the season their deeds stood out in radiant hue. The score was 6 to 4.

ADAMS AT SECOND

Adams, the veteran, moved to his old keystone spot to understudy for Grantham, while the role of the ailing Pirate captain was tackled and handled by Clark, the Wichita rookie.

Sparky, in the lead off position of the revised batting order led the attack of the Bushwhackers with four hits and he did not falter in any way until the ninth, when he failed to field Thevenow's bounder. Clark made plays around the hot corner like a star of the first water and he came through on the offensive with a double and a sacrifice.

The last game of the series is on the cards for this afternoon. Remy Kremer and Claude Willoughby probably will fight it out on the mound.

GRIMES HURLS WELL

Grimes pitched a remarkable game in the Baker Bwl as he rang up his fifteenth success. Adams' fumble in the ninth opened the way to a dangerous jam; the five-run lead enjoyed by the Burleigh as he rode into the final round could easily have been dissipated in view of the home run peril that is ever before a sharpshooter here. The Quakers actually put the tying run on the sacks before Adams grabbed Whitney's liner to end the contest.

A ball game in the Baker Bowl without a homer being struck is a very strange proceeding, so the fans doubtless had a queer feeling as they filed out of the park. The local writers were all worked up over the eventuality, which is quite a tipoff on the bromidic quality of the four-sackers here.

STARS ON BENCH

Both clubs went into the clash with seige guns out of action. Chuck Klein pulled a ligament in his side in swinging at a pitch during the previous afternoon and was rested in the third game.

Grimes was paired off against Lefty Sweetland, who was on his way to the showers before one of the 27 required Buccos had bitten the dust. The first four Freebooters to go to the plate nicked Lefty for four hits and Ace Elliott rushed to the scene. This tall right-hander was a worthy foeman through seven

SECOND JUNIOR TOURNEY WINS ACCLAIM

PLAYOFF DATE TO BE NAMED TOMORROW

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

The general reaction to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's second annual Western Pennsylvania junior amateur golf tournament, staged Thursday over the Schenley Park municipal links, and won by Joe Stevenson, 14, of Wegley, Pa., a caddie at the Greensburg Country Club, appears to be most favorable.

Comment in local golfing circles yesterday was almost unanimous in that the tournament was a complete success—bigger and better than the first annual play for the William Randolph Hearst Trophy.

PLAN FOR PLAYOFF

The Golf Tournament Editor is now laying plans for the playoff for second, third and fourth places. Four boys tied for the three places—Elmer Davis of Pittsburgh, Christopher Paterini of Monongahela, John Zamiska, Jr., of Bentleyville, and Carl Scajbarretti, who plays at Schenley Park—each returning a card showing 70.

The playoff will be held either Monday or Tuesday, over the Schenley Park layout, and will be at 18 holes medal play—but which of these two days it is to be will be announced definitely in tomorrow's Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Plans are also being laid for the banquet, at which the presentation of the William Randolph Hearst Trophy and the other beautiful awards will be made. At least a week will elapse before this affair is held. All officials at the tournament have been invited to be present as well as the winning contestants.

VICTOR MODEST

Yesterday was just another day for the tournament winner, although he admitted he was pretty well excited over the whole matter, the surprise of being informed of his victory at a late hour still seething through his system. He went to work at Greensburg just the same as usual, although he quit the job earlier, so he could make the rounds among his friends and "tell 'em all about it."

Joe assists in the work of keeping the greens, as well as caddying and Perry Delvichio, pro-greenkeeper at Greensburg, who is the Western Pennsylvania open champion is mighty proud of him, to say nothing of Wayne Tobias, the caddie-master, and the members at Greensburg.

The boys who won the team championship plaque at the Castle Shannon Golf Club were received with wild acclaim yesterday as they appeared on the scene of action. The Castle Shannon members are tickled pink, as they say on the well-known street.

GRIMES GETS 15TH WIN

Pittsburgh lineup. The two veterans have been playing major parts and to have them both drop out at the same time was a disappointment to Pilot Donie, yet the two understudies, Clarke and Adams, measured up cleverly. Adams had a little tough break as he fumbled Thevenow's grounder in the last round.

George Grantham spent more than an hour yesterday taking treatment from a local specialist to get relief from his stoved shoulder. Grantham stole second on the previous afternoon and in hitting the dirt he fell on his right wrist so hard that his shoulder was affected. The member became worse after the contest and yesterday morning he consulted a specialist.

The treatment, however, failed to get George ready and he will be out at least this afternoon and perhaps one or two more days.

PIE ON SHELF

Capt. Pie Traynor is supposed to spend the next four or five days in bed here, but the attending physician may have a tough job holding the ambitious Pirate captain in the hay. Harold Joseph was quite cheerful last night as he talked long with his roomie, Remy Kremer, and another staunch side-kick, Burleigh Grimes.

Traynor is ordered to stay out of the Boston series, the idea being to get him ready for the crucial games with the Giants, which begin on the Polo Grounds next Thursday.

The Pirates today were still discussing Lloyd Waner's throw to the plate in the second round which cut down Fresco Thompson, one of the best base-runners on the Shotton team. Two were out when little Lloyd picked up Elliott's grounder in center and let fly with a strike to nail the surprised captain of the home club.

The Pirate centerfielder took a chance of playing in close with a pitcher swinging. As soon as the ball hopped over second he was on it with all the speed and sureness of a cat. He realized that Thompson would try to register, and he lost no time whatever in throwing to Hargreaves.

BUCCOS, PHILS CLOSE SERIES

innings of the fight. Ray Benge finished.

The three-run rush at the outset of the game gave Grimes considerable leverage and he went to work on the fence busters in an impressive manner. After being held runless for five succeeding periods, the Pirates broke out in the seventh for three more tilies and Grimes was in a fine spot.

O'Doul's double in the eighth, one of Frank's four bits, led to the Quakers' first tally. Then Thevenow rested on first on Adams' fumble at the start of the ninth and Lerian singled. Burleigh stopped the next two Quakers, but O'Doul, Miller and Hurst all hit singles to stir up the crowd. Two runs went over and then Whitney rammed the ball to Sparky.

STAR O. K.

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—Gordon Cochrane, star catcher of the A's, will rejoin his team in Cleveland tomorrow, it was announced here last night.

HERMAN, FOXX LEAD MAJOR BATTERS

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP.)—Babe Herman is making the running this week in the race for the National League batting championship, but with the stretch only a few weeks off, others and more easily recognizable faces are peering at the leader from not far in the rear. The Brooklyn slugger has a mark of .393 for 70 games, with Frank O'Doul, of Philadelphia, in second place on a mark of .379.

PIRATES AT TOP

The averages were issued today, including games of last Wednesday. Other leading regulars are Terry, New York, .369; Comorosky, Pittsburgh, .364; Klein, Philadelphia, .360; Traynor, Pittsburgh, and Hornsby, Chicago, .538, and Frisch and Hafey, St. Louis, .355.

Unable to find a place among the topmost batters, young Melvin Ott, of New York, nevertheless leads in three highly valuable endeavors—in runs scored with 80; in runs batted in with 88, and in home runs with 24. The youthful Giant has been unable, however, to lift his mark above .327.

While advancing, through the melancholy at the fag end of a pennant-wrecking Cardinal slump, to a personal triumph in home run hitting, Jim Bottomley, of St. Louis, tied a record of no less a person than Babe Ruth. In five successive games against the Phillies, from July 5 through July 9, the Cardinal first baseman punched seven home runs over the handy right field wall at Baker Bowl. The Babe hit seven in five games at the Polo Grounds in 1921. Had he been playing at Baker Bowl, he might have hit seventeen.

Bottomley's spree sent him into a tie with his teammate, Chick Hafey, and Chuck Klein, of Philadelphia, for second place in the National League home run derby. Each has 22. Hafey also leads in doubles with 26.

Bill Terry shows the way in total hits with 121, while Lloyd Waner, of Pittsburgh, is out front with 12 triples. Kiki Cuyler, of Chicago, leads in steals with 26.

The portly and familiar figure of Burleigh Grimes overshadows the rest of the pitchers, but Guy Bush, of Chicago, is making a brave effort to match the Pittsburgh spitballer, stride for stride. Grimes has won 14 and lost one for a percentage of .933, and has pitched 156 innings and 14 complete games. Lucas, of Cincinnati, also has started and finished 14 engagements. Bush has won eleven and lost one for .917 in 24 games, nine complete.

Three clubs are above .300 in batting, with the Phillies back in the lead at .311. The Pirates are next with .308 and the Giants third with .307. The Giants lead in fielding with .974, one point more than the Cubs possess.

FOXX HOLDS LEAD

Jimmy Foxx, of Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, still led American League batsmen after 12 weeks of the championship campaign, but by a margin of only one point over Heinie Manush, of St. Louis. Unofficial averages including Wednesday's games reveal that Foxx had a mark of .396, a loss of 14 points.

Foxx experienced his worst week in nearly two months, and of all the pitchers in the league, it was against Lena Blackburne's Chicago White Sox hurlers, that the Athletics' first baseman faded. Foxx invaded Chicago with a mark of .416 and left 15 points shy of that figure. Manush added eight points to his average to go into second place with .395. Others in the first ten were: Fothergill, Detroit, .385; Lazzeri, New York, .366; Cochrane, Philadelphia, .365; Miller, Philadelphia, .361; Simmons, Philadelphia, .360; Heilmann, Detroit, .359; Falk, Cleveland, .357; Fonseca, Cleveland, .356.

The experience in Chicago where they dropped three out of four games helped to prune three points from the Philadelphia team average. The league leaders still led, however, with .309, one point better than Detroit. The Tigers passed the Athletics in runs scored, having crossed hostile plates 504 times this season. The A's had held opponents to a total of 305 runs.

The leadership in team fielding was a joint affair with Philadelphia, New York and St. Louis tied with averages of .975. Cleveland accomplished six double plays during the week, bringing its total to 91.

GROVE BACK IN STRIDE

Bob Grove, Philadelphia ace, stepped out and got back the two defeats charged against him a week ago, and topped the regular hurlers with 14 victories and two defeats. George Blaeholder of St. Louis won one game and brought his mark to 10 triumphs and three defeats, while Rube Walberg of Philadelphia lost one for a mark of 12 wins and four losses. In the 20 games in which he had worked, Grove had a strike out collection of 105.

Other leaders: Runs batted in—Simmons, Philadelphia, 85. Hits—Manush, St. Louis, 126. Home runs—Gehrig, New York, 22. Triples—Miller, Philadelphia, 11. Doubles—Gehringer, Detroit, 30. Stolen bases—Gehringer, Detroit, and Cissell, Chicago, 13. Triple plays—New York and Chicago, one each. Team home runs—New York, 72.

RODGERS WINS W. VA. GOLF CROWN

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 13.—(AP).—Ira Rodgers, of Morgantown, football coach of West Virginia University, became the amateur golf champion of West Virginia yesterday when he defeated George Hewitt, Wheeling, 5 and 4, in the final round of the annual championship list.

The match was decided on the thirty-second green, where Rodgers sank a short putt for par 4 after Hewitt had missed a par by inches.

Rodgers played beautiful golf on the second 18 holes this afternoon and was within one hole of the title before Hewitt won a hole. Rodgers played the first round in 36, one over par, and was only two over par for the 14 holes of the second round, taking 5 on the par 4 thirteenth, after putting his drive into the creek.

Hewitt was 6 down and 7 to go when he won his first hole with a birdie 4 on the twelfth, and took the next hole when Rodgers drove out of bounds. These were the only second-round holes won by Hewitt, who was state champion in 1916. The football mentor won six of the 14 holes and the other six were halved.

Joey Goodman Wins Over Gans in Erie

ERIE, Pa., July 13.—Shooting home a terrific right cross to the jaw and left hook to the body in the first round, Joey Goodman, Cleveland, had California Joe Gans, of Pittsburgh, on the verge of a knockout in the first round of their 10-round main event here last night. After that, Gans fought so cautiously that he was warned several times by Referee Cole under threat of having the bout stopped and his money held up.

Frankie Rio, Cleveland, outpointed Ray Collins, Erie, in a close six-round semi-final. Collins was down for a count of nine in the fifth round.

Tommy Hellman, Pittsburgh, outpointed Louis Severo, Meadville, in another six-rounder. Oke Okesson, Jamestown, defeated Walter Sorrell, Ashtabula, in four rounds, and Joey Donato, Ashtabula, won from Jackie Logan, Jamestown, N. Y., in the four-round curtain raiser.

Irwin Shot Wins Konne-Yaut Event

CONNEAUT LAKE, July 13.—Breaking 146 out of a possible 150 targets, J. E. Wampler, Irwin gunner, won the first prize in the Konne-Yaut Indian trapshooting event here yesterday. Bob Lamberton, Franklin, and George Santora, Youngstown, tied with the Irwin gunner during the regular shoot, but each dropped a target in the shoot-off, Wampler breaking a straight string.

The Class B honors went to J. F. Calhoun, who broke 96 out of 100. C. C. Smith, of the Beaver Gun Club, won the doubles title with 48 out of 50.

Miss Quier Victor In Griswold Tourney

GROTON, Conn., July 13.—(AP.)—Miss Edith Quier, Reading, Penn., soared to golfing heights yesterday by a sweeping victory over Miss Maureen Orcutt, metropolitan and eastern champion, 4 and 2, in the final match for the Griswold Cup over Shenecossette course.

The victory was a surprise, Miss Orcutt having been a topheavy favorite. She had scored a decisive victory in her semi-final match over Helen Hicks, the New York girl star, and won the medal in the qualifying round Monday.

BERG BEATS PERLICK

CHICAGO, July 13.—(AP.)—Jack Berg, British lightweight champion, piled up a decisive margin to gain a 10 round decision over Herman Perlick, one of the Kalamazoo, Mich., twins, at Mills stadium last night.

ENTERS TOURNEY

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP.)—The first entry received for the National Women's tennis championships at Forest Hills, beginning August 19, is from Miss Mary Greef of Kansas City, Mo., third ranking player in the Missouri Valley District.

NEVER TOO OLD

C. L. CARTER JIM TAYLOR

Last January, Carter took his first lesson in swimming from Jim Taylor, coach at the Keystone Athletic Club, and recently he swam three miles in the club's pool and he can float by the hour. His record is the marvel of the club members. Carter missed the thrill of the old "swimmin' hole" in his kid days and always wanted to be a "human fish" and now, well along in years, he's realized one of his life ambitions.

IRA ONE UP ON BROTHER COACHES

By JESS CARVER

If he never wins another football or baseball game while he remains at West Virginia, portly Ira Rodgers will still be one up on the rest of his coaching brethern in these parts.

The doughty Ira, who gave up cracking lines to pasting the little white ball, yesterday won the West Virginia state open golf championship, and by doing so, became the first college mentor to ever finish even close to the top in a major golf tourney.

So the next time one of West Virginia's football teams takes it on the chin, Ira can shrug his shoulders, and in a slightly superior tone, remark:

"Well, when I won the state open——"

JOCK TO COACH

Jock Rosenberg, the hefty chap who captained Duquesne University's varsity basketball team last season and who starred in the Duke regalia for three other campaigns, has been appointed head sport coach at Rankin High School, and will assume his new duties in the fall.

Jock holds the distinction of being the only man in Duquesne's history who ever had to enter the door of the gym sideways.

Time was when sweating pitchers,
Could toss one in, nor dread
The batter'd slam it back so fast
It'd smack him in the head.

The way Comorosky is confounding the boys who had him pegged as a dud, bust, rummy and so forth, is positively refreshing. But the time is still a long way off when you'll hear them say—"Well, I remember Cobb, Ruth and Comorosky."

—TERRIBLE.

BEWARE BOXERS

NOW THAT A GOLF WRITER HAS ADVANCED TO THE SEMI-FINALS OF A REAL, HONEST-TO-GOODNESS GOLF TOURNAMENT, WE MAY EXPECT TO SEE BOXING SCRIBES CHALLENGING DEMPSEY.

The Pirates are enjoying their trip through the East. Comment from the said territory consists of a flock of asterisks, planets, stars, dashes, blanks and blankety blank blanks.

tack. Both sides agreed that Wilson had to advance some eight or 10 feet to reach Donohue.

"The entire case hinged on whether or not Donohue was attacked premeditatedly while in no position to defend himself and while unaware of the impending assault.

"From this conflicting testimony I can only deduce with certainty that the men had passed insults to each other and that Donohue in all reasonableness should have been prepared to defend himself."

Bernlohr to Run Butler League Nine

BUTLER, Pa., July 13.—Billy Bernlohr, newly elected director of Capitol University, of Columbus, and for the past two years coach of the local high school, has been named business manager of the Butler Armco Inter-County baseball team and will have charge of the business routine of the club.

All games of the club during the second half of the season will be played on the large athletic field in the heart of the city. Paul Townsend, former manager of the club, was relieved of his duties by the organization so that he might have more time to devote to boxing, of which he is matchmaker here.

British, Yankee Trackmen in Meet Today

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 13.—(AP.)—Four great universities of old and New England meet here today on track and field. The joint forces of Harvard and Yale were slight favorites to defeat Oxford and Cambridge in their ninth meeting since 1899. The series is a tie with four victories each.

First places only count in the 12 events, except in case of a tie, when second places decide the result. Only four men, one from each university, will compete in each event.

Two years ago at Stamford Bridge, England, the Americans, overwhelming favorites, were defeated, 7 to 5.

Today Harvard-Yale athletes were picked by some experts to win seven of the 12 events.

British hope lies in the running events, for the pole vault, high jump and shotput are conceded to Harvard and Yale.

MOE, CARTER IN WESTERN FINAL

KANSAS CITY, July 13.—(AP.)—Don Moe, Portland, Ore., and Gilbert Carter, Nevada, Mo., are the finalists in the thirtieth annual Western Amateur golf tournament, having scored 3 and 2 victories over their semi-finals opponents.

Moe conquered John Lehman, Gary, Ind., after the 1928 Big Ten champion from Purdue had made a courageous rally from the seemingly hopeless position of seven down at the end of 27 holes.

MOE CRACKS

The surprise of the afternoon was the slump of the apparently imperturbable Moe on the last holes of his match after he apparently had Lehman hopelessly beaten. Galleryites could find no explanation of his errors except that he eased up with an 8-hole advantage at the end of 26 holes and then found it hard to recover his shots with the Indiana boy fighting to the last.

Carter holed a chip shot from the top of a bunker to end his match with Sweet on the 34th after playing in and out golf all day.

CARTER INCONSISTENT

Carter was one up at the end of nine holes, one down at 18, two up at the end of 27 and four up after 29 holes. Here Sweet recovered and won two holes, but lost the next one and then could get no better than a half on the next two.

Carter is tht proverbial dark horse of the tournament, but tournament followers concede it will be the biggest kind of an upset if he should defeat Moe.

MITT OPENER A LOSER

He claims victories over Jimmy McLarnin, Ray Miller, Eddie Shea, Harry Blitman, Joey Sangor, Babe Herman, Johnny Datto, Chick Suggs, Young Nationalista, Jimmy Hackley, Danny Kramer and Rosy Stoy, among others. Critics railed at unpopular decisions scored over him by Benny Bass and Young Montreal on successive nights in Philadelphia and Providence a few months ago. He boxed Blitman, Stoy, Bass and Montreal all in the same month. Others whose names appear in his record include California Joe Lynch, Jack Sharkey, Midget Smith, Louis (Kid) Kaplan, Spencer Gardner, Stewart McLean, Charley Goodman, Johnny Hill, Pete Sarmiento, Joe Glick and Billy Wallace.

GITLITZ BATTLES GROSS

Murray Gitlitz, of New York, and Jack Gross, of Philadelphia, will box the main bout of the card of six six-rounders that will precede Max Schmeling's exhibition appearance against Germany Heller, his sparring partner, at the Arena stadium in Philadelphia next Monday night. Vince Guidici boxes Eddie Dempsey, Al Gordon meets Joey Hadfield, Ernie Caeser opposes Frankie Hayes, Mickey Diamond is paired with Harry (Kid) Decker and Jack Reno meets Jackie Herman.

Ray Shafer, Lawrenceville middleweight, is ready to return to the ring after an absence of a year due to a badly injured nose. He had the nose operated on and has benefited by a long rest. Ray boxed Linn Jordan, Bull Miller, Charley Tarzan, Frank Monroe, Jack O'Connell and Eddie Reed, among others, up to the time he quit the ring and believes he will be able to step right out against the tough ones again. He is under the management of Tom Bowler and George Kalb and already has a bout pending with Chuck Zelnack, of Glassport, at Butler, July 23.

AL BROWN AT PHILLY

LEADERS GAIN IN MAJOR RACES

By HENRY M'LEMORE.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, July 13.—(INS.)—While the reports from Pittsburgh concerning the two gentlemen who were apprehended while climbing the fence at Forbes Field yesterday in order to clinch choice seats for the world series are no doubt exaggerated, it isn't exaggeration to say that the Pirates are making better than fair progress toward post-season frolicking.

Even so astute critic as Joe McCarthy admits that Donie Bush's boys are the club that will have to be beaten this year.

After a better than fair sojourn in their native West, the Pirates came galloping East last Sunday and to date have taken three from the Robins and three from the Phillies. Following their date with the Philadelphia outfit, the Bucs jump to Boston, where their four games with the Braves should net more than a train ride.

GIANTS BEAT CUBS

Yesterday the Pirates subdued the Phillies, with old Burleigh Grimes tossing his fifteenth win of the season. The victory gave them a three-game lead over the second-place Cubs who lost in the tenth inning to the Giants, when Stonewall Jackson pasted the first ball pitched into the left field stands.

Brooklyn sent the Cardinals further down the chute by singling thrice in the ninth, which coupled with three St. Louis erors, gave them six runs and an 8-to-7 win. Dazzy Vance got credit for the victory, but up until late last night hadn't boasted of it.

A new batch of unglossed, and supposedly less lively balls were used in this game, but the 18 hits that rattled off the bats made the whole thing look kind of silly.

A'S ADD TO LEAD

The Philadelphia Athletics increased their lead over New York to eight and one-half games in the American, when they took a double bill from the ambitious Browns. Lefty Grove hurled the first affair and allowed only five hits. Al Simmons ran his home run total to 21, with a four ply swat in each game.

The Yankees swamped the White Sox, 12 to 2, Meusel and Byrd getting homers.

K. A. C. TOURNEY ENDS IN TIE

L. W. DuPuy and A. C. Wallerstedt tied for the championship of the Keystone Athletic Club in its annual tournament at the Alcoma Country Club yesterday. Each turned in net scores of 66, Wallerstedt having a gross 86 and a handicap of 20, and DuPuy registering a gross 102, with a 36 handicap.

George A. Ormiston, of Oakmont, secretary of the Western Pennsylvania Golf Association, lost the championship he has held for the last couple of years when the best he could do was chalk up 80-6-74. John Graham, W. P. G. A. prexy, had the low gross of the tourney, getting a 73.

Graham was tied with E. N. Calhoun and P. R. Pugh at net 71. D. K. Feree and W. E. Pritchard tied at net 72. The leading scores follow:

Miss Wills Extends Stay in London

LONDON, July 13.—(AP.)—Pleasure with a little business thrown in has kept Helen Wills, American tennis queen, in London for another week.

The tennis champion, who retained her crown after two weeks of hard work at Wimbledon, planned to sail today, but at the last minute postponed her return home.

"I felt I had to stay another week to explore London," she said. "This weather is too beautiful. So I have cancelled my passage.

"I also have a few little points to settle in connection with my exhibition of pictures in London and other business to see to, but my main object in staying is pleasure."

DRAKO STOPPED

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP.)—Ruby Goldstein, former Ghetto lightweight contender, stopped Billy Drako, of Germany in the third round of their scheduled 10 round bout at the Rockaway Playland stadium last night. Darko's nose was smashed in the second round.

DAVE SHADE WINS

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP.)—Dave Shade gained the decision over Leo Mitchell, also a California light heavyweight, in the 10-round main bout at the Long Beach stadium last night.

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Racqueters of the Pittsburgher Tennis Association Inter-Club League will swing back into action this afternoon after a lay-off of four weeks due to intervention of the annual Western Pennsylvania tournament and the Fourth of July holiday. Frequent bits of bad weather have meanwhile interfered not a little with practice sessions, though as the races in the dual loop reach mid-season there is discernible a pronounced heightening of interest among contenders with covetous eyes fixed upon titular honors.

By all odds the most important tussle of the campaign awaits between the champion P. A. A. host, at present leading the Section 1 chase, and Edgewood, Frank Smith's rehabilitated array that has caused sensation by successive triumphs over Stanton Heights, University Club, and Westinghouse. The contesting is slated for the Edgewood Club rectangles and a sizable gallery is certain to turn out for the event.

P. A. A. TEAM WEAKENED

P. A. A. will face the barrier minus Capt. Dave O'Loughlin, who will not return from the R. O. T. C. Medical Unit Camp at Carlisle, Pa., for almost a fortnight. Jack Lauler is also at Carlisle, so that the Winged Head line-up will flash alterations in its supreme test, though this by no means indicates pronounced lack of strength. Edgewood appears intact for the impending battle, all of which means that Paul Hicks, Capt. Smith, Stan McCaskey, W. D. Guthrie, Chick Cochrane, and Andy Smeaton are set for the fray. An exceedingly torrid engagement is in prospect.

Another vital top division fracas on today's card sends Marion Rinehart's Stanton Heights crew to Beaver Falls to meet Howdy Campbell and his College Hill combine. Decisive victory for the Stantonians would land them either in second place or quite close thereto, depending upon the outcome of the session at Edgewood. University Club and Westinghouse complete the upper sector program with a joust at East Pittsburgh.

TO MEET TEST

In Section II, Dr. Tom Stephens' pace-setting Wilkinsburgers encounter their most formidable foe in Russ Unger's Mt. Lebanon aggregation on the latter's lot. Lebanon has championship ambitions and will give every thing in valiant effort to stop the parade of the Holy Citians. Out in Verona, Jimmy McKay's Minnetonka performers will seek to emerge from the cellar at the expense of Westinghouse Seconds, while Philadelphia Company is billed to invade Howard Moore's College Avenue domain.

Lorraine Condit, 14-year-old daughter of Edward A. Condit, P. A. A. net enthusiast of a decade ago, broke into Eastern prints recently by entering her first tournament—the Montclair A. C. girls' qualifying meet for the national girls' championship tourney, and copping runner-up laurels in the singles and the victors' crown in doubles. Miss Condit was defeated, 6-1, 6-1, by Nancy Brown, of Newark, in a stubbornly fought final that required an hour for completion. In the dual conclave the teamed with Margaret Wenk, of Montclair, N. J., to annex the trophy, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, defeating Audrey Ayers and Josephine Merrick. The Condits have been living in Montclair for the past 10 years.

Plans are under way for the running off of the annual Pittsburgh Center junior and boys' championships to determine Steel City representatives in the national tilting at Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind., the week of August 12. The exact dates of the local tussles has not yet been fixed, nor has the site of the melee been chosen. Definite announcements, however, will b forthcoming from P. T. A. headquarters within a few days.

Correct Baseball Scoring

PLAY.

With runners on first and second, Cissell grounds to Yde, who throws ahead of the runner at third on a force, but McManus fails to touch the bag on the play and the runner is safe.

What goes in the box score and summary?

ANSWER.

Watch for play No. 11 tomorrow.

Answered By LAURIE AYTON

Always a consistent place winner in the big tournaments. Famed for his accuracy and steadiness under fire.

The grip does have an effect on pulling, but the stance has a greater effect. In order to correct pulling, which results from a faulty grip, the right hand should be readjusted so that the finger tips are turned down (turn the hand in a counter-clockwise direction). However, as I have indicated, the stance is the greatest cause of pulling. I believe that using a more open stance will kill pulling for almost any one at any time. The method of teeing the ball has little or nothing to do with this fault, nor does shortening or lengthening the grip help to correct the fault.

BOWEN TWICE WINNER AT VANCOUVER

By PETE BOWEN,
(Written Especially for the Sun-Telegraph.)

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 13.—The first day of the Vancouver internationals was well worth the price of admission to the huge and enthusiastic crowd that attended. Percy Williams, the wonder boy, very nonchalantly dashed off a nine and three-fifths hundred on a slow track to qualify for the finals in the feature dash of the meet. The other finalists are Wykoff, Bracey, Tolan, Maurer and Fitzpatrick.

Pete Bowen

It looks to me like a great race. My favorite is Williams, who runs to win and apparently does it. The other feature was a relay race over the quarter mile in an attempt to create a new world record. The featured team was composed of Williams, Fitzpatrick, Bracey and Comming. Strange as it may seem, the underdogs, composed of Wykoff, Maurer, Tolan and myself, stepped out and handed them a trimming in the time of 41 1-5 seconds, missing the world record by one-fifth of a second.

In the 220 I copped the first heat and qualified for the finals today. I am also competing in the quarter mile against a rather mediocre field.

Pickard gave a vaulting exhibition yesterday and will continue today in regular competition. Vic has taken the trip to this meet by motor and is not in the best of condition.

As an added feature the committee has asked me to run a quarter mile against the world champion girls' relay team of Canada. The record is 48 4-5 seconds, so it should be an interesting exhibition. These girls are remarkable runners as compared to the average girl athlete. Myrtle Cooke, their captain, is the holder of the world record for women in the hundred.

Swim Stars Compete On North Side Today

Swimmers from all parts of the city will compete in the annual Lake Elizabeth water carnival this afternoon. The Willows Pool Club, of Oakmont, with a heavy entry, is a favorite to cop the point trophy.

A relay race will be a feature of the program.

Foxx Hits Way Back to .400 In Big Six

Associated Press.

The Big Six was evenly divided yesterday between the gains and losses in batting averages. The first member and the last two lifted their marks while the others lost ground. Jimmy Foxx hit three times in five official trips to the plate in a double-header and again reached the .400 mark. His nearest rival, Manush, got but two out of eight in the same pair of games and dropped to .390. Mel Ott registered a two-point gain to .327 with a pair of hits, while Paul Waner's one lifted him to .336.

SHOEMEN BEAT CIVICS, 12-3

By TOM BIRKS

The dope bucket was given an emphatic booting yesterday as Book Shoe upset the North Side Civics, first half champions in the City League. The score was 12 to 3.

The Rooney outfit, from across the Allegheny, never had a chance. A two-run attack in the second inning was followed by one that netted four in the third, and in the fifth another run came across. Two were added in the sixth and three more tallied in the eighth. The Civics scored in the first and last frames. Bellack kept the Civics' five hits well scattered.

In the Greater Pittsburgh League, Homestead Aces defeated the Swissvale Firemen with little trouble, 8 to 1. Verona, first half pennant winners in the West Penn League, stepped out in an exhibition tussle and defeated the Duquesne Builders, 2 to 1. Dormont walloped the Stowe Civics, 9 to 4, in another independent fracas.

Ingomar had an easy time with Sewickley, winning by a football score, 24 to 0. The B. & O. Cubs downed the Traders, 3 to 1, and the F. R. Kirks, in an American Legion tournament game, tripped up the Collier Colt Juniors, 10 to 2. North Bessemer trimmed the Dan Heeps, 11 to 3, and the Herron Hill Cardinals scored a 7-to-2 win over the Dispatch nine.

White Drives Winner In Circuit Feature

TOLEDO, July 13.—(AP.)—The 2-year-old trotters, Main McElwyn, Hanover Bertha and Pola McElwyn, battled four heats for the lion's share of the $10,000 Commodore Perry Hotel Grand Circuit stake, with Main McElwyn, which was driven by Ben White, of Lexington, winning out, here last night.

Hanover Bertha, driven by Tommy Berry, took second money, but proved a bit unsteady, breaking in the first and third heats and winning the second and placing in the fourth, only a whisker behind Main McElwyn. After winning the first heat, Pola McElwyn, with Harry Stokes up behind, was prominent, but failed to last.

WINS TITLE

Insane Women Cured by Beauty Treatments....

Lipsticks are taking the place of strait-jackets in the insane asylums, facial massages are found better than padded cells, and waves and manicures are great aids in bringing the diseased mind back to normal health. This supports the psychology of American women who spend one billion, eight hundred and twenty-five million dollars annually on beauty aids. If beauty treatments will help to cure the insane, undoubtedly they have a therapeutic value for those who are normal. Read this highly interesting article in The American Weekly next Sunday, showing the experiments that are being made in insane asylums—an article of tremendous scientific import.

ROUND TABLE OF BUSINESS

GENERAL TRADE CONDITIONS UNCHANGED

Retail Distribution Reported In Good Volume; Demand For Seasonable Apparel

The general business situation has shown no particular change during the current week, retail distribution being in fairly good volume; with warm weather stimulating the demand for seasonable wearing apparel, says a review by R. G. Dun & Co.

Jobbing trade as a whole is rather quiet, with some orders being placed for fall delivery. There is a fair demand for lumber and building materials and while hardware trade as a whole is rather quiet, builders hardware is moving in fair volume. The distribution of groceries and provisions is comparatively slow, some jobbers complaining that business is not up to normal.

STEEL ACTIVITY HIGH

Steel mill operations continue at an unusually high rate for this period of the year, and while orders from some sources are in smaller volume, other sources have increased to some extent, and prospects continue generally satisfactory. Operations in the plate glass field continue at a high rate, although the demand from automobile producers has declined, but other users are buying more freely and prospects are classed as fairly satisfactory. The production of window glass has fallen off to some extent with the demand slow and stocks ample for ordinary requirements. The demand for sanitary and heating equipment is fairly good and further increase is expected. Not much change is reported in the production of electrical and radio equipment for which the demand continues very fair. Another high record is reported in the production of crude oil but there is also a considerable increase in the demand for refined products.

COAL OUTPUT LOWER

Bituminous coal production is at a slightly lower rate, with the demand spotty and contracting for future needs has been rather disappointing. Prices for Western Pennsylvania grades of run-of-mine coal show little change and are quoted, per net ton, as follows: Steam coal, $1.25 to $1.75; coking coal, $1.50 to $1.76; gas coal, $1.65 to $1.75; steam slack 80c to 90c; and gas slack $1.00 to $1.10. Jobbers report collections showing a slight improvement, although many merchants continue slower than normal in meeting obligations.

Willys Retains Big Stock Interest

NEW YORK, July 13.—Directors of Willys-Overland Company will meet July 16 and it is considered likely John N. Willys will become chairman of the board and L. H. Miller, vice president, will be elected president.

Mr. Willys will retain a substantial stock interest in the company, making the Willys family holdings the largest single interest in Willys-Overland.

JUNE BUILDING GREATER

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.—While activity on construction operations was 9 per cent greater in June than in May this year, a statistical study just completed by the Associated General Contractors of America reveals that the decrease in the volume of contracts awarded earlier in the year was beginning to show in slightly lessened job performance.

This decrease in activities is shown by comparison with June of last year, the decline being 5.3 per cent. June activities normally show a considerable increase over those of May, it is stated, so that the anticipated increase this year is indicative only insofar as it failed to come up to the amount shown in June last year.

Practically all the decline in contract awards is found in residential construction, notably in apartment house building, which has been hit through catching up with the demand and because of the vagaries of the financial market.

It was pointed out that the statistics of the F. W. Dodge Corporation show a decline of $404,000,000 in residential and apartment contract awards this year as compared with last. All other types of construction are shown to be near normal. This is seen as an indication of the passing of the boom speculative building market and a return to the sounder investment building which prevailed before the post war boom.

Among other factors that are conceived to have affected speculative building in the residential field is the movement toward the curbing of loose credit in the construction industry. This movement has been making considerable headway through the support of the Associated General Contractors, national organizations of subcontractors and material men. Because standard credit terms are being set up in scores of cities it is said that speculative builders cannot so readily promote projects on the easy credit formerly secured from contractors and material houses.

STEEL BUYING CONTINUES GOOD

June Decrease in Market Due to Consumers Preparing for Inventories

By B. E. V. LUTY.

There is no seasonal decrease at the present time in the volume of steel buying. There was a decrease in June, largely if not wholly of seasonal character as many consumers were preparing for July 1 inventories. The automobile industry was preparing for its usual light July production and the agricultural implement industry was preparing to change from fall to spring implements. There are now many cases of steel mills having received a larger tonnage of shipping orders since the first of this month than in the same period of June.

PRODUCTION AVERAGES

Nevertheless the steel industry has now in prospect a smaller production in the present quarter than in the second quarter, which made the unusual showing of an increase of several per cent over the first quarter when usually there is a decrease. There is no decrease to be seen in steel consumption except such as is seasonal. In the last five years automobile production has averaged 13 per cent decrease from the second to the third quarter. Incidentally it may be mentioned that the average decrease from the first half to the second half has been about 15 per cent. Then there is the regular falling off in rail production. Certain seasonal orders are commonly completed by July 1, while this year the deliveries extend several weeks beyond that date. Chicago reports that the two rail producers in that district have enough business to run full through this month.

An awkward feature of the steel situation is that production in the last year, and particularly in the last six months, has been so phenomenally heavy, so far above any previous record, that a partial return to the longer range average while still leaving the rate of production far above any but the most recent records would represent quite a decrease. To be specific, if steel production decreased 7 per cent from the first half of this year to the second half it would still be 8 per cent above any preceding half-year, also if production in the 12 months beginning July 1, 1929, were 7 per cent under that in the last 12 months it would still be 8 per cent above that in any 12 consecutive months prior to one year ago. Ordinarily a decrease of say 10 per cent would not be impressive, but recent experiences have keyed the industry up to expecting so much that a moderate decrease is likely to have quite an influence upon sentiment.

The statistical items of the week, the June steel production report, the automobile production report and the Steel Corporation's unfilled tonnage report, were all favorable from a long range viewpoint, but were visibly less favorable than the preceding monthly reports. A correct comparison of May and June steel production with allowance for the actual—not theoretical or conventional—working time indicates that there was about 4 per cent decrease in the rate. When May and June automobile production is compared with the average May to June decrease in the last five years last month's production is seen to be about 4 per cent short, despite the help of sustained Ford production. As to the Steel Corporation's report of unfilled obligations at the end of June, 4,256,910 tons, there is represented a June decrease of 47,257 tons, against a May decrease of 123,596 tons. Superficially June appeared to be the better month, but the records show that regularly May has a large decrease, while June has a small decrease, even sometimes an increase. The difference has been made chiefly by June being the month before a new quarter, and therefore a month for fresh contracting. Thus the June report was distinctly less favorable than the May report.

FREIGHT CAR ORDERS

Outside of rails, agricultural implements and automobiles, steel consumption is likely to be very well maintained. In the matter of freight cars, while the heaviest orders were placed last January, the rate of freight car building has been much heavier in the last three months than in the first quarter of the year and this pace will continue for some time even without the aid of additional orders. Class I roads installed only 1,790 freight cars in January, the number increasing month by month until 9,975 were installed in May, the last month reported upon.

Up to last February the A. O. Smith Corporation, making electrically welded pipe at Milwaukee, had a capacity of 10 miles a day, a new plant being then added, increasing the capacity to 26 miles daily. It is authoritatively stated that about 100,000 tons of plates a month are being used and it is generally known that the company is well booked. The regular pipe mills are comfortably booked on line pipe. A project is likely to be carried through to pipe natural gas about a thousand miles, from the Pan Handle field of Texas to the city of Chicago, involving 150,000 to 200,000 tons of pipe, while there is also a project to pipe gas to the Atlantic seaboard.

Fabricated structural steel lettings reported in the week totaled 45,000 tons. Lettings since June 1 have averaged 24 per cent above the average in the first five months of the year, although they were record high for any five-month period, and thus sustained or even increased consumption of mill material is promised in that direction.

The Connellsville coke market is very dull, its usual condition at this time of year. Pig iron has been relatively dull for months. Southern iron has had another decline of 50 cents, to $14.50, Birmingham, which makes a total decline of $2 a ton since the fore part of March. The local pig iron market has been subject to some shading, while valley furnaces are maintaining prices in their regular territory.

The scrap iron market of the Pittsburgh district is stronger. There has been much demand for special grades, premiums being paid above the market on ordinary heavy melting steel, which is quotable at $18 to $18.50. Scrap is scarce and there is no summer lull in steel making to allow it to accumulate.

U. S. Lines to Construct Two Ships

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE United States Lines will start construction soon of two giant ocean liners close to the Leviathan in size. These will be built to round out the company's fleet and to keep it in a position to compete on favorable terms with foreign lines which also have extensive building programs under way.

Tests of models of the two liners were made recently in the ship model testing basin at Washington. The two vessels will be of 55,000 gross tonnage and will cost about $25,000,000 each. This is not far below the Leviathan's tonnage of 59,956.

The boats are being built under the terms of the United States Lines contract with the Shipping Board by which it took over six passenger cargo ships of the government operated by United States Lines and five ships of the American Merchant Lines.

To Carry 2,500 Passengers

THE new ships will be between 900 and 1,000 feet in length. They will have 14 decks and will accommodate more than 2,500 passengers in first class tourist and third class. Second class will be eliminated. The additions to the fleet will be completed by 1932 and contracts, under the agreement with the government, must be awarded before February 14, 1930.

Each ship will carry two airplanes. The exact nature of the air service to be rendered will be determined by the development of air travel at the time the vessels are placed into service.

Besides the first two additions to the fleet, United States Lines intend to build five other fast vessels over a period of 10 years. Three of these will be of 35,000 tons and two of 25,000 tons. The entire building program will amount to about $175,000,000.

Estimated Earnings

THE lines have been under private control only since last March so that no earnings statements are available. Independent marine authorities have estimated, however, that under operating practice the annual earnings applicable to dividends and reserves after all expenses including interest but before federal income taxes, will be in excess of $2,500,000 a year. This would be over four times the annual dividend requirements on the 600,000 shares of $1 preference stock.

Preference dividends become cumulative from January 1, 1930. The stock as a class is entitled to share equally with the common stock as a class in any additional dividends regardless of the number of shares outstanding in either class. The common issue now outstanding amounts to 1,000,000 shares.

The completion of the building program will undoubtedly require additional financing since the tentative balance sheet at the time of the company's formation showed only $3,961,500 in cash after giving effect to the financing.

Marine Laws Changed

AMERICAN ship lines, which have been under a serious handicap in competing with foreign lines for world commerce, are now being helped to a great extent by the new marine laws.

Under the Jones-White act is a liberal compensation for carrying United States mails. In addition to this a construction loan fund has been established under which a ship owner may borrow 75 per cent of the cost of building a vessel in American yards at a low rate of interest.

Further than this, a marine insurance feature has been established making government insurance available at low rates on the equity in vessels covered by the loans.

American Financing

THE entrance of an American firm into the Atlantic steamship field was brought about by P. W. Chapman, Chicago investment banker, and Joseph E. Sheedy, who is directing the operations of the lines. The firm of P. W. Chapman & Co. was high bidder for the ships.

WHEAT LOSSES HEAVY

TOPEKA, Kan., July 13.—Heavy losses in wheat by torrential rains and floods are reported from nearly every county in the Central Kansas wheat belt in a dozen sections or counties. Growers believe the loss will reach 50 per cent.

When the rains came, about half of the crop had been harvested. The other half dead-ripe has been beaten down by hail and wind and the farmers say it will be practically a total loss.

Men familiar with conditions say the destruction by rains, wind and hail will further reduce the estimated crop of Kansas from 20,000,000 bushels to 10,000,000 bushels.

General Motors Buys Trico Device

BUFFALO, July 13.—Trico Products Corporation has closed a contract with one of the General Motors divisions to use vision-all, the Trico device that clears the entire windshield. And this is said to be the first producer to adopt this new special equipment as standard.

PLATE GLASS LEADS FIELD

NEW YORK, July 13.—Building glass generally is in better demand this week with plate glass continuing to lead the way, says the American Glass Review. Inquiries for window glass have improved since the July Fourth holiday, but are not as plentiful as manufacturers would like to have them. Wire glass, rough rolled and colored flat glass is moving well and the general situation in this branch is good.

The continued good market for plate glass is something of a surprise to plate glass producers. There had been every expectation that as the half-year mark was approached and passed there would be at least a slight falling off in urgency of demand. While the exact reverse has not been true, it is a fact that the plate glass market continues to be excellent with producers hard put to fill orders as promptly as they are desired.

There are several reasons for the excellent market for plate glass. Demand from automobile manufacturers has not fallen off as much as had been anticipated or is expected as usual and customary. Mirror manufacturers have had a good market and their demand continues. There also has been a healthy and persistent demand for store front sizes or in widths around 120 inches. Then, too, some of the production has gone into laminated or scatter-proof glass, undoubtedly a much larger percentage than last year.

Production of plate glass continues close to the capacity of the plants operating. One large unit has done little this year. This unit is at Ford City and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has been making extensive improvements. This plant will get into operation shortly.

The decline in volume of building permits is reflected in the somewhat unsatisfactory condition of the spot market for window glass. Residential building apparently has fallen off more from the 1928 total than any other class of construction. This affects window more than any other type of building glass. Construction of office buildings, stores, factories and churches continues good, which is more helpful to plate glass, wire glass and colored flat glass than to window glass.

MOTOR SURVEY SHOWS FORD'S PROGRESS

Output Figures for Half Year Disclose Important Change in Relationship

NEW YORK, July 13.—Preliminary figures on automobile output for June and the first six months of this year show that an important change has taken place in the relationship between Ford and the other motor producers. During the first quarter of the year, Ford was increasing output steadily at a rapid rate and other manufacturers were able to hold their own in production as compared with a year ago. The second quarter of the year shows continued rapid expansion of Ford output whereas other manufacturers have been slipping below production levels maintained in the corresponding period of 1928.

This trend is particularly noticeable in the June results when Ford's total production estimated at above 200,000 cars and trucks set a new high record, whereas the output of other manufacturers estimated at 321,309 units by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce showed a decline of 12½ per cent, as compared with the corresponding month in 1928. These figures may vary somewhat when complete totals on June output are available the latter part of this month, but they clearly indicate that Ford competition is again a very important factor in motor considerations for the first time in more than two years, and that the market available to other producers is beginning to show signs of inability to absorb the tremendous production totals of the first six months of 1929 when the number of motor vehicles turned out exceeded by a wide margin every preceding record.

FORD'S GAIN

During the first six months of this year, it is estimated that the motor industry produced a total of 3,380,088 cars and trucks, which compared with 2,326,509 in the corresponding period of 1928, a gain of 1,053,579 units, or 45 per cent. If the Ford figures are excluded from this total, the rest of the industry shows a comparison in production of 2,275,915 units in the six months this year, against 2,127,767 in the first half of 1928, a gain of only 148,148 units, or less than 7 per cent. Ford's apparent gain during the first six months of this year, therefore, practically equals the total gain shown by the industry. The interesting phase in this situation is that recent months have shown the balance of the industry shipping below production totals in 1928, while Ford's position promises to continue its present aggressive strength until well into the summer months, since that company reports its dealers still have a substantial backlog of unfilled orders on hand and are pracically out of unsold stocks of cars.

Due to its low price level, the Ford product is not in direct competition with that of other manufacturers. However, while Ford was out of heavy production over an extended period, it was apparent that many purchasers in the Ford price class were turning to the used-car market to satisfy their requirements which kept used-car stocks in a fairly liquid condition and stimulated the movement of new cars. This situation has also changed during recent months and automobile dealers report that used-car stocks are not moving as freely as formerly, since many buyers in the low-priced field prefer the new Ford to a second-hand car at the same price. Since a large percentage of the new-car business is dependent upon trade-in and resale of used cars, this situation has tended to slow up new-car sales.

COMPETITION KEEN

Consideration of the condition of the motor industry as related to the outlook for the securities of leading motor companies presents an interesting paradox. The industry as a whole is more active than it has been before in its history, but with Ford disassociated from the stock market angle and practically the chief beneficiary of this activity the outlook for the other motor companies suggests a period of intense competition in the offing, which will be reflected in earnings reports of leading companies for the first six months of this year when even those companies which have been successful in capturing a larger share of the market will be shown to have been operating on a much narrower margin of profit unit than formerly.

Record 1st Half For Magma Copper

NEW YORK, July 13.—The largest for any six months' period in history of the Magna Copper Company are expected to be shown in the company's report for the half year ended June 30. The report will be made public within the next few weeks. It is anticipated earnings for the first half will be equal to more than $4 a share on 408,155 shares of no par capital stock outstanding. In the same period of 1928 earnings equaled $2.38 a share and in the 1927 period were $1.85 a share.

Proposes Tariff Wall Against U. S.

BERLIN, July 13.—The Federation of German Automobile Industry issued a report proposing cooperation of European countries in erecting an effective tariff wall against the United States, while granting to each other freedom of trade.

The report states that the United States is striving toward a monopoly of the European market, whereas prohibitive American tariffs make it impossible for Europe to export to the United States.

REFINING FIRM SETS RECORD

NEW YORK, July 13.—Full dividend requirements for the year 1929 are understood to have been more than earned by American Smelting and Refining Company in the first six months of the current year. A new peak net income for any half-year period will likely be established when returns are made public. Understood net income for this period will reach close to $10,900,000 after charges and bond interest, equal to approximately $5 a share on 1,829,940 common shares outstanding after preferred dividends. This estimate does not include the company's equity in Republic Brass Corporation, General Cable Corporation, or Federal Mining and Smelting.

Best previous six months report was in the final half of 1928 when net income was $10,366,753 or $4.71 on common.

Based upon estimated returns for the first half of the current year, it is now predicted American Smelting will establish a new peak for yearly earnings. It is not improbable that final results will show net income after charges of nearly $22,000,000 or slightly more than $10 on common. Previously peak net income was in 1928 when the total was $18,586,205 or $8.24 a share on present common.

DETROIT TRADE ANALYZED IN REPORT

Gains Reported in Basic Industries But Store Sales Show Downward Trend

DETROIT, July 13.—Gains of 11 per cent to 90 per cent were made in Detroit's basic industries during the first six months of the current year compared to corresponding period last year, an analysis issued today by the retail Merchant Association indicated.

In the first half of the year, increases in the following businesses were noted in comparison with the like period a year ago; 15 per cent increase in freight cars loaded and unloaded here; 11 per cent increase in number of passengers carried by the Detroit street railway; 8 per cent increase in postal receipts; 24 per cent increase in bank clearings; 21 per cent increase in debits to individual accounts; 22 per cent increase in factory employment; 42 per cent increase in automobile production; 90 per cent increase in deliveries of new cars and trucks.

Unsatisfactory conditions, however, are reported in department store sales, and collections for the month of June as against the like period a year ago, according to the analysis. Some stores continue to show gains in sales, though the average is not as good as it should be, and, most noticeable of all, is the large number reporting decreases. However, only five stores show a decrease in their fiscal year to date, compared with same period last year. An improvement over the percentages of increase figures for May, nevertheless, is reported.

In June, bank clearings increased $52,092,558 over the same month last year, and decreased $65,794,003 under May, 1929; building permits issued decreased 152 under June, 1928, and decreased 464 under the preceding month.

STOCKS RENEW UPWARD DRIVE

Opening Less Violent But Gains Are Moderate; U. S. Steel Again Mounts

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP.)—The stock market continued its upward course in the opening transaction today, American Telephone, Columbia Gas, Westinghouse and General American Tank Car moving up ¾ to ⅞ of a point.

The opening was less violent than yesterday's, however, and gains more moderate. Walworth was conspicuous with a jump of nearly 2 points. U. S. Steel mounted ¼ of a point. A little irregularity persisted, with Columbia Graphophone and General Railway Signal sagging about ½ a point each.

The highly favorable character of the week-end trade and business reviews, and optimistic estimates of second quarter earnings prompted continued energetic operations for the advance. Although yesterday's 9 per cent call loan rate carried over the week-end, and the continued high indebtedness of the New York banks at the Reserve Bank held little prospect of easier money early next week, Wall Street persisted in the belief that credit must improve before many days pass.

Heavy buying of the utilities continued, a block of 14,000 shares of United Gas Improvement changing hands at 54¾, a new high, and a block of 10,000 shares of United Corporation being taken fractionally higher. Western Union mounted a fraction further into new high ground, and International Telephone sold up about a point.

Rails were in demand, Baltimore and Ohio and New York Central selling up 1 and 1½ points, and a block of 10,000 shares of Alleghany Corporation selling up 2⅛. The advance was quickly extended to 50, a record price. Air stocks joined the movement, United Aircraft mounting 1½ points and Wright 2¼.

U. S. Steel quickly extended its gain a full point, selling at the unprecedented price of 204. Republic mounted about a point and Bethlehem fractionally. American Petroleum B and Simms Petroleum each gained about a point.

NEW ORLEANS CARS TO RUN

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 13.—(INS.) — With scores of heavily-armed United States marshals on hand to quell riots, an attempt will be made by Public Service, Inc., to resume street car service in New Orleans today or tomorrow.

Trackage torn up following the strike of street car men was repaired yesterday.

The marshals, armed with machine guns and tear bombs, together with the police, will be on hand to thwart any recurrence of riots which last week caused the death of two persons and resulted in injuries to scores of others and considerable damage to company property.

Meanwhile, negotiators for a settlement of the strike were still holding several conferences a day, but thus far neither side has issued any statement regarding the progress of the deliberations.

An attempt to burn a car barn last night failed when firemen checked the flames.

Heat Threatens Northwest Crops

MINNEAPOLIS, July 13.—The sudden turn to extremely high temperatures generally have made the crop situation very precarious. Rains of last Saturday and Sunday covering Southern Minnesota and greater portions of South Dakota put that territory in condition to withstand heat, and as the corn crop is most important in that area, heat will have beneficial effect. North Dakota, however, needs rains generally.

Telephone Reports Quarterly Income

NEW YORK, July 13.—Reports for the quarter ended June 30, 1929, show net income $39,555,016 after taxes and interest, equal to $3.07 a share on 12,896,914 capital shares, against $40,647,079, or $3.15 a share in preceding quarter and $35,184,414, or $3.19 a share on 11,034,156 shares in 1928 quarter. Net income for six months ended June 30 was $80,202,095, or $6.22 a share, against $68,671,768, or $6.22 a share in 1928 period.

HUDSON MOTOR EARNINGS

DETROIT, July 13.—The semi-annual report of Hudson Motor Car Company for period ended June 30 will show net earning of approximately $10,600,000, equal to $6.63 per share on 1,596,660 shares of capital stock. This will exceed any similar period in the history of the company, and indications are that earnings will be maintained at a rate sufficient to show considerable increase over those of last year. Net for the first six months last year was reported as $9,216,321, equal to $5.77 per share, thus putting this year well over $1,000,000 ahead of last year for the period.

Net earnings for second quarter of current year ended June 30 are placed at approximately $6,000,000, equal to $3.77 per share, a new record for second quarter earnings. This compares with $5,008,948, equal to $3.14 for second quarter last year, an increase of nearly 20 per cent.

Balance sheet will show cash on hand of over $30,000,000, which, together with a week's shipment in transit on sight drafts, will bring cash to better than $38,000,000.

Production for first six months was reported at 226,318 units, being 24.2 per cent ahead of 183,047 units reported for first six months of 1928 and within 56,000 units of total production for 1928 amounting to better than 282,000 units, which was a record year for the company in production.

Youngstown Sheet To Increase Capital

YOUNGSTOWN, July 13.—Directors voted to increase authorized common stock from 1,000,000 now outstanding to 2,000,000 shares, subject to approval of stockholders. At special meeting to be held August 15 stock dividend of 20 per cent will be declared payable to holders of record September 22 if increase is approved.

In commenting upon directors' action, President J. A. Campbell said: "Conditions in steel industry are now such that continued payment of dividends at present rate on an increased amount of common capital seems assured."

He stated that earnings of first half of year justify declaration of 20 per cent dividend, and announced a new improvement program involving $20,000,000 for additional finishing mills and modernizing of present plants.

PLANS POWER LINK

ST. LOUIS, July 13.—Plans for linking up St. Louis with a vast superpower network extending to Louisville, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Chicago have been disclosed by Utilities Power and Light Corporation.

Indianapolis Power and Light Company, a subsidiary, has started work on an electric power plant located on White River. Plans of the company provide for connecting its electric resources through transmission lines from part of a vast super power network. According to J. N. Canavan, president of Utilities Corporation, a new plant near Indianapolis will be completed in 16 months. It would be added to a group consisting of Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation, Louisville Gas and Electric Corporation, American Gas and Electric Corporation, Indiana Gas and Electric Corporation, and present three plants of Indianapolis unit.

COTTON CENSUS GIVEN

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The Census Bureau reports consumption of cotton was 570,281 running bales in June, against 668,229 in May and 510,399 in June, 1928.

Total consumption for 11 months of this season, August 1 to June 30, amounted to 6,552,489 bales, against 6,394,242 in the same period last season.

Stocks of cotton, exclusive of linters, on hand June 30 in consuming establishments amounted to 1,289,294 bales, against 1,477,308 on May 31 and 1,160,888 on June 30, 1928. In warehouses 1,375,728 on June 30, against 1,847,688 May 31 and 1,646,807 in June, 1928.

Exports, excluding linters, totaled 299,137 bales in June, against 313,003 in May and 444,168 in June, 1928. Exports for 11 months aggregated 7,811,834 bales, against 7,208,493 in the same period a year ago.

CHEVVY OUTPUT MAINTAINED

DETROIT, July 13.—The summer production level of the Chevrolet division of General Motors Corporation will be considerably higher than in former years, W. S. Knudsen, president stated today. In every section of the country, dealers are still behind on orders and demand continues to absorb the dealers' supply as rapidly as cars are received from the factory, Mr. Knudsen declared.

"Record public acceptance," said Mr. Knudsen commenting on the succession of records that Chevrolet has been establishing since the introduction of the new six January 1, "has made necessary record performance on the part of our factories. The automobile buying public has been the dictator of our manufacturing pace and not our ambition to seek new production records."

NEW RECORDS ON LOCAL BOARD

Western Public at Highest Price Since Listing; Arkansas Also at New Top

Western Public Service pushed into new high ground on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today in a strong buying movement which carried through the advance made yesterday.

While the Street has no official information as to the reason for the current advance, it is thought the expansion program of some of the big utility companies includes an amalgamation of Central and Mid-Western gas properties and distributing systems which will probably include Western Public. Buying of the issue the past week or so is said to have been for long pull account and there has been only minor profit-taking on the way up.

Blaw Knox came into the market strong this morning, resuming the advance started several days when it had a sharp spurt. Following that move the stock quieted down and had been hovering around 41 most of the week. The spurt this morning carried it to around 44, although the volume of trading in the issue was relatively light. This was taken to mean that informed holders of the larger blocks are content to remain on the long side in anticipation of further favorable developments later in the year.

Arkansas Gas also advanced to new record territory this morning, continuing the advance which has been in progress for a week or more. While the issue has not met much liquidation on its present rise, the inevitable "tips" are beginning to circulate and there is some hesitation on the part of professionals in following the move under the circumstances. Trading in Arkansas in the New York Curb market was heavy again today also.

Baker Not in Huge Merger; Geo. Eastman's Nightmare.

By B. C. FORBES

DON'T believe the widely circulated reports that George F. Baker, the 89-year-old head of the First National Bank, and New York's wealthiest banker, is planning a banking merger running into several billions of dollars. From inside sources I learn that Mr. Baker has no such aim in view.

New York's First National Bank is as old-fashioned as the most staid bank in the most staid community in America. Everything about it savors of last century. Glittering marble has no place in it. All the equipment, the whole layout, breathes age. Conservatism is in the very air in Baker's bank.

Mr. Baker has never felt any necessity for making revolutionary changes in his bank or in the running of it. The principles he established and the methods he installed half-a-century ago have proved entirely satisfactory to him. The profits have been sufficient to satisfy anybody. Baker's bank long has been the greatest dividend-earner in New York. It distributes one hundred per cent annually. And this rate probably could be doubled without impairing the institution's strength in the slightest.

Mr. Baker is one of the six richest men in America. Nor has he ever been accused of earning one dollar dishonestly. Never is his institution involved in any deal which arouses criticism. Just as the original J. P. Morgan was implicitly trusted by every other banker in his day, so is George F. Baker—and so has he been for more years than the majority of bank presidents have been on earth.

The phenomenal success of the Baker bank has been due mainly to Mr. Baker's character, ability, judgment and personality. For more than a generation any company which could attract Mr. Baker to its board has been accounted extremely fortunate.

His career has been a wonderful example and incentive to younger bankers. His record has abundantly proved that the highest success is not achieved by turning sharp corners.

The talent with which Mr. Baker has surrounded himself is capable of running a bank of any conceivable magnitude. And it is entirely logical to expect the First National to head an institution of great magnitude once the younger generation assumes control. But for the present, things will stay as they are.

GEORGE EASTMAN, who celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday yesterday, and whose fortune may be safely estimated at equaling a millon dollars for each year of his life, was not able to shake off a haunting dread of poverty until long after he became a millionaire.

Some time after George's father died, the Eastman family was unexpectedly plunged into poverty. It broke the little fellow's heart to see his mother having to toil hard to keep a roof above their heads. Years after he had accumulated far more money than he could ever need, he frequently dreamed that he was again wallowing in the hardships of poverty. In fact, he has told me that this was a regular nightmare with him.

However, he felt sufficiently rich some twenty-five years ago to begin giving away millions secretly. He had distributed upwards of $10,000,000 before his benefactions were traced to him. Up till then the giver of these millions was called simply "Mr. Smith." He greatly enjoyed the anonymity. Also, he greatly enjoyed giving.

Since then his philanthropies have reached many millions. His adopted city, Rochester, the Home of Kodak, has received many millions—perhaps even more than he has contributed to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the first object of his large-scale bounty.

Mr. Eastman founded his fortune by the hardest of hard work. He used to work literally night and day. And how he scrutinized every bill before paying it! To tell the truth, he was a hard bargainer.

At an early stage of his career as a manufacturer of photographic plates, he completely lost the art of turning out an acceptable product. He had to shut down his plant. And, in one week, his hair turned white. Not until he hurried across the Atlantic and purchased another formula was he able to resume operations.

"Compared with what I then went through, all my troubles since have appeared very light," says Mr. Eastman.

He is a bachelor.

TO sell stocks short under present conditions would seem to be dangerous.

CANADA'S DEBT CUT DOWN

OTTAWA, July 13.—(AP.)—The net debt of the Dominion of Canada decreased by $92,620,133 in the 12 months ended June 30 last, according to figures issued through the finance department. At the end of June, 1928, the net debt stood at $2,244,142,450, on June 30 last it amounted to $2,151,522,317. During the first three months of the present fiscal year, which are covered by the statement issued today, ordinary revenue of the Dominion showed an increase of $13,529,153 over the corresponding period a year ago.

GREAT CAPITAL MUST TAKE CHANCES

Change in Investment Fashions Calls for New Methods in Banking

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

(Copyright, 1929, by Universal Service Inc.)

NEW YORK, July 12.—A practical banking motive behind the epidemic of corporate mergers in the United States in recent months has been a recognition of changing fashions in investments.

The investor, timid concerning the uncertain revolutionary economic changes, which the future is likely to bring, seeks a haven of safety for his capital (with hopes of appreciation also) in the shares of the largest and best managed companies. There is a vast thirst for shares in billion dollar corporations.

In specific terms, the investor would rather buy stocks in outstanding corporations at 12 times earnings than shares in smaller units at nine times earnings. This attitude on the part of investors makes it attractive for a large and successful holding company to absorb new units on a more favorable price earnings ratio than its own shares sell for on the stock exchange.

PROSPERITY FORMULA

Julius H. Barnes, American vice president of the International Chamber of Commerce and confidant of President Hoover, in a speech before the International Chamber at Amsterdam yesterday, sought to give the formula for American prosperity.

"There is today on the part of both employers and employes," Mr. Barnes declared, "a growing appreciation of a certain fundamental philosophy of industry which runs something in this order:

"High wages and reasonable leisure must be maintained by high individual production per worker.

"High production per worker is secured only through machine and power equipping of the worker."

In suggesting the practical applications of this formula, Mr. Barnes said: "This means that resourceful and progressive industry must be prepared to invest in buildings and equipments large capital sums. It must be prepared for such revolutionary invention in their particular line of industry as to render perhaps such investments valueless, and necessitate a new investment again of large capital sums in redesigned equipment. This has developed strikingly in the last few years. The closed automobile and the equably heated home, plus the shifting of women's taste in wear to silk instead of wool, almost destroyed a great wool industry. Cotton felt severely the change of women's style and the rise to silk standards instead of cotton, but another shift in women's taste may rebuild the great industry. Silk is batting for popular favor with rayon, the product of the research laboratory.

MUST TAKE VENTURE

"The point is that, throughout all industry there must be willingness to venture great capital investment such as was never necessary before this machine and power era of the past few years. Capital is properly timid, unless there is assurance of a fair field and the stimulant of reasonably expected profits. Capital is not a lifeless thing, but an agency directed in the last analysis by the individual, and that individual, by observation and judgment, made either fearless or timid."

Mr. Barnes undertook to use the American experience as an argument in favor of private versus government ownership of business.

Advices from the capital indicate that the Senate will be inclined to modify the House tariff bill better to conform with President Hoover's policy of limited revision. There is growing hope that the tariff extremists will be held in check.

Senator William H. King, of Utah, feels that the lawmaking body has a responsibility to keep the security markets safe for the public. He has prepared a resolution for a thoroughgoing inquiry into the Federal Reserve System and its relation to speculative credit. Unquestionably, major financial investigations are in the offing. The House Committee on Banking and Currency, too, leans to the view that it is desirable to bring reserve board officials down to Capitol Hill about once a year to justify their policies and activities. The proposed King resolution has a special sting in its reference to inquiry about pool stocks. Any attempt to grill investment bankers and pool managers about their manipulative technique would doubtless be fruitful of thrills and sensations, though such questioning would prove unpopular with the witnesses. An impartial investigation would doubtless show that behind the current optimism toward selected stocks is the great current prosperity and also confidence concerning the future outlook.

MOVE IN CYCLES

Speculation and investment move in cycles. Last year, for example, railroad stocks were out of vogue, and did not participate in the forward movement of other classes of common stock. Since the St. Louis and O'Fallon decision, however, railroad stocks have been coming back into popularity. In addition to their improved legal status, railroad corporations this year have been accumulating unprecedented profits. Net operating income of 182 Class I railroads broke all records for May and for the first five months of this year.

The new volume of trade in the United States, without a proportionate increase in the national railroad plant, tends to assure more intensive use of the railroads. Coupled with superior management, the new status accounts for the new measure of railroad prosperity. Current peak earnings should enable the stronger carriers to take advantage of the new demand for common stocks to improve their capital structures by raising a larger proportion of new and refunding capital through the sale of equity issues, instead of fixed obligations. Despite the rise of the last month, railroad stocks continue to be more attractively priced in terms of known assets and established earning power than highly exploited industrial and public utility shares.

Files Suit

G. B. SMITH

Mr. Smith, former president, Ward Baking Company, New York, who has filed suit in the New York State Supreme Court for permission to examine books and records of the Ward Securities Corporation. He charges that net assets of about $10,000,000 on January 1, 1926, disappeared.

BOSCH FIRM'S INCOME UP

BOSTON, July 13. — Against profits, after all charges save taxes of $103,404 for the first half of 1928, American Bosch Magneto Corporation expects to show approximately $400,000 net on the same basis for the six months ended June 30 last. In other words, in the half-year period which, because of the markedly seasonal nature of the radio business, is far and away the poorest, profits this year have run four times the total of last.

Due to previous years' losses, tax reserve will not be up to the full percentage required, and it is thus likely that net for the half-year, after taxes, may run around $360,000. This would be equivalent to about $1.73 a share for the 207,399 no-par shares.

Radio sales promise to set up a new record this year, and output for the third quarter is entirely sold up. The company expects to sell all the machines it can turn out of its own product, and in addition has a big outside contract for loud speakers.

At present about 2,200 are being employed, but the next month or so will see an additional complement of 1,000.

The satisfactory feature of the Bosch operation is that it is involving no financial strain, bank credit of only $250,000 having been utilized. This will be liquidated in the active selling season in the autumn.

If earnings prospects of $8 a share or higher are in line for fulfilment later in the year, it is likely that consideration will be given to resumption of dividends in the final quarter. No distributions have been made since 1921.

United Gas Firm's Investments Listed

NEW YORK, July 13.—United Gas Improvement Company as of December 31 total investments were carried in balance sheet at $235,734,348. Of this total $176,803,109 represented securities of subsidiaries in which United Gas owned or controlled majority of voting capital stock and securities owned by these subsidiaries, $58,406,667 was invested in securities of companies not controlled by United Gas, and the remainder classed as miscellaneous investments.

California Gas Co. Gets Line Permit

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—California railroad commission has granted Southern California Gas Co., permit to build natural gas pipe lines from Kettleman Hills district to Kings and Fresno counties. Commission withheld action on application for permit to construct lines to Merced and Vadera counties on ground that these counties had not yet given Southern California Gas Co., franchises.

Transcontinental Capital Plan Approved

TULSA, Okla., July 13.—Stockholders of Transcontinental Oil Company have ratified the plan for retirement of the preferred stock and increase in authorized no par common stock to 7,000,000 shares from 4,000,000 shares.

Holders of preferred stock have the option until August 19 to take $135 a share cash for their holdings, including accrued dividends of $36 a share, or $90 a share and five shares of common stock.

Common stockholders of record July 23 have the right to subscribe at $90 a share for addtional common in the ratio of one new share for each two shares held. Rights expire August 19.

SEEK FEDERAL AIR RULES

WASHINGTON, July 13.—When it came to submitting to government regulation, the country's railroads, after a long struggle, succeeded in establishing the paramount character of Federal authority in their field. The younger automobile transport has grown up in practical acceptance of the theory that control over its operation is a state matter. Now, as the airplane pushes into commercial usage on a national scale, there seems to be evident an organized demand that its use should be considered a matter for Federal supervision, and that states should in practice resign authority to the National Government over air operations.

This matter is likely to be pretty fully tested out with the coming sessions of State Legislatures over the country this year. The industry in both its manufacturing and operating branches seems to prefer the Federal control. The argument for it, as set out by the Federal Aeronautical Organization, is that there is "imperative need for uniformity throughout the United States in the matter of airworthiness of aircraft, competency of airmen, and most particularly in the operation of aircraft in the air."

"The simplest way of accomplishing this seems to be the enactment of a state law which would, in effect, require all intrastate aircraft aid airmen to be Federally licensed," the last air commerce bulletin says on the point. "This at once sets up identical requirements and obviates the necessity of a state inspection system, with its attendant difficulties, complications and expenses."

If this view obtains, the outlook for regulation in the air will be fairly simple. It remains to be seen whether legislatures will assent. So far, most of them have left the subject untouched, which does not entirely satisfy the aviation world.

Mercury Market Supplied from Abroad

WASHINGTON, July 13.—America is dependent upon foreign sources for two-thirds of the mercury consumed in the United States, according to a study of the marketing of quicksilver just issued by the Minerals Division of the Department of Commerce. The full text of the Department's statement follows:

Mercury is one of several products for which the United States is at present partially dependent on foreign sources of supply. The United States produces only 7½ per cent of the total world output while consuming about 25 per cent. Spain and Italy are the chief factors in mercury production, their combined output in 1927 representing about 90 per cent of world production. During that year the total world output of mercury amounted to 5,600 tons. Together with the United States, Germany and the United Kingdom are the chief users of this metal.

Mercury is an exception among metals in that it is recovered without smelting, being distilled at the mines and shipped as a finished commercial product. The recovery of the metal from the ore is accomplished by vaporization at comparatively low temperatures.

By far the larger part of the mercury consumed is utilized in the drug and chemical manufacture, fulminates, vermillion red, anti-fouling paint, electrical apparatus and measuring instruments.

SHEET AND TUBE STOCK DIVIDEND

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 13.—Stockholders of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company will receive a 20 per cent stock dividend after August 20. At a meeting yesterday, directors voted the dividend contingent upon approval by the shareholders of an increase in the non-par value common shares from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000. The increase of 1,000,000 shares, of which but 200,000 will be issued to pay the stock dividend, is explained in that the company has had no treasury stock for a long time. The action is also interpreted as an initial move by Sheet and Tube to get its capital structure in shape for a combination of Midwest steel companies.

President James A. Campbell advises that earnings the first half were sufficient to warrant making the stock distribution.

COSTS LOWERED

"During the last four years," he advises, "we have reinvested a large portion of our earnings in modern improvements designed to lower costs of operation, and in extensions taking care of our steel capacity in diversified finishing lines. We have already spent more than $20,000,000 on these improvements, and others under way will cost about the same amount.

"Many of these improvements are now in operation and fully justify the expenditures made, increasing the earnings of the company by lowering costs.

"Youngstown Sheet and Tube has a record of paying stabilized cash dividends almost from its start. Conditions are now such that the continued payment of cash dividends on an increased amount of common capital seems assured."

MEETING CALLED

Directors have called a special stockholders' meeting for August 15 to approve the capital increase in common. The additional stock will be eligible for third quarter dividends, which will be declared in August. Since January 1, 1927, the company has been paying cash dividends on common stock at the rate of $5 per share yearly.

There has been no change in the company's common capital stock since 1923, when the old common was changed into no par value, and split four ways, giving stockholders 800,000 shares. Additional shares were issued at the time the Sheet and Tube Company absorbed the Brier Hill Steel Company, and the remaining few thousand shares from the original issue of 1,000,000 shares were subscribed for by employes 15 months ago.

AUTO LITE TO BUY BROWN

DETROIT, July 13.—Acquisition of the J. W. Brown Manufacturing Company by the Electric Auto-Lite is expected to be announced within a few days, although no official confirmation of the deal can be had at this time.

Reports in financial circles here are to the effect that Brown stockholders will receive a special cash dividend of $1.75 a share and afterward be given opportunity to exchange their stock for Electric Auto-Lite on the basis of 2¾ shares of Brown for one Auto-Lite.

It is understood that the merger, if consummated, will be contingent upon deposit of 66½ per cent of Brown stock, and it also is reported that the $1.75 cash dividend on Brown stock will not be paid if the consolidation is not effected.

Combination of the two companies is looked upon as logical by leading automotive interests here, who point out that both have many of the same customers. Auto-Lite manufactures starting and lighting systems, while Brown is a leading maker of automobile head-lamps.

OIL EXHAUSTION DECLARED UNLIKELY

U. S. Producing 68 Per Cent Of World Crude Supply Has Untold Resources

NEW YORK, July 13.—What is the life expectancy of the petroleum industry? How long will our oil resources last? What is the future of the oil business? These are questions that may justly be asked by thousands of investers in oil securities.

Here is an industry in which over 11 billion dollars are invested, more than twice the capital investment in steel production; an industry employing more than 1,350,000 people and an integral and vital factor in the commerce, transportation and manufacture of the world, that periodically is threatened with "imminent exhaustion of petroleum resources." Aside from the truth or falsity of the forecast, they have, in conjunction with the much discussed problem of overproduction resulted in no little confusion as to the future of the industry.

But what are the facts in the case? First of all let us consider the position of America in relation to the rest of the world.

U. S. IN PRODUCTION VAN

During 1928, Texas and Oklahoma each produced more petroleum than the three leading foreign countries—Venezuela, Russia, and Mexico—combined. The total production of the 20 oil producing States was about 68 per cent of the world's crude oil production, while our domestic consumption, exclusive of the addition to storage, was approximately 64 per cent of the world total while our percentage of the world's oil resources have been estimated at 18 per cent.

More than 24 countries outside the United States produce petroleum in greater or lesser quantities; 10 of these, Russia, Venezuela, Mexico, Persia, Roumania, the Netherlands, East Indies, Columbia, Peru, Argentina, and British India, together furnished in 1927, about 26 per cent of the world's oil, or in conjunction with the United States, more than 98 per cent. In most of the remaining 14 countries, which together supply less than 2 per cent of the world's oil, more intensive drilling may be expected to increase the output.

In more than 50 other countries, which at present produce no oil or gas, seepages or other visible indications as well as the general geology, encourage the belief that commercial pools will yet be discovered.

In the United States each decade since the beginning of the industry in 1859 has seen a volume of production equal to the total output throughout the whole previous history of the industry. Consumption of practically all oil products has increased remarkably, yet since 1900 we have had cycles of overproduction culminating in the existing cycle. Yet our estimate of recoverable reserves are constantly being revised upwards.

The reasons are many. Oil occupies a paradoxical position among minerals in the respect that new discoveries, new researches, and new developments have tended to increase rather than decrease the possibilities of its occurrence.

Technical progress in the methods of searching for oil, exploration, new methods of production, and almost unbelievable progress in refining efficiency, altogether with increasing efficiency in the utilization of oil are all constantly forcing upward revisions in the estimates of recoverable oil resources and equally extending the visible future of the petroleum industry several generations into the future.

In 1914, Ralph Arnold made a survey of the countries' future oil wealth, according to which the fields in Kansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Louisiana and Texas should now be "exhausted."

In 1915, the United States Geological Survey issued a revised estimate to include new fields not provided for in previous estimates.

In 1919, the chief geologist of the United States Geological Survey made a further revision, according to which at the present rate of production, there would only be a little more than 4½ years supply.

The estimate made in 1921 by the Survey with the cooperation of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists gave the entire United States a reserve of 9,150,000,000 barrels. Prior to this estimate, California had produced 1,427,383,000 barrels and it was allotted a total future production of 1,850,000,000 barrels. But since 1921, California has produced in excess of 650,000,000 barrels and the oil to be recovered from present producing wells and proven areas yet undrilled in California is estimated at 2,140,000000 barrels.

In other words, estimates of reserves are mere guesses which, although made in an authoritative manner, and many by the Government itself, are all within a period of 12 months or less proven valueless and must constantly be revised upwards.

NEW METHODS OF SEARCH

Of the many factors contributing to this situation we have the use of geophysical instruments in the search for oil. The seismograph, torsion balance, and magnetometer, combined with short wave length radio and airplane photography, have made it possible for geological parties to cover accurately 10,000 acres of prospective oil lands within the time and cost previously required for a few thousand acres. This has during the past few years brought into productivity vast areas which under the older methods of exploration would have required 10 to 20 years to discover. Under the older methods even though land had been classified as possible oil land, only one well in 20 drilled was productive, while under existing conditions of improved geological science this ratio is reduced to one in four.

To progress in this phase of the oil industry we owe many of the newer producing fields of Texas, Louisiana, and abroad in Mexico, Venezuela, Columbia and Persia.

In past years, even after oil was discovered, four barrels at least were left in the oil sands for every barrel produced, on account of the prohibitive costs of further recovery. Gas, supplying the force to propel the oil to the surface was freely vented or dissipated and once this was acomplished, a short term of pumping soon ended the life of the well.

SAVING GAS PRESSURE

Today, by conserving the gas pressure and in many cases supplementing this with air we not only prolong the productive life of the well, increase the rate of production, but in the use of natural gas as a fuel and a source of natural gas gasoline we have established two new industries of rapidly growing importance. At Seminole this practice has increased production at least 150,000 barrels a day. It has been known to swell the production of a single well from 300 to 5,000 barrels.

In some cases where the affinity of oil for the oil sands themselves can not be broken by the continuance of gas pressure supplemented by air, water is introduced to assist in this separation and float the oil to higher and more approachable levels. In the old Bradford fields of Pennsylvania the further introduction of an alkali soda ash in the water solution gives promise of greater success in this direction. The effect of the soda is to release the grip of the sand grains on the oil. Incidentally, it is notable that these Bradford fields have been yielding oil for 50 years, and are expected soon to produce more than they can profitably market under present conditions.

Crude Oil Tariff Would Force Prices Up

WASHINGTON, July 13. — American consumers would be forced to pay $200,000,000 annually additional for crude oil if proposed duty of from 60 cents to $1 per barrel on oil imported into United States is included in new tariff bill, H. Walker, representing American producers of oil in foreign fields, told Senate Tariff Committee. He said that $42,000,000 of this amount would be paid by railroads and $52,000,000 by American shippers.

Carroll H. Wegemann, also representing American oil companies abroad, said United States produces 67 per cent of world's oil. Results of a tariff on oil would be an increase in price of fuel oil and oil products to consumer. An increase in price of crude oil would, he said, cause extensive development of American oil fields and would deplete reserves. He said 91,000,000 barrels are now imported from foreign fields. There have been 11,500,000,000 barrels of oil produced in United States since 1859. In the next 10 years, he said, 13,000,000,000 barrels would be used. Wegemann pointed out that foreign oil imported into United States is produced by American companies, using American labor and materials.

RAYON MARKET GLUTTED

LONDON, July 13.—The Times points out that as the Courtaulds interim dividend of 4 per cent is so small, compared with last year's final distribution, the action of the directors in making the cut must tend to draw pointed attention to the current conditions in the rayon industry. It recalls the timely warning of Samuel Courtauld, at the annual meeting, regarding over-production.

While subsequent reductions in selling prices have done something toward remedying the disparity between production and consumption, the Times finds, they have not yet restored the trade's previous prosperity. "Indeed, only last month, a further price cut was made by one of the American producers," the paper concludes.

Taxi Firm Surplus Reported $151,260

NEW YORK, July 13.—Parmalee Transportation Co., reports for two months ended June 30, surplus of $151,260. After accrued bond interest taxes and preferred dividends equal to 60 cents a share on 250,000 common shares. These earnings represent actual net receipts and do not include proportionate amount of earnings accruing to the company on its stockholdings in other companies. Parmalee took over the Pittsburgh Yellow Cab Company this week.

National Lead Sells Harvey Interest

NEW YORK, July 13.—National Lead Company has sold interest in Williams Harvey & Co. Ltd., in which it had half ownership, to Patino Mines and Enterprises Consolidated, Inc., subject to approval by stockholders of the latter company. A special meeting for that purpose has been called for October 15.

At the same time S. I. Patino has agreed to sell his personal interest in Williams Harvey, which comprises the other half interest in that company, to the Patino Mines. National Lead will receive £18 10s a share for its 36,000 shares of Williams Harvey, which in American money will net it between $3,200,000 and $3,300,000.

Stock Exchange Topics

Rise of Five Points Takes A. T. & T. Into New Record Territory.

A FURTHER rise of almost five points carried American Telephone and Telegraph into new record territory, with the stock reaching 250, where it showed an upturn of some 53 points from the low level reached a short time ago, coincident with the deduction of the value of subscription "rights" from its market price. Buying on a large scale was stimulated by the publication of its semi-annual statement showing net equivalent to $6.15 a share on the average of 13,028,807 shares outstanding during the first half year, compared with net equal to $6.17 a share on 11,117,545 shares during the first half of 1928. Total earnings when segregated, were interpreted as reflecting the increasing return coming to the company through its talking movie patents held by subsidiaries.

A somewhat better feeling exists in the financial district at the moment, though the conservative observers are still advocating discrimination in making buying selections. However, it is evident that most advices are for purchases of the leading stocks on any good technical reaction. Such setbacks should come from time to time in order to correct the market situation, but it is probable that many will use downward movements for buying the leaders. Stop orders are being advocated to protect accounts against any sudden change in trend which might develop through factors which are now unforeseen. Pools are active again and are talking higher prices for their favorites.

RAILWAY shares, led by the seasoned dividend payers, came into renewed prominence during the morning. The swing to the rails may have reflected in part switching by traders who were becoming somewhat nervous over the pace of the rise in other sections of the list in the past fortnight. But the aggressive character of the buying suggested it was of more significance than representing merely switching of speculative favor. New York Central vied with Atchison for the position of leadership, both stocks reaching new record levels with advances of five points and three points respectively. Shares of the granger roads also were unusually active, presumably being bought in anticipation of the Interstate Commerce Commission's report on class freight rates, which will come down within a few weeks after a study of several years by that body.

The steady accumulation of New York, New Haven and Hartford by strong New England interests is accepted in the street as reflecting the confidence of those closest to the situation with regard to the increased earning power of this carrier and the prospects of an early increase in the dividend rate. At the same time the condition of road bed and equipment is being steadily improved, thus permitting economies that will further add to the earnings of the road.

CONTINENTAL CAN met brisk demand around the record level reached yesterday. Spectacular strength in American Can has been effective in turning attention to its chief competitor, which incidentally is regarded as being considerably behind the market as compared with many other stocks when its prospects are considered. This year promises to be productive of record-making vegetable and fruit packs, as a result of the slack that developed last year. And the fact that in the interval dealers' shelves in consequence were permitted to run down to unusually low levels. Continental Can, like American Can, naturally would benefit extensively. Neither company is an actual packer, but between them they supply the bulk of the needs of the fruit and vegetable packers.

A large short interest is said to be tied up in Remington Rand and urgent covering has been noted during recent spurts. Meanwhile, in commission houses, there is a growing feeling of optimism regarding the future earnings and price of the stock. Much significance is attached to the fact that among the recent additions to the board was an individual who is also a director of National Cash Register and a member of the stock exchange firm which was given so much credit for the sharp advance in the last named stock just a year ago. This has been widely commented upon and has resulted in active public buying of Remington Rand.

SAFEWAY TO ADD UNITS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—Acquisition of a chain of 11 individual grocery stores operated under the name of Skaggs Cash Stores, Inc., is contemplated but hos not been consummated, M. B. Skagg, president Safeway Stores, Inc., told the New York News Bureau today. The stores are located in Santa Rosa, Sebastapol, Petaluma, Ukiah and the East San Francisco Bay district. Net worth of the stores, which have been operated by S. A. Skagg independently of Safeway Stores, Inc., as of December 31, 1928, is reported $99,386, with earnings at the rate of $35,511 annually.

The State Corporation Commission today authorized organization of Skaggs Cash Stores, Inc., to take over the 11 individual stores. Capitalization consists of 2,000 common shares of $100 par. Commission also authorized issuance of three qualifying directors' shares and 900 shares to S. A. Skagg as payment for business and assets.

WARD ADOPTS CHANGE IN POSTAGE

Prepayment Plan Expected To Benefit Mail Order Concern's Business Volume

NEW YORK, July 13.—The inauguration of a policy of postage payment by Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc., which went into effect July 1 last, is expected to have a beneficial effect upon the business volume of the company, according to those usually well informed on the company's affairs.

A competitor of Montgomery Ward introduced this policy in May in time for the spring business with the result that sales of this company showed a considerable increase for the two months that the policy has been in vogue. It is the opinion of many that Montgomery Ward should experience a sales increase similar to the more than 45 per cent gain reported by Sears, Roebuck during the past postage payment period.

It has been estimated, and this estimate is still held by those close to the company, that sales volume for the current year will reach the $300,000,000 mark. Six months' sales this year totaled $122,807,540, which compares with $96,567,915 for the corresponding period of 1928, or a gain of 27.2 per cent. Sales volume for the previous periods of this year showed an average gain of more than 30 per cent over the sale volume of the same periods of last year. The drop in percentage gain for the six months' period as against the previous periods of the current year, it is said, was due to the keener competition resulting from the postage paying policy. With Ward meeting this policy a sharp upturn in percentage gain in sales is anticipated for the remaining months of the year.

EARNINGS PROSPECTS

It is the opinion in these circles that Montgomery Ward's margin of profit during the present year should be at least as good if not better than the 9.13 per cent returned as net during the preceding year. On the sales volume of the first half of the year, should the 1928 margin of 9.13 per cent have been returned as yet, earnings of more than $10,000,000 would be more than a possibility. Such earnings for the first-half would be equal to about $3 a share on the common stock outstanding.

One of the company's immediate objectives, it is said, is to bring the margin of profit during the current year closer to 10 cents on the dollar. On the huge sales volume of Ward the slightest increase in the margin of profits would be registered in an appreciable way in the per share earnings on common stock. Gain in sales volume will easily offset any increase in operating expenses due to the postage policy. The savings of an additional cent on each dollar of sales of a $300,000,000 volume, it is caluculated, would mean, on the 4,564,878 shares of common stock outstanding after Aug. 26, an increase of 68 cents a share.

An important factor that will aid a great deal in realizing the sales volume as estimated for the current year is the company's continued expansion. It is now said that the company will be operating 500 retail stores by the end of the year. Of this number 100 are scheduled to be opened during the last quarter, which should mean that sales gain for the latter half of the year should be lifted well in advance of that reported for the first half.

UNITS WIDELY SCATTERED

A good idea of the scope of Montgomery Ward's operations may be gained from a review of the geographic distribution of the company's outlets. A recent compilation of the number of the company's general merchandise chain stores in operation showed 102 located in territory served by the Chicago mail order house; 54 in the Baltimore house section; 43 in the Kansas City house territory; 25 in the St. Paul house; 10 in the Albany house; 5 in the Denver house, and in the southwestern section of the country 20 stores in the Fort Worth territory; 34 in its Oakland house section, and 24 in its Portland division. It was stated recently that the company served more than 12,000,000 families.

A strong financial status was reported by the company as of December 31, 1928. The ratio of current assets to current liabilities as of that date was more than 5 to 1. Total current assets amounted to $91,307,658 as against current liabilities of $17,193,793, leaving net working capital of $74,113,865. Cash totaled $13,942,738, while inventories were reported as $59,762,945. Profit and loss surplus aggregated $45,597,906 as compared with $35,680,257 for the same item a year ago.

George B. Everitt, president of the company, in a letter to stockholders stated it was his intention to recommend to the board of directors that the dividend rate on the common stock be increased from $2.50 a share annually to $3, to be effective with the November payment.

Swedish Match Buys Belgian Company

STOCKHOLM, July 13.—(AP.)—Control of the Belgian match industry has been taken over by Swedish match company interests, it was today announced in Stockholm, and although there is no government monopoly involved, this will add another nation to the list of those whose match business is co-ordinated with the Swedish organization.

The Belgian match interests in Turkey had already been acquired by the Kreuger interests, which also control the International Match Corporation, an American concern, as well as Krueger & Toll, an international investment house.

Western Electric Sales Take Spurt

NEW YORK, July 13.—Western Electric Company sales for six months ended June 30 totaled 194,694,000, an increase of $64,186,000 over the first half of 1928.

SEE LOSS FOR MANHATTAN ELECTRIC

Six Months' Operations to Show Deficit as Against First Half Profit in 1928

NEW YORK, July 13.—Report of Manhattan Electrical Supply Company for the first half of this year is expected to show a deficit, which will compare with a profit of $71,899, after depreciation, interest, etc., but before federal taxes, in the corresponding period of last year. Company's liquid status, however, probably will be as good as at the end of 1928 when current assets to current liabilities were in the ratio of better than 5 to 1, with no bank indebtedness.

Manhattan has been devoting its efforts toward an internal reorganization of its various companies and their preper co-ordination in the interest of economical production. A clearing up of its financial structure also has been undertaken and a reflection of this was apparent to some extent in the report for last year.

Although there was an operating profit of $184,958 in that year, extraordinary losses of $969,942 and setting aside of reserves offset this so that a deficit of $742,305 ensued. This was charged against earned surplus converting that account into a deficit of $317,745, and reducing capital surplus to $369,199, from $686,945.

Principal among extraordinary losses last year was the writing-off of obsolescent inventories by $352,038 and development expenses by $333,507. Upkeep of idle plant took $78,826; loss from sales, dismantling, etc., of fixed assets, $62,978 and amortization of bond discount and expenses $60,545.

A further writing down of intangibles is expected, involving patents, goodwill, etc., which on December 31, last, amounted to $3,495,695, a reduction from a year previously of $121,320. Other deferred charges included $473,677 of unamortized expenses on 6½ per cent bond issue and $62,500 for special advertising.

To provide additional working capital and to repay its bank loans, Manhattan in December, last, issued an additional 32,500 shares of capital stock bringing the total outstanding issue to 162,500 shares. With plans for the cleaning up of its finances, it is not likely that resumption of dividends may come for a long time. Omission of payments was made in September, last, previous to which dividends at the rate of $5 annually had been paid.

NOTICE is hereby given that Ordinance, copy of which is published herewith, was introduced in Council of the City of Pittsburgh on June 10, 1929, pursuant to the provisions of the several Acts of Assembly, authorizing said City, without any petition of property owners, to open, widen, straighten, extend, vacate, grade, pave, curb, macadamize and otherwise improve streets and alleys or parts thereof, within its limits, viz.:

BILL NO. 5267.

AN ORDINANCE — Authorizing and directing the grading, paving and curbing of Plainview avenue, from Brookline boulevard to Jillson street; letting a contract therefor, and providing that the costs, damages and expenses of the same be assessed against and collected from property specially benefited thereby.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That Plainview avenue, from Brookline boulevard to Jillson street, be graded, paved and curbed.

SECTION 2. The Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works are hereby authorized and directed to advertise, in accordance with the Acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the Ordinances of the said City of Pittsburgh relating thereto and regulating the same, for proposals for the grading, paving and curbing of said street between said points; the contract or contracts therefor to be let in the manner directed by the said Acts of Assembly and Ordinances; and the contract price or contract prices, if let in separate contracts, not to exceed the total sum of Fourteen Thousand Five Hundred ($14,500.00) Dollars, which is the estimate of the whole cost as furnished by the Department of Public Works.

SECTION 3. The costs, damages and expenses of the same shall be assessed against and collected from properties specially benefited thereby, in accordance with the provisions of the Acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating thereto and regulating the same, and the City's share of said work to be chargeable to and payable from Bond Fund 293, Street Improvement Bonds 1928.

SECTION 4. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

NOTICE is hereby given that Ordinance copy of which is published herewith, was introduced in the Council of the City of Pittsburgh on June 26, 1929, pursuant to the provisions of the several Acts of Assembly authorizing said City, without any petition of property owners, to open, widen, straighten, extend, vacate, grade, pave, curb, macadamize and otherwise improve

SECTION 4. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

Notice is hereby given that Ordinance, copy of which is published herewith, was introduced in Council of the City of Pittsburgh on June 26, 1929, pursuant to the provisions of the several Acts of Assembly authorizing said City, without any petition of property owners, to open, widen, straighten, extend, vacate, grade, pave, curb, macadamize and otherwise improve streets and alleys, or parts thereof, within its limits, viz:

BILL NO. 5460.

AN ORDINANCE—Widening Clayton street in the Twenty-fifth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh at the intersection of Divinity street and providing that the costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That Clayton avenue, in the Twenty-fifth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh at the intersection of Divinity street be and the same is hereby widened to a variable width by taking for public use for highway purposes all the following described property, to-wit:

Beginning at the intersection of the present easterly line of Clayton avenue and the southerly line of Divinity street; thence extending eastwardly along the southerly line of Divinity street 10.0 feet to a point; thence southwardly 26.02 feet to the present easterly line of Clayton avenue at the intersection of the dividing line between properties now or late of Ralph S. Pifer and Cora B. Caldwell; thence northwardly along the present easterly line of Clayton avenue 24.0 feet to the place of beginning.

SECTION 2. The Department of Public Works is hereby authorized and directed to cause said Clayton avenue in the Twenty-fifth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh at the intersection of Divinity street to be widened in conformity with the provisions of Section 1 of this ordinance.

SECTION 3. The costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby and the benefits to pay the same shall be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby in accordance with the provisions of the Acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating thereto and regulating the same.

SECTION 4. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

Notice is hereby given that Ordinances, copies of which are published herewith, were introduced in the Council of the City of Pittsburgh on July 8, 1929, pursuant to the provisions of the several Acts of Assembly authorizing said City without any petition of property owners, to open, widen, straighten, extend, vacate, grade, pave, curb, macadamize and otherwise improve streets and alleys, or parts thereof, within its limits, viz:

BUGS BAER Says

OFF FOR THE ICY NORTH

"Bugs" Baer

HAVING worked under the guiding hand of Mr. Brisbane for many years, we have reached that stage in self-reliance and gratitude where we would like to pick an argument with him.

He states that Secretary Mellon never planned a seven-foot wall of barbed wire between this nation and Canada.

He further remarks that the Secretary would not be that nonsensical.

There is nothing nonsensical about any of our great men. Even the King of England admits now that Ambassador Dawes is a gentleman, pants or no pants.

The idea of the seven-foot barrier of barbed hardware was to prevent tourists and bootleggers from running through the bottle orchards of Canada.

Which is where we disagree with Mr. Brisbane. We do more than advocate a seven-foot wall.

But leave doors in it.

Do you think for a half-witted minute that a government of the people, for the people and at the people, is going to be studied by a bulwark of barbed wire? The answer is a flock of negatives.

Barbed wire may stop cattle. It may stop sheep. But against human citizens it has about as much chance as a moth on the sun.

Wrap a cul-de-sac of barbed wire around the detours and we will batter our way through it in heedless ambition. Bring on your parapets and your embattlements of barbed wire in triplicate, of stinging and gouging rosettes of metal in mineographed atrocities, of frecious bouquets of flesh rendering inquisitions.

Bring on all your man-made barriers. Will it stop us?

How can barbed wire stop us?

We have been drinking it for 10 years.

And echo answered, "Ditto."

Have your walls of four-leaf barbs at least 21 feet high. And the tourists will burrow under it like mice and fly above it like eccentric eagles.

Find the least common denominator of seven feet of wire and multiply it by the Eighteenth Amendment. Add to it all the horns of all the unicorns and all the bridgework of the saber-toothed tiger. And your tourist will laugh as he bounces happily into Canada. He will even stop a glorious second to kiss a porcupine.

We agree that our laws must have teeth.

But when the fillings cost more than extraction, why, we say, yank 'em out.

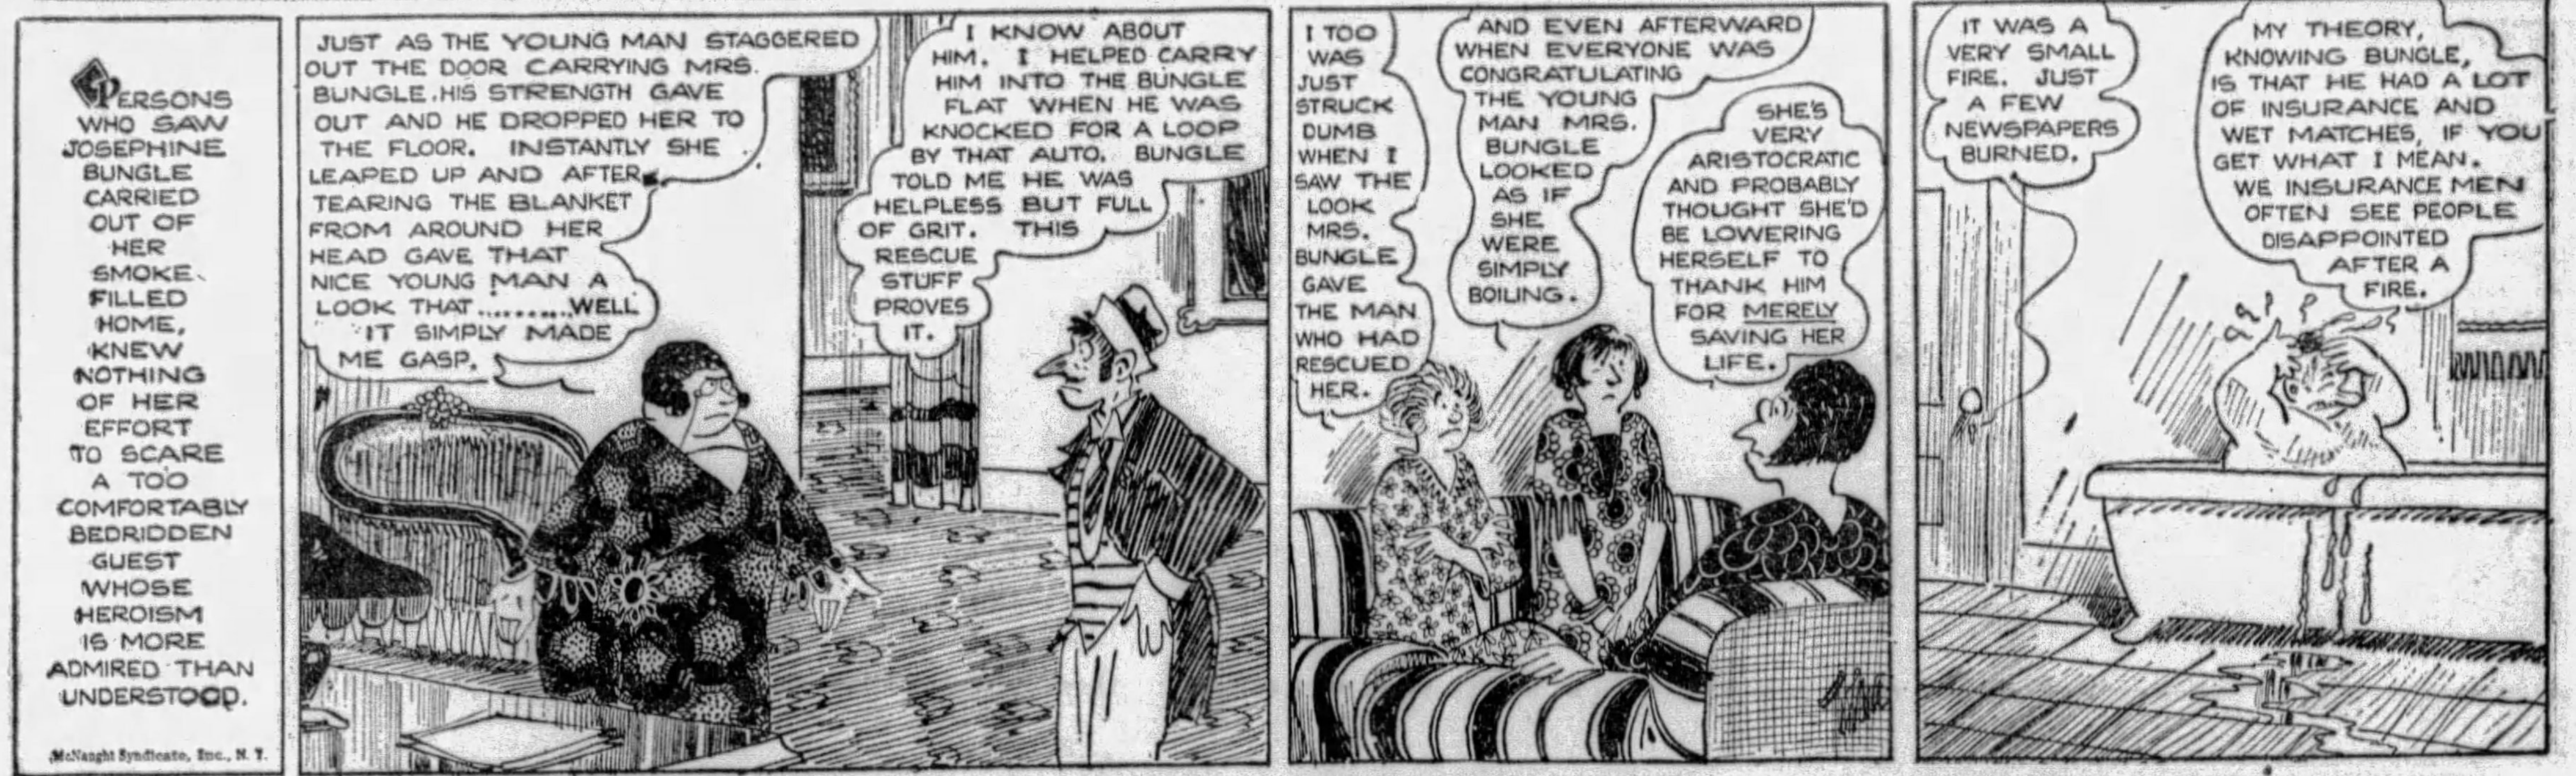
THE BUNGLE FAMILY

Critics

By Tuthill



PERSONS WHO SAW JOSEPHINE BUNGLE CARRIED OUT OF HER SMOKE-FILLED HOME, KNEW NOTHING OF HER EFFORT TO SCARE A TOO COMFORTABLY BEDRIDDEN GUEST WHOSE HEROISM IS MORE ADMIRED THAN UNDERSTOOD.
JUST AS THE YOUNG MAN STAGGERED OUT THE DOOR CARRYING MRS. BUNGLE, HIS STRENGTH GAVE OUT AND HE DROPPED HER TO THE FLOOR. INSTANTLY SHE LEAPED UP AND AFTER TEARING THE BLANKET FROM AROUND HER HEAD GAVE THAT NICE YOUNG MAN A LOOK THAT........WELL IT SIMPLY MADE ME GASP.
I KNOW ABOUT HIM. I HELPED CARRY HIM INTO THE BUNGLE FLAT WHEN HE WAS KNOCKED FOR A LOOP BY THAT AUTO. BUNGLE TOLD ME HE WAS HELPLESS BUT FULL OF GRIT. THIS RESCUE STUFF PROVES IT.
I TOO WAS JUST STRUCK DUMB WHEN I SAW THE LOOK MRS. BUNGLE GAVE THE MAN WHO HAD RESCUED HER.
AND EVEN AFTERWARD WHEN EVERYONE WAS CONGRATULATING THE YOUNG MAN MRS. BUNGLE LOOKED AS IF SHE WERE SIMPLY BOILING.
SHE'S VERY ARISTOCRATIC AND PROBABLY THOUGHT SHE'D BE LOWERING HERSELF TO THANK HIM FOR MERELY SAVING HER LIFE.
IT WAS A VERY SMALL FIRE. JUST A FEW NEWSPAPERS BURNED.
MY THEORY, KNOWING BUNGLE, IS THAT HE HAD A LOT OF INSURANCE AND WET MATCHES, IF YOU GET WHAT I MEAN. WE INSURANCE MEN OFTEN SEE PEOPLE DISAPPOINTED AFTER A FIRE.

Thought for today—

Be that as it may, Dr. Hickson, psychiatrist, reports that the typical Chicago gangster is only twelve years old, mentally.

Puzzle: Then what is the mental age of the typical Chicago policeman?

And yet they grumble that Chicago policemen aren't doing anything to stamp out lawlessness.

BULL-ETIN

(News Item)

"Relativity and the Einstein theory will be explained by Dr. D. M. Morandini, professor of mathematics and physics from Budapest, Hungary, at the library Tuesday at 8 p. m.

"I'd like to meet him," she lisped. 'One of those dashing French officers, I suppose."

"Admiration," says the Rt. Rev. Wiley, "is that feeling which men have for a girl just so long as she is walking on the other side of the street."

THEM'S FIGHTING WORDS, MISTER

(Leonard Hall in "Photoplay")

"From unimpeachable sources I give you the pet names of the John Barrymore-Dolores Costello royal family.

"She is his 'little egg.'

"He is her 'winkie-dee.'"

"Would you say," asks Edwin O'Brien, "that Serge wasn't true blue, or didn't wear well, or got shiny or something?"

* * *

FRISBY QUICKLY RECOVERS FROM HEAT COLLAPSE

Accepts First Aid.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Half crazed from the heat of argument, Congressman Frisby suddenly collapsed yesterday, thus blocking the center aisle in the House of Representatives for nearly 30 minutes. Other Congressmen were forced to step over his body in order to reach the cloak room. Several of his enemies accidentally stepped on Mr. Frisby's face. He was finally revived by an ice cream cone. The Congressman, visibly shaken, ripped off his coat and vest and offered to fight for the people. Fortunately, everyone had left the hall, so no disturbance was recorded on the seismograph at Smithsonian Institution.

City-County Airport Contract Is Awarded

Among important public works for which the Board of County Commissioners yesterday awarded contracts were the City-County Airport, on Lebanon Church road, Mifflin Township; Ohio River boulevard and McKees Rocks-Woods Run Bridge. The latter two projects are important public improvements representing steps in an extraordinary program, which the airport is official recognition of the fact that the new method of transportation requires that communities be prepared to step into the procession of progress or stand on the sidelines and watch the parade go by.

The issue of the Sun-Telegraph that announced the awarding of the airport and other contracts also stated that a new aerial passenger service between Pittsburgh and Akron will begin Monday, with airplane connection for Detroit in the Ohio city. And additional news about the courses in aeronautics to begin at the University of Pittsburgh, summer classes in which are to begin Monday.

Although Pittsburgh has several landing fields, the City-County Airport, to be constructed, with financial aid of the city, through a people's bond issue of the county, will be the aviation center of this part of the country when it is completed. The time allowed the successful bidder for the work is 250 days, or slightly more than eight months.

With all of this activity, it is safe to assume that Pittsburgh is becoming air-minded in one respect at least. Greater use of the air-mail and patronage for the passenger service will be a more direct evidence of our faith in that which we are all trying to promote through boosting.

Exposure of Tariff Facts Prompted by Democrats

Slowly but surely the Democrats of the Senate, aided by a dozen progressive Republican Senators and supported by an overwhelming public sentiment, are dragging into the light the salient facts about the Republican party's tariff-for-extortion bill.

It is not an easy task because the Republican tariff makers seem to be doing their best to keep from the American people the real truth about the oppressively high schedules tucked away in the tariff bill as it passed the House.

This measure has astounded the American people and alarmed their customers the world around.

More than 20 foreign governments have addressed courteous but urgent communications to our Department of State, pointing out the bad effect upon their trade relations with this country which the proposed tariff increases would have.

As fast as these communications were received the President transmitted them to the Republican chairman of the Senate Committee on Finance for the information of the Senate.

Instead of making these notes public, the Republican members of the Finance Committee suppressed them until the Democratic leaders of the Senate denounced this deception and demanded the immediate publication of all these foreign representations.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the minority leader of the Senate, spoke not only for his fellow Democrats but for his fellow Americans outside his own party when he said:

"If we are going to give offense to certain foreign countries and are going to injure our own foreign trade by bringing about retaliatory measures, then before such steps are taken, the American people are entitled to know all the facts in the matter."

And another Democrat, Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, in supporting the protest of Senator Robinson warned the Republican tariff makers in these words:

"There is no phase of the tariff controversy now pending in the country more important than the effect the passage of this law will have in foreign countries on our trade and commerce. The public is entitled to know the character of these protests and the Finance Committee should make them public."

Of course no defense can be made for the attempt of the Republican party to keep these vital facts secret.

That attempt was nothing less than a concerted effort to conceal from the American people the threat to their foreign trade and the jeopardy to their prosperity that lurk in the tariff bill as the Republican party jammed it through the House and is trying to jam it through the Senate.

All the credit for compelling the Republican Senators to make public the communications from foreign governments bearing upon this indefensible tariff bill belongs to the Democrats of the Senate and the progressive Republican Senators that are co-operating with them.

This progressive coalition can write a tariff law that will help the farmer and the wage earners of this country by protecting their home market without destroying their foreign market, if only the coalition will hold together and continue to fight for reasonable protection and against outrageous extortion.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

I'VE been picking wood ticks off my dog, Laddie.

Ever see a tick?

They're not much to look at. Small, round, flat bugs—seemingly innocent of all offense. Why, if you weren't on to them, you'd take a wood tick into your heart and home with never a suspicious thought.

But oh, boy, just wait until they get into action!

A wood tick will sink his face into a trusting hide and from that time on you're His Pantry! From a mere blob an eighth of an inch in diameter he rapidly becomes the size of a young grape. There are, as far as I know, no limits to how much of you a wood tick will consume if you'll let him.

Picking wood ticks off my dog Laddie, I thought of other ticks I've known—

Two-legged ticks of identical habits that infest all the trails of life—

False friends, hangers on, who attach themselves to you and proceed to consume your time, money, energy.

Laddie has nothing on the average citizen when it comes to toting parasites. The woods are full of 'em—particularly in these make-whoopee days.

MOST OF US COULD ELIMINATE JUST ABOUT THREE-QUARTERS OF OUR ASSOCIATES AND BE HEALTHIER AND HAPPIER AS A CONSEQUENCE.

Nor are people our only parasites. There are parasitic notions and parasitic habits which attach themselves like wood ticks to our lives.

We get notions that sap our growth as thoroughly as any beastie from the chaparral. Fool prejudices, cock-eyed ideas, silly superstitions—they attach themselves to us in youth and hang on through life.

There's Ed for example. Ed's a bright, forceful person, but he spoils all his opportunities by imagining that "people are against him." Life's just one feud after another for Ed. He's sure that society has it in for him. A regular wood tick notion—it started when he was a youngster, and it has been chewing on him ever since. It was just a pretty peeve when it started, but now it has grown so big that it has consumed his whole life.

Easy enough for us to see Ed's wood ticks, but mighty hard to see our own. Yet each one of us has notions which are quite as tenacious and vicious.

Wood tick habits, too—habits of excusing ourselves, blaming the other fellow, putting things off, losing our tempers—habits that sap our energy as surely as the tick sucks blood.

Like the tick, they're seemingly innocent at first. Trivial self-indulgences that we admit to our program without a thought—but presently they have demolished our pride and honor and ambition.

LOOK OUT FOR TICKS!

KEEP YOUR MIND AND YOUR LIFE FREE OF PARASITES!

Bible Passages

The New Jerusalem

(Revelations 21; 9-18)

AND there came unto me one of the seven angels which had the seven vials full of the seven last plagues, and talked with me, saying, Come hither, I will show thee the bride, the Lamb's wife.

And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and high mountain, and showed me that great city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God.

Having the glory of God: and her light was like unto a stone most precious, even like a jasper stone, clear as crystal;

And had a wall great and high, and had twelve gates, and at the gates twelve angels, and names written thereon, which are the names of the twelve tribes of the children of Israel:

On the east three gates, on the north three gates, on the south three gates, and on the west three gates.

And the wall of the city had twelve foundations, and in them the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.

And he that talked with me had a golden reed to measure the city, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.

And the city lieth foursquare, and the length is as large as the breadth: and he measured the city with the reed, twelve thousand furlongs. The length and the breadth and the height of it are equal.

And he measured the wall thereof, an hundred and forty and four cubits, according to the measure of a man, that is, of the angel.

And the building of the wall of it was of jasper: and the city was pure gold, like unto clear glass.

The Swimmers

THE swimmers dwell in
A world made new;
Below, blue waters;

A world all gay,
With mermaids singing
Through flying spray.
There cares forgotten,
Fall far behind,
Like seaweed scattered
By sweet salt wind.
The swimmers linger
Far out from shore,
Their laughter floating
Through breakers' roar.
Blue deeps below them,
Blue sky above,
Blue waves as buoyant
As God's own love!

Isn't It So?

A stubborn fountain pen often interrupts a man's flow of thoughts.

GOING UP!

By Herbert Kaufman

BUSINESS personnels are slated for drastic reorganization. Several thousand sales managers, traveling men and auditors, who refuse to become air-minded, will very soon be seeking new jobs and assuming duties which permit them to remain on TERRA FIRMA.

Labor must increasingly expect to meet invading robots, and the white collar group may as well realize that the aeroplane has begun to cast its shadow on THEIR destiny.

Commerce is compelled to use every time-saving device and method which pace-making adopts.

The clock is final arbiter of operating costs, and any system that gives ONE concern an advantage over ANOTHER is certain to take its pound of flesh from non-conformists.

THE inauguration of a regular coast-to-coast train-and-plane schedule, reducing the period between New York and San Francisco to 48 HOURS, leaves manufacturers and professional folk with no alternative but to sky-ride.

The drummer who can show samples days ahead of competition, and the expert, prepared to fill the bill twice as expeditiously as a rival office, will manifestly stand a BETTER chance to land the cream of orders and commissions.

Mounting expenses won't tolerate laggard ways and their NEEDLESS delays.

Service wins ALL down the LINE, and no slow-poke establishment can hope to HOLD its ground by sticking THERE.

The locomotive, the elevator, the telephone, each in turn, played a due part in changing the signs along Success Street.

CONSERVATIVE establishments which too long postponed the adoption of superior instruments of transportation, communication and convenience, were trampled under the heels of progress and lost in the shuffle.

Procrastination and failure are synonyms.

Slow-poke, Wait-awhile and Company, who couldn't be induced to replace their wagon teams with motor trucks, foundered in the RED-INK WELL before they traced the dwindling of sustaining patronage to an OBSOLETE delivery department.

Just as the former lease-holder of their store had belatedly discovered that impatient shoppers wouldn't put up with the nuisance of CASH-BOYS, while the shop around the corner was speeding sales traffic with PNEUMATIC TUBES.

THE cloak and suit buyer who can jump to market and back again in the SAME week, bringing home the latest models while "Bon Ton" and "White Palace" representatives are still EN ROUTE to Metropolitan showrooms, will obviously have the more successful season.

And the bond seller who manages to flit about the country on synthetic wings, like the OTHER early birds, gets all the choice pickings.

Promotion ladders are leading into the CLOUDS. "'Fraid cats" and hang-backs, take warning accordingly.

Efficiency is a cold-blooded taskmaster, interested solely in the profit and loss account, and the folk READIEST to SERVE it.

You're due for the cockpit or a less RESPONSIBLE engagement, so take a few preliminary trips in a sight-seeing skim-about and grow accustomed to the INEVITABLE.

It's bound to come "EVENTUALLY"—so why not practice "NOW?"

MAN AND THE UNIVERSE

By Archibald Henderson

AS we look about us and note the comparatively trivial affairs, local issues, and unimportant concerns over which people become excited, struggle, fight, and even kill each other and themselves, we are astounded. And for a very simple reason. Man is such an infinitesimal part of the universe. The earth itself is the merest speck in the cosmos. As we stand looking up at the sky on a clear night, we are overcome with a consciousness of the immensity of the Milky Way. The great galaxy overpowers us with its awfulness and immensity.

Recent investigations have tended to dwarf us all still farther. Outside of the Milky Way are many other galaxies or groups of solar systems revolving around some central nucleus. If the astronomers' calculations be even approximately correct, it is highly probable that there are thousand of these great galaxies. Although they appear through the telescope as faint star clusters or nebulous whirls of light, they are sufficiently immense to deserve the title of "island universes."

It is well to bear in mind some sense of relation in conjunction with the greatest of heavenly bodies. Not until very recently have astronomers pretty generally accepted the theory that these remote galaxies are island universes, some of which are more than one hundred million light-years away. To extend that figure to miles, we should have to multiply 100,000,000 by 186,000 by the number of seconds in a year. Consider for a moment the staggering dimensions of some of the stars which appear as minute and tiny specks in the sky. Arcturus, Canopus, Betelgeuse, for example, are many times larger than our entire solar system. If Betelgeuse were as near to us as is the Sun, the entire sky would be blotted out.

There is a wide difference of opinion among astronomers regarding the dimensions of the Milky Way. Prof. Harlow Shapley estimates that it has a diameter 300,000 light years in length. There is again a marked difference of opinion regarding the dimensions of the universe as a whole. Taking Shapley's figures again, we should have to lay 10,000 Milky Ways end to end to reach across the universe. The ratio of the weight of the material universe to the Sun is represented by the figure one followed by 18 ciphers.

In a recent popular detective story, the detective asks: "Is it any wonder that workers in such stupendous magnitudes should sometimes lose all sense of earthly proportion?—Toying with the simple idea of infinity is enough to unhinge the average man's mind." The murderer in that story is a mathematical physicist; and the detective suggests the following explanation, in part, for the series of murders which be committed: "Is it surprising that a man dealing in such colossal immeasurable concepts, wherein the individuals of human society are infinitesimal, might in time lose all sense of relative values on earth, and come to have an enormous contempt for human life? The comparatively insignificant affairs of this world would then become mere petty intrusions on the macrocosmos of his mental consciousness."

Such a conception is conceivable in the case of an atheist, who not only does not believe in God, but who has no sense of the dignity and nobility of human life. Such a personality would represent a pronounced pathological case, a type specimen in psychology. But the natural supposition even in the case of the normal individual would be that as investigations show the staggering immensity of the universe, the sense of his own insignificance would correspondingly increase.

But a deeper thought will come. Infinitesimal as man appears from a purely material standpoint, he really gains in dignity and greatness. He is the interpreter, the mighty brain, which grasps, analyzes and estimates this vast cosmos. We are reminded of the memorable words of the great astronomer, Laplace: "Given for one instant an intelligence which could comprehend all the forces by which nature is animated and the respective positions of the being which compose it, if moreover this intelligence were vast enough to submit these data of analysis, it would embrace in the same formula both the movements of the largest bodies in the universe and those of the lightest atom; to it nothing would be uncertain, and the future as the past would be present to its eyes. The human mind offers a feeble outline of that intelligence, in the perfection which it has given to astronomy. Its discoveries in mechanics and geometry, to that of universal gravity, have enabled it to comprehend in the same analytical expressions the past and future states of the world system."

Britain Studies America

Ambassador General Dawes Is a Typical American.

LONG NOSES—STRONG MEN

Hundreds of editorials will be written about Mr. Stimson. This one is about Gen. Dawes, whom the British now study as a "typical American."

Gen. Dawes is, to put it mildly, thoroughly UN-BRITISH.

His hat and the angle at which he wears it; his suit, with the wide stripes; his high stiff collar of the Victorian period and his corncob pipe are all as foreign to the British nature as the quizzical expression on Gen. Dawes' face.

British statesmen will ask him questions with many hums and haws, LONG questions, and Gen. Dawes will answer in a monosyllable.

The British will LIKE him, whatever he does, for they like what is GENUINE.

The thing they do not like is the American so often seen in London giving a poor imitation of a Briton.

Britons will even like and respect the indignant "NO" with which Gen. Dawes greeted the suggestion that he appear at court in knee breeches.

Queen Mary and the other royalties saw our Ambassador in his "long pants," not pressed. And as Will Rogers put it, Gen. Dawes was the only man there "not wearing rompers." And the British will like that.

P. S.—You will notice that both of the men in this picture, Secretary Stimson and Gen. Dawes, have LONG NOSES.

Other things being equal, a long nose is a sign of ability, a sign of thinking ancestors for many generations back.

A chimpanzee or gorilla has practically no nose.

Evolution tells you that noses like the two noses that you see here came through thousands of years of evolution.

You don't have to believe that. But you may be sure that an extra half inch on the end of a nose means a thousand years of mental development.

Of course, there are exceptions to everything.

Socrates had hardly any nose, but he was greater than either of these two men.

The exception proves the rule.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 13.—There are several dozen de luxe private Pullman cars in various railroad yards in and around New York. Many retiring members of the plutocracy whose lives are a succession of hithers and yons spend much leisure in these gilded coaches.

When the rigors of a northern winter annoy they are hooked on to a fast express and not many hours later are in California or Florida. There is a rule in New York terminals no private car may remain for more than six months at a stretch. Often in such emergencies they are shunted to Jersey.

The private Pullman is the essence of concentrated luxury. They have all the conveniences and trappings of the modern home in capsule form. The discomforts one might expect in cramped quarters have been largely removed. But the chief appeal is in their isolation.

The millionaire here is almost as remote as on an anchored yacht at sea. He is furnished with all the police and private detective protection that is an integral part of big stations. He may also remain incognito, for his identity is rarely known save to the station master.

The de luxe coach is manned by the pick of trained servants and despite the grime and smoke about the cars are kept immaculately clean. From the outside one sees always white curtains, freshly shined brass and an engaging spic and span neatness.

While many of the palatial cars are used by grand opera singers, violinists and artists of the concert stage, the larger number are owned by the millionaires. There is one rich railroad magnate who lives on his much of the time because he "loves to sleep in a railroad yard" where he began his career.

The upkeep of the private car is less than that of the private yacht. All are flossed up to suit individual requirements. Grand pianos are installed as well as carefully selected libraries. One rich man, aside from his own car, has another for his children and nurses.

A New York millionaire, by the way, lives on a Mississippi house boat the year around—lazing from levee to levee. He thinks the income tax of the state—as who does not?—unjust. He has no family ties so he auctioned off his property and drifts.

* * *

A press agent in his cups the other night revealed two of his clients are a divorced couple well known to screen and stage. To stimulate gossip he arranged for them to appear in various cafes and thrill the onlookers by apparently accidental meetings at which they would rush toward each other in pleasant surprise. The value of such publicity at least gives the imagination a dandy stretch.

The new Hudson River Bridge on upper Riverside Drive—the costliest in the world—is well under way. Automobilists will not be able to drive across it until 1932, however. The toll will be 50 cents and the bridge will be two-thirds of a mile long with a two decked roadway. Four big cables of sixty-one strands each are being strung.

New York is strangely indifferent to its wonders. I asked four natives today what they knew about the new Hudson bridge. Not one ever heard of it.

Recently I wondered one of my weekly wonders if girls in small towns smoked cigarets while driving automobiles. About 300 have replied they do and quite a number for some quaint reason even suggested where I might go and smoke myself. In fact they didn't seem to care much if I burn.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

"I DON'T worry so much about what the young men of my age might do to me, as what an old man might try to do."

This statement was made by a young girl from a small city who had spent a year in one of the largest cities of the country.

If a girl accepts attentions and favors from an older man, he thinks she will pay the price he may demand.

Usually the older man is married.

He considers the young girl in the light of a toy to be discarded when he tires of her.

The so-called "king and fatherly" sort of middle-aged man as well as the older ones are the sort from which a young girl must learn to protect herself.
